TRIUMPHAL TOUR

Bryan's New York Trip Marked by Series of Ovations

The Candidate Rouses New York Democrats in Issues of the Campaign—Overflow Meetings Were Held—Club of 3000 Members Organized in Quick Time

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 17.—A speech made last night by W. J. Bryan on "Mr. Taft and his scares" and two overflow meetings, formed the climax of an eventful day. Arriving here shortly after 10 o'clock, democracy's leader was accorded an ovation. With him from Syracuse came the democratic nominee for governor of New York, Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler.

Among those at the station here to meet him were: National Chairman Mack, William I. Connors, chairman of the democratic state committee, Charles E. Murphy, the Tammany chieftain and Daniel P. Cohanlan. The principal speech last night was in convention hall where the democratic state convention finished its labors yesterday and which was packed to the doors. Mr. Bryan was accorded a great demonstration by his audience.

Bryan's Speech
Mr. Bryan said in part: "Mr. Taft confesses that his arguments are not convincing when he attempts to introduce scares and to threaten the public with dire disaster if he is not elected. A threat is always an admission that argument and persuasion have not been effective. Measured by this test, Mr. Taft has already abandoned hope of convincing the public of the righteousness of his position."

"On the labor questions he declares that our demands for a trial by jury in cases of indirect contempt is the most insidious attack upon judicial system in the history of the country. According to Mr. Taft it would very much impair the administration of justice. He seems to forget that the very reform which we endorse was introduced by the U. S. senate 12 years ago, and that it was supported by such republicans as Senators Sherman of Ohio, Albee of Iowa, Hale of Maine, Hawley of Connecticut, Morrill of Vermont and Knute Nelson of Minnesota. This logic may satisfy the big financiers from whom he has drawn his arguments, but it will not satisfy the millions whose deposits make banking profitable."

ments, but it will not satisfy the millions whose deposits make banking profitable."

"His theory is that a guarantee fund would invite carelessness, but he overlooks the fact that mutual responsibility on the part of the bank would compel a stricter supervision and a better regulation. The banking fraternity ought to resist the reaction he casts upon individual bankers, when he assumes that there would be enough dishonest bankers to ruin the honest ones."

The Trusts

"Mr. Taft says he regards the trusts as necessary to the nation's prosperity, for he declares that they play an important part in the maintenance of prosperity and he charges that I would 'exterminate and destroy' business in extrajurisdiction and destroy the principle of monopoly. If Mr. Roosevelt with all his strenuousness, has not succeeded in imprisoning a single trust magnate, how can the complacent Mr. Taft hope to accomplish anything in the way of regulation?"

"The democratic plan is to bring manufacturing and trading corporations under the surveillance of the general government when they reach a point where their control of business becomes a menace. The limit is fixed arbitrarily at 25 per cent, and it is needless to say that the limit is so high that an insignificant fraction of the corporations would be brought under the operation of the law."

"Mr. Taft denounces this as a socialist interference with business, but I am sure that such a law will be welcomed by those who are acquainted with the senseless methods by which the trusts have exterminated their rivals and then plundered a helpless public."

Tariff Questions

"The fourth scare which Mr. Taft presents is excited by the democratic declarations on the tariff question. Speaking of our platform, he pledges to make such radical reductions as may be necessary to restore the tariff to a revenue basis. He declares in his notification speech that the introduction in power of a party with this avowed purpose could but have the gradual recovery from our recent depression and produce business disaster, compared with which our recent panic and depression will seem very small indeed."

"What is there in the democratic platform that can be construed as a threat to any legitimate business? Will it produce a panic to put on the list articles that come in competition with articles controlled by the trusts? This reduction can be prevented by a dissolution of the trusts. Have we reached a point where the trusts are in position to say, 'Leave the tariff alone, or we will destroy the nation's prosperity?'"

"Have the trusts the power to do this now? And must the people submit to indefinite extortion or risk of a panic? Democratic success will not bring a panic to any except to those who have their hands in other people's pockets, and these ought to be frightened."

A Triumphant Tour

Mr. Bryan's journey through the Empire state was a triumphal one, for everywhere immense crowds greeted him with cheering and the waving of flags and banners. At each place a speech was insisted on, and where he had gotten through for the day he had spoken seventeen times. He never lost an opportunity to flay both President Roosevelt and Mr. Taft. Perhaps his most important utterance on the way was from Peekskill, N. Y., was at Kingston, where he advised the people not to allow the republican leaders to scare them away from the support of the democratic ticket by the threats of a panic. Mr. Taft, he characterized as President Roosevelt's "appointee," and of Mr. Roosevelt he declared that his endorsement of Mr. Taft "was the endorsement of a bankrupt against whom one could not collect."

He congratulated the people on what he said was the increasing trend of sentiment toward the democratic party throughout the country. Utica, the home town of Representative James S. Sherman, the republican nominee for vice president, welcomed him to the other places in the greeting to the democratic candidate. Hundreds were at the station when his train pulled in and the crowd immediately demanded a speech. Mr. Bryan said he recognized that there lived in Utica one of the principles involved in the opposition and yet he supposed there would be a few democrats there in spite of the fact.

"Just as I am afraid there will be a few republicans in Lincoln, in spite of the fact that I live there, for," he said, "while each man has his circle of friends, still elections go more on the principles involved than upon the personal charges or characteristics of the candidates."

Chanler Arrives
The passage of the train through Washington street in Syracuse, a distance of over a mile, was a memorable one. Bryan and Korn pictures were displayed on every tree and in many windows, cannon boomed and a surging mass of humanity followed the car until it stopped. Mr. Chanler, who was in an automobile was wedged in by the crowd, but seeing him Mr. Bryan and several others reached out and lifted him on to the train. Mr. Bryan graciously put the gubernatorial nominee to the front and announced that he wanted to have "the honor and the pleasure of introducing to you the next governor of the state of New York."

Mr. Chanler bowed to the throng, amid great applause, and then Mr. Bryan paid a glowing tribute to Mr. Chanler, saying he was glad to meet him. "So soon after this tributing him, or has been visited upon him by the democratic state convention of New York," he expressed the feeling that Mr. Chanler's record as lieutenant-governor, this high character and his unselfish devotion to the public service, will not only insure him a majority of the votes of this state, but that in carrying the state for the democratic ticket, he will help to carry it for the national ticket."

DRUNKEN CHAUFFEUR

Sent to Jail for Fast Driving at Revere Beach

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—That liquor is mighty bad stuff for chauffeurs was shown by the facts in the case of Benjamin J. Smith, aged 25, driver for Benjamin Prince, son of F. H. Prince, the Boston banker, who was before Judge Cutler in the Chelsea police court yesterday, charged with drunkenness and with operating an automobile on Revere beach, whereby while intoxicated Tuesday evening.

Chief Hawkins of the park police testified that Smith took a $500 machine from a Boston garage, and that previous an automobile never before was so badly smashed as when Smith ran this one into a stone wall. The crash was terrific and Smith was thrown 25 feet, though he was not hurt.

Invited by the court to say something for himself, Smith rejoined that he was not up for manslaughter. He further said that this was the first trouble he had been in; also, that his father for years was coachman for Congressman A. P. Gardner. Officer Gillard testified that he found the speed lever set at between 40 and 50 miles an hour.

FLIGHT IN BALLOON

Aids Astronomer Says Prof. Pickering Who Accompanied Glidden

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—Similar phenomena are observed in viewing bodies of water from a balloon at an altitude of 3700 feet and in viewing the supposed water on the planet Mars through a telescope, according to the experiments made by Prof. W. H. Pickering of the astronomical observations of Harvard college during a preliminary trip with Charles L. Glidden from Fitchburg to White River.

Photographs of the planet show both light and dark spots when taken from varying angles, and Prof. Pickering noted that in looking down at bodies of water from a great height they appeared light when viewed at an angle and dark when viewed directly beneath.

"I have been up before in a captive balloon," said Prof. Pickering, "but this is the first ascent I ever made in a free balloon. The experience was a delightful one, and I should like to have more of it."

"I was chiefly interested during the trip in making observations of the landscape with a view to comparing them with observations previously

NASHUA RACES DEFEATED AGAIN

Asa Wilkes Made the Fastest Time

NASHUA, N. H., Sept. 17.—Two races that were unfinished Tuesday were completed at the fair grounds yesterday, but yesterday's two races were carried over until today with four heats each. A great deal of interest was taken in the unfinished 215 pace, in which Tuesday's three heat winners started yesterday.

Asa Wilkes walked away with the heat which decided the race, and made the fastest time of the six heats.

Skellan King was picked by many as the winner of the 229 pace, but he barely finished inside the money. The prospects of the 221 trot carried over to today are about even between Kopel and Maud S. Each has two heats. May Wax divided heats with The Prince in the 218 pace, the latter stepping the two fastest miles. The summary:

WRESTLING NEWS
Great interest is manifest in tomorrow's great battle on the mat at Association hall, between Young Prokes, the all-conquering Greek, well-known, and War Eagle, the Indian brave who is showing the best of them that the red men can go some if they are few in numbers.

War Eagle in blanket and war paint and feathers has arrived in town, and is in fine shape. He looks as if he might give Prokes a good battle. In order that the match may go to a finish, it has been arranged to allow the bout to go over midnight, if necessary. The men will weigh in tomorrow night at the Y. M. C. A. gym. They will decide this evening upon a referee, and will choose between Jim Gilligan of Lawrence and George V. Touhey of Boston, both of whom are competent men. Prokes is training faithfully for the match, as it is his desire to win a decisive victory over the Indian, in which event a number of important matches in the west await him. Two red hot preliminaries will precede the bout.

YOUNG BURGLARS AN UNKNOWN MAN

Made a Break in a House in Centralville Last Night Probably Concerned in Death of Young Woman

Two young burglars who evidently have received instruction from an artful master or else learned the skillful work from reading dime novels, were arrested by the police yesterday afternoon and booked for breaking and entering and larceny. They gave their names as William Millette, aged 17 years, and Henry Clark, aged 15 years, and acknowledged that they had burglarized the residence of Eugene Dufresne in Bridge street.

The police were notified of the break yesterday afternoon and Inspector Walsh was detailed to look into the matter. An investigation of the premises showed that someone had cut out a portion of the panel in the kitchen door in the absence of the family, and after gaining an entrance ransacked the house.

The family reported nothing missing at the time, but it later developed that some clothing had been taken. The ice chest had been opened, and the key taken also, as well as some trinkets which happened to be in it at the time.

There were no clues about the premises to indicate who the burglars might be but after a searching inquiry the inspector, in company with Patrolmen Peter Corcoran and Michael Lennon, came across young Clark. The latter didn't seem to give a satisfactory account of himself for the afternoon and when searched the ice chest key was found in one of his pockets. He was taken to headquarters and at first denied having anything to do with the break, but finally broke down and confessed that he and Millette were the guilty ones.

The inspector then made a search for the other party and succeeded in locating him in Bridge street. When arrested Millette said that Clark was to blame. When the contents of his pocket were looked over, however, it was decided that he was also guilty. Millette had on his person a money belt, a bunch of keys, and also a candle, all of which were looked upon with suspicion.

Case Continued
William Millette was arraigned in court this morning and charged with the larceny of four eggs, valued at three cents each. The government was not ready to conduct the trial and the case was continued till tomorrow morning, Millette being held under $100 bonds.

Mr. William F. McInnes of 12 Mott street, the well known pianist with Kiltredge's orchestra, has resumed teaching.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—In their effort to learn the identity of the well dressed young woman whose body was found floating off North beach yesterday the police have concluded that an unknown man was in some way concerned in the death. In examining the beach they found footprints of a man and a woman leading to the water's edge. Only the man's footprints returning could be found. Today the police learned that a young woman answering the description of the dead girl boarded a car near the Long Island City ferry early yesterday morning. She was accompanied by a man who remained with her until the car had traveled a considerable distance. As he was leaving the man said to the conductor:

"Take good care of this little girl. She is my sister."
The young woman left the car at a point near where the body was found in the sand. The body lies today unknown and unclaimed in the morgue in Long Island City. Beyond the gold locket bearing the initial "K," a purse upon which is inscribed the address, "Provincetown, Mass." and the trade mark of a New York department store on the girl's coat, nothing has been found which will assist in the identification. The purse is of the souvenir variety and there are possibly many hundreds exactly like it in the possession of vacationists who have visited the Massachusetts resort. It is only upon the locket that the police now are basing their hopes. They believe that some one who has seen the trinket may have known the young woman.

TREE CUT DOWN
Move to Improve Monument Square

The park commission hoped that in the work of improving Monument square it would be possible to spare the big maple tree that sheltered the monument and added to the beauty of the square, but this has been impossible to save the tree. It is now impossible to save the tree. It is now impossible to save the tree. It is now impossible to save the tree.

The tree was cut down this forenoon and the leaves and branches were carried away. Park Commissioner Hall was there and deplored the loss of the tree, but it was unavoidable.

The canon, too, that guarded the grave where the heroes sleep, will be missed from the square. They have gone, never to return to their vigil at the foot of the monument. The two cannons are now at the city stable and will, it was stated today, be taken in charge by the G. A. R.

The work of improving Monument square is going along slowly but surely. The trench for the wall is nearly done, and the stone for the wall is being carted to the square today. The trench is about 50 feet long and deep enough to reach quite a few feet beyond the first line.

It was little wonder that grass would not grow in Monument square. The digging of the trench revealed the reason why, and it didn't require much digging to discover the reason. Less than five inches beneath the surface the diggers found little but bricks and cinders. These would not hold the moisture, and this being the fact there was nothing to give life to the grass. This, however, will be remedied, and when the job has been completed the grass will grow as green in Monument square as on the lawns at city hall.

"PAT" DOLAN DEAD
Old Time Horseman Passed Away

Patrick Dolan, known to the followers of the race track from Atlantic to Pacific as "Little Pat" and "Little Dolan," died yesterday at the age of 65 years, after a mental and physical illness of about a year's duration.

The remains were removed to the undertaking establishment of T. J. McDermott, from which place the funeral will take place tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock with funeral services in St. Peter's church at 10 o'clock.

Patrick Dolan's life related in detail would read like a romance. Starting out as a poor boy he twice could place his name to a check in the tens of thousands and twice descended from the excitement of the race track and a life of luxurious ease to the hard day's work of the sewer laborer, carrying his cold dinner and working hard without a word of complaint. In his latter days some friends "staked" him once more and he went forth for the third time to the grand circuit, but at the close of the season, while returning home with a well filled pocket he was struck down by robbers and relieved of his last dollar while he never fully recovered from the effects of the blow on his head and some time later showed signs of mental disorder from which he never recovered.

The deceased was known and beloved for his honesty, amiability and his kindness and generosity. No beggar, whether his tale be true or not, ever asked in vain of "Pat" Dolan when he had it, and he would divide his last dollar with a friend worse off than himself. He was a great raconteur, had a fund of most interesting reminiscences of the old race track days when money flowed like water, and many times and oft when surrounded by his fellow-workmen on a sewer job, each discussing his funeral lunch from the dinner pail during noon hour, he has regaled them with stories of the halcyon days of Pullman car traveling and an army of colored waiters to command, ever winding up with the philosophical conclusion: "Sure, we're better off as we are, and we'll live longer this way." The deceased was unmarried and leaves no relatives.

POPE'S LEGATE
Cardinal Vannutelli Left London for Rome

LONDON, Sept. 17.—The departure this morning for Rome of Cardinal Vannutelli, who was the papal legate at the recent Eucharistic conference in this city, was made the occasion for a demonstration by the Catholics of London, who gathered in thousands at the railroad station, cheered the cardinal and sang "God Save the Pope."

WHAT'S IT WORTH TO HEAR WELL
If a man with perfect hearing were asked to sell that sense, how many dollars do you suppose he would want for it? Few there are who would sell at any price. Yet countless people are losing their hearing gradually without taking any steps to prevent the loss. If you find yourself in the plight, think for a moment of the consequences. Think of the happiness which deaf people miss; think of the joys which are denied them; think of the dangers which they run; think of the loss in dollars and cents.

A prominent Boston merchant said the other day: "Ten men there was one of my best salesmen, but he is growing deaf. Unless he gets cured of it, I shall have to let him go. He cannot wait on trade in that condition. That man will soon be out of work. His deafness will prevent his getting another position. Are you sure that no such danger threatens you?"

Yet deaf people are needless sufferers, for we cure Deafness, Head Noises and Catarrh. If you are a sufferer from these complaints come to us for an examination. In addition to the chancellor, nearly all the members of the Prussian and imperial cabinets were in the ministerial seats, while behind them on the platform, David J. Hill, the ambassador and President Butler of Columbia university, were among the distinguished strangers. President Eckhardt, chairman of the German delegation, called the meeting to order. He proposed that Prince Heinrich Von Schoenhausen-Carlsath be elected president, and this motion was carried unanimously.

PARKER AND BRYAN

Meet on the Same Platform at Rochester, N. Y.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 17.—As the culminating feature of the democratic state convention, which closed yesterday, there was a notable demonstration here last night in honor of the party's national standard bearer, William J. Bryan, who addressed a mass meeting in convention hall and over a gathering outside.

Presiding over the convention hall assembly was Judge Alton D. Parker, the presidential candidate of four years ago, who took advantage of the occasion to make a personal pledge of his earnest fidelity to the national ticket. As Mr. Bryan and Judge Parker stood side by side before the great audience, the cheering worked up to a deafening roar.

Mr. Bryan expressed his gratitude for the nomination of Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler as head of the state ticket and paid a personal tribute to him. Mr. Chanler had joined the Nebraska at Syracuse yesterday afternoon and was with him at dinner last night at Genesee Valley club.

The greeting extended Mr. Bryan when he entered the hall and the applause and cheering that constantly interrupted his speech was spontaneously enthusiastic. Not all of the orchestra seemed to have given itself over to the reception of Mr. Bryan. The down-town streets were thronged all evening long and the progress of the candidate from place to place was made difficult by the crowds which pressed about him.

Judge Parker offered a foreword rather than an introduction of Mr. Bryan, saying:

"The United democracy of the state of New York joins heartily with the people of Rochester in bidding welcome to our guest of honor, and we pledge him our earnest support until victory comes."

"It is worth coming a long way," said Mr. Bryan, "to participate in the closing hours of a great convention in this country's greatest state."

"I appreciate Judge Parker's cordial words in presenting me to you. I appreciate the pledge he has given and especially do I appreciate his own earnest part in the fulfillment of that pledge."

He said he was gratified that the convention placed at the head of its ticket one so worthy to carry the party's standard in this state and said he appreciated the spirit of harmony that prevailed in this convention.

Mr. Bryan's references to the convention and to Mr. Chanler called out almost continual cheering. The Nebraska then plunged into his set speech.

While in the midst of his address Mr. Bryan was interrupted by former Assemblyman John Palace, Jr., of Rochester, who stated that if he would consent to suspend for five minutes

THACKERY GUILTY

Of Violating Contract Labor Law

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—Norman Thackery of North Adams, a foreman in the Arnold print works, was convicted by a jury last night in the U. S. district court on a charge of bringing in two weavers from Leeds, England, in violation of the contract labor law.

The jury went out in the afternoon about 3 o'clock and returned a verdict at 8.30. There were five counts in the indictment and on three of them the court directed a verdict for the defendant. On the other two the jury found the accused guilty, but recommended leniency.

It was alleged that he paid the transportation of Clifford Geldert and Bernard Tagwell from England to this country and gave him employment at $2.50 a week.

John H. Casey, counsel for the defendant, asked to have until next Tuesday to file a motion for a new trial and one for arrest of judgment. Asst. U. S. Dist. Atty. Garland assented and the motions were granted. It is the intention of the defense to carry the case to the court of appeals on exceptions if the motion for a new trial that will be filed is denied.

FAVORS TREATY

TO DEAL WITH THE WOOD PULP SITUATION

APPLETON, Wis., Sept. 17.—"Because raw material is much cheaper in Canada and labor is considerably cheaper, we would have to go out of business and would go out of business if the tariff on wood pulp were to be cut off, unless we could obtain higher prices for our pulp than we are receiving at the present," said N. M. Jones of Bangor, Me., manager of the Ketchikan Pulp and Paper Co., at Lincolnton, N. C., before the congressional investigating committee yesterday morning. Continuing, Mr. Jones said:

"Unless we can get out material as cheaply as the Canadian mills do, we would have to quit business, for we could not compete with them."

"The only thing I see to do, is to make a treaty with Canada. Not as a tariff, not as a republican party today and a democratic party tomorrow, but a treaty whereby the tariff on wood pulp would be cut off if our mills were allowed to purchase pulp wood in Canada at the same figures that Canadian mills do; but I would also increase the duty on European pulp 100 per cent. Europe is our greatest competitor, not Canada. The market of the United States and Canada is large enough to use all the wood pulp, sulphite and paper manufactured in this country and Canada if a treaty were made and the duty on European goods increased."

The Maine man was the only witness today.

AVERAGE WAGES

HIGHER IN 1907 THAN THEY WERE IN 1906

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The average wages per hour in the principal manufacturing and mercantile industries of the country were 3.7 per cent higher in 1907 than in 1906, while retail prices of food were 4.2 per cent higher, according to the July report of the bureau of labor. The regular hours of labor per week were four-tenths of one per cent lower, and the number of employees in establishments investigated by the bureau showed an increase of 1 per cent.

The purchasing power of an hour wage, as measured by food, was less in 1907 than in 1906, the decrease being 1-2 of 1 per cent.

The average prices of 29 of the 30 articles included in the compilation of prices were higher in 1907 than in 1906. The articles which showed the greatest advance in prices are flour 8.9 per cent; butter 8.0 per cent; evaporated apples 7.3 per cent; milk 7.3 per cent; corn meal 6.8 per cent; cheese 5.7 per cent, and potatoes 5.4 per cent.

PROBABLY DEAD

Four Members of Crew Deserted Barkentine

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—The barkentine Fremont, which arrived from the Arctic yesterday, brought news of the probable death of four members of the crew who deserted on May 18 and started to reach Unalakleet. They were Manuel Lorenz, Leon Wallace, John Grogan and James McDonald. They started on their perilous trip late one night during the height of a storm. A search was made for them but without success and several days later the body they occupied was picked up at Dublin Bay. It is believed that all of them perished. They had been disappointed for some time over the amount of their spring allowance.

Barnard, died before she did. The Misses Danforth receive $12,000 each in the will, but the other two cousins are not mentioned. The date of the hearing on the will is Oct. 15.

HON. RICHARD OLNEY

Tells in Strong Terms Why Taft Should Not Be Elected

He Says Favoritism is Shown to Some Trusts — Roosevelt's Attacks on the Judiciary Denounced — Ex-Secretary of State Cites Blow to Business — He Says Bryan's Methods Are Sane and Decent

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The World prints a letter which in part is as follows:

By Richard Olney, Former Secretary of State, Boston, Sept. 18.

To the Editor of the World:

Dear Sir:—I have your telegram of the 14th instant asking for my views upon the desirability of supporting the democratic national candidate in the coming presidential election. The request strikes me as reasonable and I cheerfully comply with it.

The question is, ought the republican party be defeated in the pending presidential campaign? That is the issue now before the American people in comparison with which all others are insignificant.

The platforms of the two great parties need not be dismissed. It would hardly be necessary even if it were not almost entirely true, as an influential newspaper declares, that if they "were to be surreptitiously transposed nobody on either side would ever find it out."

No more need the personalities of the respective candidates be considered—although a desire to bring them to the front is indicated by a recent manifesto from Oyster Bay leading to the slurs the personal traits of Mr. Taft. Mr. Bryan's friends might easily and triumphantly retort in kind, since, with the exception of Henry Clay, no presidential candidate has had so enthusiastically and devoted a following.

But the truth is that each is simply the representative of his party. Each if elected will be the creature of his party, and each if elected will and must obey the behests of his party. In short, ours is a government by parties.

Anty Drudge on Teaching 'Rithmetic.

Teacher (in arithmetic class)—"Now, Mary, if your mother spent two hours boiling the clothes, three hours in rubbing them, and an hour to hang them out, how many hours would that be altogether?"

Little Mary—"Yes, but my mamma doesn't boil the clothes. She washes them with Fels-Naptha in cool or lukewarm water, and she doesn't have to rub them hard, either."

Anty Drudge—"You'd better make the time shorter, Mistress Schoolteacher, when you give an addition question like that to a little girl whose mother knows the advantage of washing with Fels-Naptha."

Easy on the woman and easy on the clothes.

That's why progressive women are washing their clothes with Fels-Naptha in cool or lukewarm water, in summer or winter.

It's easy on the woman because it does away with fires for heating water, makes hard rubbing unnecessary and takes less than half the time of the old way of washing.

It's easy on the clothes because there is no boiling to make the clothes tender, and no hard rubbing to wear them into holes before their time.

Save yourself; save your clothes—use Fels-Naptha.

Costs little money for a big cake, and lasts longer than ordinary soaps.

In using it follow directions printed on the red and green wrapper.

American people but is an eleemosynary institution authorized to tax the American people and spend their money in the subjugation and "benevolent assimilation" of the Philippines or any other race or people an administration may select as the object of its charitable ministrations.

But the most important feature of the Roosevelt policy toward the judiciary remains to be noted. It does not merely try out the political views and desires of the administration. That policy makes it a function of the national executive to publicly assail judges whose official acts disappoint the executive, and to intimate public sentiment against them by criticisms and aspersions which the people at large may naturally enough treat as weighty official utterances, but which in reality signify little more than their author's personal disrespect for the most sacred and valuable of American institutions.

Dictating a Successor

It is evident, further, that the defeat of the republican party in the coming national election may be properly welcomed in all quarters as a decisive and deserved rebuke of the attempt of a national executive to dictate his successor. Men of all parties must resent such dictation, must perceive its sinister and menacing character and tendency and must realize that, were it to be recognized as legitimate and used as an habitual practice, what are free elections in name and should be in truth, would be nothing but a farce in fact.

It is unquestionable that the republican party's defeat next November would tend to check encroachments of the national government upon the rights and powers of the states. That such encroachments are going on in some cases openly, in others insidiously—that the tendency toward them is most pronounced and is increasing and is favored by the most aggressive and influential of republican leaders—are facts which it is impossible to overlook or deny.

It is a distinguishing merit of the democratic party that it is, and is sure to stand, opposed to any infringement of the constitutional jurisdiction of the states. It would not enlarge that of the general government either through constituting self-government by judicial stretching of the constitution by construction. Its attitude is of the greatest value, because the autonomy of the several states is absolutely essential to our existence as a nation. A central government at Washington vested with the powers of the states and charged with the domestic affairs of 50 or 100 millions of people would inevitably break in pieces from its own weight. No government made up of mortal men could possibly deal intelligently with the diverse conditions and interests of so large a population spread over an immense territory possessing all varieties of soil and climate and natural resources.

The fathers of the republic wisely deemed a union of American states essential to our becoming a strong and powerful nation, but were equally wise in believing local self-government by the several states indispensable to the perpetuity of that union. That the democratic party, by its antagonism to the centralizing tendencies now rampant in the republican party, really stands for integrity and permanence of the the union is of itself sufficient to justify every friend of the union in welcoming a democratic success in the pending national elections.

Mr. Olney classes the republican policy in regard to the Philippines as a huge blunder and says that the defeat of the republican party would be for the nation's good.

Keep the Kidneys Well

Health is Worth Saving, and Some Lowell People Know How to Save It.

Many Lowell people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger when all diseases and aches and pains due to weak kidneys can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is a Lowell citizen's recommendation.

Ira Hartwell, living at 46 Varney street, Lowell, Mass., says: "A few years ago I had an attack of kidney trouble, the kidney secretions becoming so frequent in action that I would be forced to arise several times during the night. I also had backaches, cured from Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Ellingwood & Co.'s drug store, the pain in my back diminished, and soon disappeared entirely. I am confident that Doan's Kidney Pills are just what they are represented to be."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

"WEAK" RATHER THAN "JOKE" CANDIDATES.

Our morning contemporary speaks in severe terms of "joke candidates," whoever they may be. Why not be more specific and mention the names of the jokers? We know of some candidates who are in dead earnest in the contest for the mayoralty, and they each and all believe that if they had the chance they could improve upon the administration of Mayor Farnham.

When the republican party elects a weak man, several other men of the same stamp will get out to look for his job.

Is it right to regard such men as joke candidates? The proper designation would be weak candidates, and if such men are candidates it is because they seem to be in favor just at present with the republican party.

THE DAVIS FUND.

In justice to the memory of the late John Davis, who left about $115,000 to the city library, it should be stated that the income from the fund enables the trustees to maintain and equip the children's reading room, to keep the general reading room open on Sundays and to provide various additions to the list of books that seem to be demanded by the reading public.

The Davis fund is placed at the disposal of the library trustees without restriction as to how it shall be used, but the trustees are right in using only the income of the fund and holding the principal intact. If the trustees decided to go ahead and spend the principal for current expenses, in a short time nothing would be heard of the Davis fund.

NOMINATION OF HUGHES.

The renomination of Governor Hughes in New York was forced by the pressure exerted by the national committee and President Roosevelt. The local machine was completely overpowered in its efforts to give expression to the popular sentiment against Hughes.

Just as soon as the opposition got a candidate in line for nomination the emissaries of the president or of the national committee advised him not to run. Thus the anti-Hughes forces were unable to induce any candidate to enter the fight, solely as a result of the domination and coercion of the president and his allies.

The voters of New York will not stand this coercion, and hence the general belief is that Hughes will be defeated.

THE LOWELL AUTO COURSE AND OTHERS.

The Boston Herald refers to the absence of serious accidents in the Lowell road race, and attributes it to the fact that the winner took the lead so easily as to make the race something in the nature of a procession.

But that would not lessen the accidents inasmuch as the leader had to pass all the other machines almost in every circuit of the track.

The absence of accident was due to two things, to wit, the excellence of the course and the cautious work of the drivers. The course was well roped off and well policed. It was set apart by act of the legislature for the road race on Labor Day, and this was well understood by the people in the vicinity, so that there was no danger of any farmer getting out on the track with a load of hay or anything of that kind.

The Herald also makes a comparison with the Bologna circuit in Europe and the method taken to protect the course, saying:—

"We note that the Bologna circuit race of 330 miles was guarded by regular police and 900 stewards of the club. The road was newly macadamized where it needed it. At specially perilous sections of the road the hard ground adjoining was ploughed so as to soften the fall of contestants if accident came, and at one point of danger meadows near by were flooded and boatmen and physicians were at hand to give aid if drivers and cars left the track to land in the water."

We do not think that the management of any race in this country will ever adopt such precautionary measures, nor will they be necessary in any race over the Merrimack valley course.

When next such a race is run there, it is quite likely that the back stretch of the course will be macadamized, and at some points widened. The chief danger points are the hairpin curve and the corners leading into and out of Dunbar avenue.

It is right that here some extraordinary provision should be made against accidents, as the good fortune that followed the racers in the Labor Day contest might forsake them in the next race.

In view of the wide reputation Lowell has attained on account of the race, it would be good policy to have the course improved as proposed and also as we have already suggested to retain the grandstand. The city could afford to purchase the grandstand and to share in the expense of putting the course in perfect condition if there was any assurance of another race such as that of Labor Day.

In arranging another race it might be well to have more variety by making the race limit 150 miles and having speed contests for various types of machines on a straightaway track where the risk of accident would be slight even though the rate of speed would be the highest possible.

SEEN AND HEARD

The knights of leisure had gathered in the city messenger's office and "Billy" Delmore was entertaining with tales of his prowess as a hunter and fisherman. Here is one of the hunting stories that he related off with never a smile to betray his humor nor any apology for the truth thereof:

"One morning, when there was not much doing, Billy thought he'd go out and shoot a deer before breakfast. Cautiously edging down towards the lake, he saw a deer swimming. Taking careful aim, Billy hit and killed the deer. Having no boat with him he saw that he would have to go out and get Mr. Deer. So, he reloaded his gun, laid it down beside a hollow log, and started to wade out to the carcass of the deer. The water was very shallow, and he waded a long way, and then had to swim. He finally got hold of the dead deer, and had just got him to shore—or almost to shore, where he could wade, when he saw a big bear sitting on the log where he had placed his gun, and he found himself in a predicament. He had visions that he had not only lost the deer, but the bear might do him up."

With the prowess of the true hunter Billy lay submerged to the eyes until the bear moved away. Then putting out the deer he ran out, got his gun and blazed away at the bear. The bear looked around with an air of contempt and Billy had no more ammunition.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

A YEAR'S SLAUGHTER

Boston Herald: The report of the New York public service commission covering the railroads of the state outside of the metropolitan area is a gruesome one. On the steam railroads 1002 persons were killed and 2427 injured. On the electric roads 65 were killed and 729 were injured. In each classification the number of victims was greater than in the last preceding year. The state has a roll of honor for the railroads comprising the year without injury to life. This year it contains the names of 24 steam railroads and of 28 electric lines, but these safe roads carried less than one-half of one per cent. of the steam railroad passengers and but a little over one per cent. of the electric patrons. The rest of the chances when they boarded a steam or electric car. More than one in every 5000 were hurt. The report is startling. But do the duties of the public service commission in the protection of life end with making a startling report?

good. The preservation of the forests and the promotion of the industries of the six states that were represented will be the fruitage of this coming together of the governors. A closer personal acquaintance, an interchange of views concerning matters that interest each of the divisions represented will be the result of the conference, and the purpose of continuing the meetings and holding another after the Presidential election is well advised.

BUTLER AMES' MACHINE

Taunton Herald: Col. Butler Ames has got an airship that is along entirely new lines. Good for the congressman. If it is a success it will revolutionize political fighting in the future. A man won't have to run for office. He can fly.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

The golf champion of Wisconsin is Edward P. Allis, aged 16, universally known as "Ned," who recently scored a victory over Frank W. Jacobs of Madison, the state champion of 1907. We are told that the victory of Allis over Jacobs "was by consistent golf with no freaks, and he made the best record of his career, going 73 against 80 bogey of the course." The victor played good golf when only five years old, and at the age of 11 had reached the distinction of a write-up in a golfing magazine. The Milwaukee Wisconsin further says: "One of the most remarkable performances of his record was in 1902, when 10 years old. He went over the country club course in 33 with a single club. His first round was done in 46 and the second in 47, five holes being made in bogey. The little chap had only a driver for his play, using it for field shots, his approaches, and even for his putting. Half a dozen times he borrowed a masher, but with these exceptions every shot was with his little short driver."

As soon as Richard Strauss has set his new opera "Electra," on the stage, he purposes to undertake a lyric comedy, and they hear in Paris that he has chosen the classic "Tartuffe" of Moliere for his text. He intends to use it integrally or nearly integrally, as he wrote to Wilde's "Salome" and Hofmannsthal's "Electra."

The owner of the greatest wheat farm of North Dakota and probably of the world, Oliver Dalrymple, lately died at Casselton, in that state, where he had gone from his winter home in St. Paul, Minn., to superintend the harvesting of his crop. The Dalrymple farm consists of 17 sections, or 6,830 acres, which have been devoted for many years in the main to wheat raising. In that field Mr. Dalrymple became a recognized authority. He was with his brother, about the first to undertake wheat raising on a large scale. He had been engaged in it for a quarter of a century, and the Dalrymple wheat fields of thousands of acres have, during more than two decades, been objects of great interest to farmers and agriculturists. The work was shared by John Dalrymple, who died a few years ago. They followed scientific agricultural and business methods in their venture, and made it very profitable, so that both became millionaires. Oliver Dalrymple was a prominent figure, both in Minnesota and in North Dakota, and was universally loved and respected by those who knew him, says the St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Nance O'Neil is to try her fortunes once more as an actress of quality in the theatrical rank. This time, she will make the venture at the club of Boston, with a modern and highly "emotional" play called "Agnes."

Here is a part of a letter that Miss Farrar lately sent to a friend in New York about her work and play in the summer that is now ending, and about her plans for the autumn in Berlin (the Villa Serbellone under the Alps in the Italian lakes) is the most heavenly spot I have ever seen, and realizes my dream of sunny Italy! How glad I am you spoke so enthusiastically about it. We idle much. I write some, but in the main I have proved a veritable paradise of tranquility and repose with perfect weather. We have the whole wing and balcony, on the garden side, and it sweeps over the lakes and the gardens. Couldn't be more private if we owned the estate. Then she tells of her horseback rides in Berlin and Bellagio, her trips on the motor boat and some motoring excursions she made in England earlier in the summer. Next she goes on: "But, after all, there is nothing like working. And I get awfully bored waiting to get rested enough to 'grind.' Whenever she is in Berlin Miss Farrar continues her studies with Lilli Lehmann. Continuing her, she writes: "Lilli was her usual handsome self. She thinks seriously of coming in two years to New York for special performances of Norma, Iphigenia and Donna Anna. Caruso and I would then, I think, have the honor in the first named opera, and in the last two, to sing with her." Miss Farrar will appear first at the Metropolitan in "Madame Butterfly," and she will sing Marguerite in "Faust" when the new Academy of Music in Brooklyn is opened with that opera. Her many parts will be Manon in Messnet's like named opera, Cherubino in "Figaro," and the little princess in Humperdinck's new opera, "Konigskinder," which is to have its first performance in America before Germany hears it. She is to give a concert in Berlin on October 22.

The ceremonies attending the induction of Dr. Harry A. Garfield into the office of president of Williams college will take place at Williamstown on Wednesday, October 7, 1908, and a large number of distinguished delegates from academic institutions are expected to be present.

Sara I. Cashman, a 14-year-old Jewish girl, has made a dramatization of Mr. George Abbott's novel, "A Bow by the Belvedere," to be performed by the Belvedere story club of New York city, of which Miss Cashman is a member. Miss Phillips, who is at the head of the English department of the De Witt Clinton High school, found it necessary to make very few changes in the dramatized version, despite the youth of the author. This gifted girl had previously taken a prize for an original essay in the club, and also designed a clever cover for the club scrap book.

Mrs. James B. McKinney, who is a grandmother, and whose husband was for many years a guard at the Indiana reformatory, and died about a year ago, will teach in the Terre Haute schools this year. She attended the state normal school this summer, and has been so successful in furnishing her knowledge of years ago, when she was a successful school teacher, that she obtained an appointment to teach and begins.

Miss Ethel Dickens, a granddaughter of Charles Dickens, is reported to be seriously opposed to the project now on foot in England of erecting a statue to the memory of the novelist. She calls attention to the fact that her grandfather in his will distinctly said that he was to have no "monument memorial, or obelisk." Miss Dickens is the head of a large typewriting bureau in London and is described as a keen business woman.

To Make Balloon Ascension With Glidden

NASHUA, N. H., Sept. 17.—At 4 o'clock this afternoon will take place the first flight in this city of a balloon under the auspices of the New England Aero club. The balloon "Boston," which will make the ascent, arrived yesterday. The ascensions will be made from Aero park, an unimproved section of land in a bend in the Nashua river near the gas works, and reached from Bridge street. It is within ten minutes' walk of the Nashua Junction railway station.

The number of people who will visit the city today to see the balloon go up is estimated at 10,000. Alfred R. Shrigley, secretary of the club of Boston, and Dr. Charles T. Clifton of Lowell will accompany Charles J. Glidden, president of the club, in the ascent.

CAPT. PITMAN

FRIENDS ASK FOR GARDIAN FOR SOMERVILLE MAN

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—George M. Pitman, assistant clerk of the Charlestown municipal court, and Herbert E. Weitz of Medford, filed a petition yesterday in the probate court at East Cambridge for the appointment of a guardian for Capt. Henry W. E. Pitman of 77 Columbus avenue, Somerville, on the ground of insanity and incapability to manage his affairs.

Capt. Pitman was arrested by the federal officers June 20, on the charge of sending objectionable letters through the mail to a young Chelsea girl, and the case is still pending against him.

George M. Pitman is the captain's son and only child. He is a son-in-law. Capt. Pitman is 62 years old, and has resided in Somerville more than 40 years. He has been prominent in the republican party as secretary of the Middlesex county committee, and he has also been connected with several Somerville newspapers.

CHELSEA JUDGE

GIVES RULING IN REVERE BATH COSTUME CASE

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—Under the decision yesterday of Judge Samuel R. Cutter of the Chelsea police court, people wearing bathing suits with outside clothing over them, even if only a bathrobe, may cross the Parkway at Revere beach without a permit from the superintendent of the state reservation.

The case in hand was that of Louis Adelstein of Brockton, who was arrested by the park police for crossing the boulevard without a permit. The technical charge was trespass. Recently the same judge decided that the rule was unfair which permitted only residents of Revere to cross the boulevard in bathing costume.

In the case of Adelstein, he found that, as he wore a bathrobe, he was properly costumed for crossing the public thoroughfare and discharged him. The decision is taken to mean that anybody properly clothed may cross the parkway to bathe.

FINE CONCERT

FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE CHILDREN'S HOME

A concert for the benefit of the Children's home in Kirk street was held last night in Colonial hall, and proved to be a success. The artists on the program were the Lillian Haynes trio, consisting of Miss Lillian Haynes, violinello; Miss Pearl Brice, violin; and Miss Lillian West, piano. The trio was assisted by Mr. William F. Thornton, reader.

The program consisted of the rendition of Mendelssohn's Festival March by the trio, which brought forth considerable applause. Mr. Thornton then gave an excellent reading, after which Miss Brice played Wienawski's Mazurka. The remainder of the program was in keeping with the first part.

REV. DR. WALLACE

Goes to Baltimore in Response to Call

In consequence of the call which he received to the First Baptist church in Baltimore, Rev. Dr. Wallace, D. D., has gone there to look the field over before answering the call. The following is from the Baltimore American of Monday:

"Dr. Rev. Dr. O. C. S. Wallace, who has been called to the pastorate of the First Baptist church, Fremont and Lafayette avenues, accepts the call and consents to leave his present work as pastor of the First Baptist church of Lowell, Mass., he will be only the sixth pastor of the church in 135 years, a record not equalled by any other

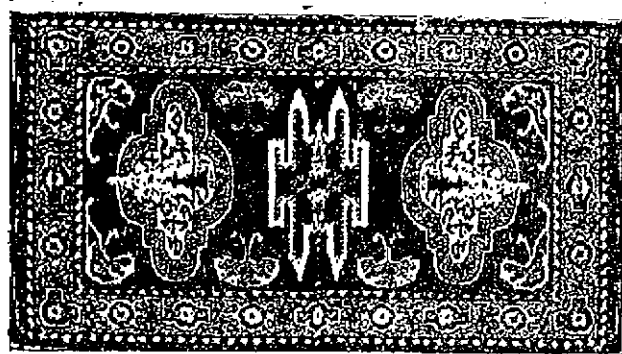

Baptist congregation in the United States.

"Rev. Dr. Wallace has been spending his summer vacation in Nova Scotia, at Kentville, his birthplace, and he was there when he received the call of the Baltimore congregation last week. He will arrive in Baltimore tomorrow morning and will be met by a committee, the members of which will entertain him and acquaint him with the field in Baltimore and the possibilities for doing good in this city. The people of the First Baptist church, feel that Dr. Wallace will accept the call, and if he does he will receive a right royal welcome from his new parishioners. At the midweek prayer service on Wednesday night Dr. Wallace will meet the members of the congregation and will talk with them."

Mr. Frank E. Curren, who was injured while working for the Boston and Maine railroad, returned to Lowell last Friday after a year's absence, and is able to be about. He will be pleased to meet his friends.

N. H. Republicans Failed to Name Candidate on 1st. Ballot

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 17.—Concord became today the seat of one of the fiercest battles ever waged in the history of New Hampshire politics when the republican state convention met here today to nominate a candidate for governor and four presidential electors. With three candidates seeking the gubernatorial nomination and each claiming a victory before the convention began the result was impossible to forecast with any degree of accuracy, especially as no test of strength was in prospect before the first ballot should be taken.

The candidates were Bertram Ellis of Keene, speaker of the house of representatives of the last legislature; Rosecrans W. Pillsbury of Manchester, who was a candidate for the nomination in the memorable contest two years ago; and Henry B. Quimby of Lakeport. Each of the candidates a most vigorous campaigner but the preliminary contest was remarkably free from the bitter personalities which characterized the struggle of two years ago.

Mr. Ellis based his claims for the nomination upon his legislative record. Mr. Quimby asked for endorsement on his own public record while the chief issue of Mr. Pillsbury campaign was his opposition to the alleged domination of the Boston & Maine railroad in state affairs.

The delegates were astir early this morning filling the hotel corridors in the vicinity of Phoenix hall, where the convention was held. Hundreds came here yesterday and last night while hundreds of others flocked into the city this morning. Some of the delegates and those who were active workers in behalf of the various candidates slept little, if at all, continuing their activities through the night.

According to the plans of the state committee, which were ratified at a caucus in the delegates held last night, the convention was to be called to order at 11 a. m. by the temporary chairman, former Gov. Hiram A. Tuttle of Pittsfield.

The resolutions committee, which was in session until late last night, resumed sitting early today. It was understood that the question under discussion was mainly that of direct primaries.

The committee on resolutions met shortly after 8 o'clock and held a hearing at republican headquarters this forenoon. The principal planks debated being one favoring a system of direct primaries, opposition to a merger of the Boston & Maine railroad including as it does the New Hampshire railroad system and amendments to the liquor laws.

Edwin C. Niles of Concord urged that a resolution favoring direct primaries be incorporated in the platform. Henry M. Baker of Bow was the principal speaker in opposition. Rev. J. H. Robinson of Concord and Mr. Niles urged that a plank be placed in the platform declaring in favor of a stricter liquor law by making illegal for liquor to be shipped from any license town in the state to any no-license town. John W. Kelley of Portsmouth was heard in opposition. Mr. Kelley said that if dealers in license towns were forbidden to ship liquor to no-license towns the dealers outside the state could ship intoxicants and be protected under the inter-state commerce law.

Against the Merger
In its parliamentary draft of the platform yesterday a sub-committee appointed by the state committee inserted a plank declaring the party's opposition to any merger of the Boston & Maine and the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroads. Mr. Kelley, Edwin F. Jones of Manchester and E. Bertram Pike of Haverhill urged the resolutions committee to withdraw the plank, their contention being that the merger was a matter of business and not of politics.

About an hour after the convention was called to order the delegates began to stream towards Phoenix hall.

HEINZE OUT $3000

Says He is Behind That Amount on Auto Race

Mr. John O. Heinze, promoter of the big auto race, so successfully pulled off on Labor Day, says that the venture cost him $3000. Mr. Heinze made the statement to a representative of The Sun yesterday, and when asked what he intended to do about it, Mr. Heinze said: "I presume there is nothing for me to do but to meet all corners and pay all bills. Why not resort to public subscription?" suggested the reporter. "We tried that before the race and succeeded in raising the magnificent sum of $1000."

Speaking of the travel on that day, Mr. Heinze said it had been stated by one in a position to know that it was the biggest day in the history of the street railway company in this city and a banner day for the steam railroads.

Not many entered the convention hall until shortly before 11 but gathered in groups on the sidewalks and in the corridors, earnestly discussing the triangular campaign and the probable results of the balloting.

The doors to the convention hall were not opened till 10.45 at which time the stairways and corridors were choked with delegates. By eleven o'clock every seat in the hall was occupied, delegates were standing in the rear of the auditorium and the gallery was filled.

It was exactly 11.08 when former Gov. Tuttle of Pittsfield called the convention to order. After Chairman Tuttle had read the list of convention officers and committees agreed to by the delegates at last night's caucus the convention ratified the caucus action and organization of the convention was effected.

Temporary Chairman Tuttle then yielded the gavel to the permanent chairman, Mayor Wallace Hackett of Portsmouth, who in turn called to order. Hackett addressed the convention briefly.

The resolutions committee not being prepared to report a platform the nomination of candidates for governor was taken up.

The first speaker was E. C. Beane of Belmont who entered in nomination Henry B. Quimby of Lakeport.

The mention of Mr. Quimby's name was greeted with prolonged cheering. Sherman E. Burroughs of Manchester then mounted the platform to place in nomination Rosecrans W. Pillsbury of Londonbury. Burroughs urged the delegates to support Mr. C. G. Shedd presented the name of Bertram Ellis in behalf of Cheshire county.

The Ellis delegates also rose in their seats and cheered for their candidate but the noise was not quite so long as that for the other two candidates.

At the conclusion of Mr. Shedd's address there was a prolonged outburst of applause. There being no more nominations the report of the committee on resolutions was presented by John Denton of Keene in behalf of James Templeton of Exeter, the chairman of the committee. The platform endorsed the administration of President Roosevelt, pledged support to Taft and Sherman urged legislation to restrict to a minimum the use of intoxicating liquors, and pledged the support of the party to today's nominee for governor. No reference was made to the railroad merger.

At 12.30, there being no other business on hand, the convention began voting for governor.

When balloting began it was generally believed that it would take more than two hours for the delegates to cast their votes after which a count would be necessary. The method of voting was an innovation this year and was somewhat cumbersome. The delegates voted by counties. The chairman first announced the name of the county, then the first alphabetically of the list of the towns and cities, then the names of the delegates. The delegates handed their ballots to the chairman who in turn deposited them in the box.

Then the second town and the names of its delegates were called and so on. In dealing with the railroad question one of the platform planks says: "We believe it is in the interest of the people that the management of all railroads in the state be as nearly local as possible and we therefore look with disfavor on the threatened union of the Boston & Maine railroad with the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad."

At 1.15 p. m. the first five of the ten counties had polled their votes. When Westboro county, the sixth on the list and generally regarded as a Pillsbury stronghold, was reached there was protracted cheering and cries of "Pillsbury, Pillsbury."

Chairman Hackett soon put a stop to the cheering, saying that it prevented the tellers from doing their work and if it did not cease he would stop the voting. The exuberance of the delegates diminished somewhat and the poll proceeded.

Despite the closeness of the heat was not uncomfortable and there was a heavy haze of cigar smoke. But few delegates left the hall while the balloting was in progress and the spectators in the gallery, including many women, remained in their seats, no one caring to run any risk of being absent from the hall when the result of the first ballot should be announced.

On the recommendation of the special committee the following presidential electors were chosen: Charles H. Greenleaf, Sumner Wallace, Frank Anderson, Warren Brown.

Was No Choice
There was no choice on the first ballot for the gubernatorial nomination at the republican state convention here today, none of the candidates having a majority of the votes cast. The result of the first ballot was announced at 2.42 as follows:

Whole number ..... 783
Necessary for a choice ..... 855
Henry B. Quimby ..... 372
Rosecrans W. Pillsbury ..... 332
Bertram Ellis ..... 143
Charles H. Greenleaf ..... 3
William E. Chandler ..... 3
E. S. Cook ..... 36
Immediately after the announcement of the result a second ballot was begun. The fact that there was no choice on the first ballot caused some disappointment to the Quimby supporters, while the Pillsbury and Ellis delegates received the result with cheers.

JUBILEE PILGRIMS
The Pope Receives Visitors From His Home Town
ROME, Sept. 17.—The pope gave an audience yesterday to a pilgrimage of 2000 Venetians, among whom was Angelo, his brother. The pope was deeply moved at seeing his old friends and thanked his "dear children" for their handsome jubilee gift of a gold throne, which, he said, will show to future generations the love the Venetians had for their spiritual father.

They, with tears streaming down his face, and choked with emotion, the happy days he had passed in Venice, and the affection of the people. The recollection of these things, he said, afforded him consolation amid his sorrows. He concluded by warning the Venetians against modernism.

The pope continued: "Modernism is founded on disobedience. The modernists wish to command. They know no authority. Without obedience there can be no charity, because disobedience generates disorder. Keep always before you the obligations of your calling. Then modernism will not enter among you, and if anybody comes to you and speaks thereof reply to them: 'Vade retro, Satan!'"

The pope will celebrate a jubilee on Friday in St. Peter's in the presence of the pilgrims.

BOY SET FREE

Immediately Told the Court He Was Guilty

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., Sept. 17.—After being declared not guilty of the charge of train wrecking, Lewis Cooksey, a 13-year-old boy, surprised judge, jury and spectators by declaring: "You have set me free; but I did it just the same."

While the statement created a sensation, it was accepted as the utterance of an irresponsible child and Young Cooksey was allowed to go.

The boy was indicted for causing the wreck of the Southern Limited near Secorfort some weeks ago by placing a bolt on the track. Two men were killed and several injured in the wreck.

Detectives who arrested Cooksey swore that the boy had confessed that he put the bolt on the track to see the train jump, and that he and some companions had been responsible for other wrecks on the Southern road.

SHE IS 80 YEARS OLD

Mrs. Cynthia J. Jones Was Born in Lowell in 1828

Mrs. Cynthia J. (Atkinson) Jones celebrated her 80th birthday yesterday, September 16, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Minnie Ingalls, at No. 5 Ellis court, Pawtucketville. Despite her many years Mrs. Jones retains to a marked degree all her faculties, and although confined to her bed for the last four years as the result of a fall in which she sustained a broken hip, her general health remains unusually good.

Born on Sept. 16, 1828, in the days when Lowell was in its infancy, she can tell many interesting stories about the early growth of our city and has seen many changes which have taken place during her long residence here.

She was the eldest daughter of J. V. Atkinson, who was then the "town crier" and bill poster, and was born on the Merrimack corporation, on the site where the new automobile garage now stands. In her childhood days she was a member of the Cold Water army, and later was a member of the choir of the old Appleton Street church and sang there for many years.

She was also a member of the Educational club, and was quite prominent in musical circles, and with the exception of about twelve years spent in Illinois, she has always lived in Lowell. It was in her father's house on Appleton street, where he afterward removed, that the first illuminating gas to be used in Lowell was exhibited.

Mrs. Jones has many little souvenirs of the early days of Lowell, which she preserves with great care, among them being badges worn by the Cold Water army, the famous Tippecanoe and Tyler's lodge and many others.

Despite the fact that she has been confined to her bed so long she bears her sufferings with that sweet patience which endears her to those who come in contact with her, and delights to recount to her many friends the story of her early experiences, when Lowell was little more than a "backwoods" town.

WARRANTS ISSUED

For Arrest of Alleged Violators of the Liquor Law

The Law and Order league, which has apparently been inactive for the past several months, has started its crusade against the violators of the liquor law, and in all probability tomorrow morning will find a number of offenders before the court.

While it has been thought that the league confines its work to Lowell, such is not the fact, for at the present time the town of Billerica is the stamping ground.

The town of Billerica has always been a favorite camping ground, especially that portion of the town which borders on the Concord river, and while the original intention was to make the various camps pleasure resorts, some of the rougher element got into the running and decided that instead of everything going out, and nothing coming in it would be a good idea to purchase liquor and sell it on Sundays and various occasions during the week, and according to what is said, considerable of the intoxicating thirst extinguisher has been sold in the quiet little town.

A short time ago the Law and Order league got wind of what was going on, and it is alleged that several members in the employ of the league secured liquor. The matter was reported to the selectmen of the town, and they in turn notified the officers, but the officers were too well known and there was nothing doing for when the officers arrived on the scene everything was "all serene."

The Law and Order league, however, believes that it has enough of evidence to convict a number of people in Billerica, and accordingly representatives of the league, attended by counsel, called at the office of the clerk of the police court this morning and secured a number of warrants for officers to make raids on stipulated places.

The men started on their work of visiting the places this noon. According to one of the officials of the Law and Order league, a number of arrests will be made.

That the league has been very active in its crusade against the liquor element is very evident, for last Saturday morning, shortly after the bells had tolled 12 o'clock on Friday night a man named Hennessy, who belongs in Boston, and who was driving a wagon containing twelve barrels of beer, was held up.

The driver stated to the men who detained him that he had been engaged to deliver the goods at a certain party in Billerica, the liquid refreshments to be used at an outing which was to be held Saturday afternoon.

BERKMANN APPEALS

After Having Spent Five Days In Jail

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Alexander Berkman, the anarchist, wants a judicial ruling on the question whether the police have a right to arrest him when he disturbs a public meeting. His lawyer, Meyer London, raised the question yesterday before Judge Swann of general sessions on a motion to have set aside the judgment of Magistrate Corrigan, who sent Berkman to the workhouse for five days for disorderly conduct at the meeting of the unemployed at Cooper union.

Berkman has served the five days and is back on the East Side, but that isn't the point. Admitting that the question was an academic one, Lawyer London said that Magistrate Corrigan had no jurisdiction and there was no evidence which warranted the magistrate in committing Berkman for disorderly conduct. If the magistrate's judgment was allowed to stand the police would arrest Berkman every time he appeared in public, and it wouldn't be long before he was getting sick of the police for each appearance.

"If I can find any precedent for treating up a dead issue, when there are live and burning issues in my court every day, I shall do so," said Judge Swann.

Woman Says She Cannot Pay a Debt of $50

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The bank account of Mrs. Emily Berthet, sister of Police Inspector Cortright, has been attached. She has been summoned twice in supplementary proceedings and a motion has been made to have her cited for contempt—all in an effort to satisfy a judgment against her for $50.

Mrs. Berthet's inability or unwillingness to pay the judgment is said to be due to her reported losses in Wall street, which are estimated at $100,000 since the death of her husband two years ago. Inspector Cortright is worth from $300,000 to $500,000, but he has not come to the aid of his sister. He declared last night that he knew nothing whatsoever of her affairs.

The judgment against Mrs. Berthet was obtained by Lawyer Walter Godfrey, of No. 60 Wall street, for Isaac Becker, a painter.

Upon the death of Mrs. Berthet's husband she received several flat houses in One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street, besides a considerable fortune. Berthet was a widow and had several grown children. Since his death Mrs. Berthet has not lived with them. She had been living alone at No. 120 West One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street.

Mrs. Berthet employed Becker to paint her flats. His bill amounted to about $500. All but $10 of this she paid. The judgment is for the balance and the added interest.

Mrs. Berthet is alleged to have begun to speculate and to have lost a large amount of money at the beginning of her operations. She mortgaged her flats for $140,000 and, it is said, continued her speculation. Then she was persuaded by her family to turn over her flats to her niece.

Becker demanded settlement of his account, and on Mrs. Berthet's refusal to pay a judgment was obtained against her. Then she was summoned in supplementary proceedings by Mr. Godfrey and failed to appear. It was for this that he moved to have her cited for contempt in the supreme court. Decision on his motion has been reserved.

A short time ago Mr. Godfrey learned that Mrs. Berthet had a small balance in the Corn Exchange Bank. This was attached and she was again summoned in supplementary proceedings yesterday, after many unsuccessful attempts to serve the summons on her. Mrs. Berthet, according to Godfrey, told him that all she had, outside of her personal belongings, was some jewelry and that had been lent to her by friends.

An effort was made last night to see Mrs. Berthet at the One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street address. The woman who came to the door of her apartment denied that she was Mrs. Berthet, although she was identified by the hall boy of the house and there is no one occupying the apartment with Mrs. Berthet.

PRES. GOMPERS BABY GIRL WAIF

Testifies in the Contempt Case May Be Turned Over to State Board

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The taking of testimony in the Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison alleged contempt case by the Bucks Store Co. and the anti-trust proceedings against those officers of the American Federation of Labor was resumed by Examiner Harper today with President Gompers on the stand.

Mr. Davenport again was interrogator for the prosecution and he sought to develop the facts concerning the circulation of the January issue of the Federationist, the official publication of the organization which number Mr. Gompers has stated was expedited in order that it might be gotten out before the injunction should become operative.

Mr. Gompers said that when he gave orders for the expedition of the mailing of the edition he had not been made aware that the injunction would be made operative, but on the contrary he had considered possible that the store company would rest satisfied after obtaining Justice Gould's opinion and would not further prosecute the matter. He said that after the injunction went into effect he had not done anything to head off the copies that had been placed in the mails or sold to the news companies.

Mr. Davenport asked Mr. Gompers to state his purpose in sending out the January issue after the injunction was granted.

"What was the occasion for the hurry?" he asked.

"I wanted to get the issue out before the injunction decree became operative."

"Why?"

"I wanted to get the issue out, so that we could continue the 'We don't patronize' list without interruption."

"Did you mean that you wanted to avoid the interruption of the court?"

"The answer includes all," said Mr. Gompers. "There was danger of interruption by the Bucks company."

CLEVER DEVICE

FOR OPENING HANDCUFFS FOUND ON PRISONER

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—When "Humpty" Williams, the safe-breaker, and his comrades, Richard Vaughn and John Tiffany, were removed from their cell in the New York jail yesterday to serve their fourteen-year sentence at Trenton they were searched, and in one of "Humpty's" pockets was found a clever device for opening handcuffs. It was a piece of flat wire, sharpened on both ends, and doubled so that the two points could be inserted in the key hole of the cuffs.

The constables experimented with the wire and opened the handcuffs easily. The wire had been taken from the top of a condensed milk can, and it is believed, was secured through some one at the jail.

"Humpty" denied that he intended to escape, but the constables were instructed to watch him closely.

THE BILLERICA STREET BRIDGE

Those who visited the Billerica street bridge with the county commissioners a few days ago are confident that the commission was satisfied that the bridge should be raised and the street widened as proposed by the city.

All the county commissioners will do is to adjudge on the question of public convenience and necessity, demanding the change and having adjudge the matter will then go to the courts and a special committee will be appointed, and the special committee will determine what shall be done and who shall bear the expense.

Lawyer Foster, representing the Boston & Maine railroad at the hearing given by the county commissioners at the court house a few days ago, that in the event of the railroad grade having to be changed the county commissioners would have no voice in the matter.

City Solicitor Hill agreed that is so, but he does contend that the special committee appointed by the court and not the railroad commissioners would have the say as to how the expense of the bridge should be divided between the city and the railroad company.

A railroad's part of the expense in grade crossing changes is sixty-five per cent. The track on the Billerica street bridge is not the main line, but a spur track that is used by the company for its own convenience in getting, at times, from one track to another.

The Final Hearing

A grade crossing hearing having to do with the School, Walker and Lincoln street crossings will be held at the state house, room 215, Monday morning, Sept. 21. This will be the final hearing on these crossings and will be given by the special committee appointed by the court. It is expected that the committee will report at an early date and that the railroad will be in readiness to begin operations on the crossings in the early spring. The greatest delay will be in the development of working plans and the railroad company will have all winter in which to prepare the plans.

AN ARREST MADE JUDGE HADLEY FELL FROM TRAIN

Man Charged With Killing Capt. Moriarty Regretted Disgrace to Name of Bard

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Sept. 17.—Edward Leonard Osterholm, a German, 31 years old, was arrested here yesterday by the police, charged with homicide in causing the death of Captain Daniel Moriarty, commanding officer of the quarantine steamer State of New York.

The captain was killed on September 5 at the corner of Ogden avenue and One Hundred and Sixty-fourth street, in the Bronx, New York City, only half a block from his home.

Osterholm came here and secured employment as a mechanic. He wrote a letter to his sister in New York telling of his prosperity and advising her to move her family here. The letter was intercepted in New York.

John A. Schenck and Albert Wise, of the Bronx detective bureau, came here today, accompanied by Thomas Sullivan, a patrolman of New York, who identified Osterholm. He was taken to New York last night.

Captain Daniel Moriarty, who was forty-six years old and probably known to more steamship men and boatmen than any man in New York, was killed with half a block of his home on the night of September 4. He had gone to a neighboring saloon and met some men there. He left early, saying he was going right home.

According to Mrs. Moriarty, she was sitting at a window, waiting for her husband, when she heard loud talk in the street, and distinguished her husband's voice. Leaning out, she saw dim shadows as if in battle, and a little later her husband staggered up the stairs, bleeding. She asked him what the trouble was, and he said, "Nothing." Then he collapsed and died eight hours later of a hemorrhage of the brain, caused by a blow.

Mrs. Moriarty's theory was that her husband, who had told her he was going to attend a political meeting, was struck by persons whose enemy he might have incurred because of the fact that he was an ardent republican. Some of his neighbors still share that belief.

MAINE RETURNS

SHOW THAT FERNALD'S PLURALITY WAS 7876

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 17.—In returns of the vote for governor the last town to be heard from was secured today. This increased Fernald's plurality to 756, unofficial returns, which was 78 less than Gov. Cobb received on his re-election two years ago and 18,923 less than he was given on his first election in 1904.

The unofficial returns of Monday's election gave Fernald 75,991 and Gardner 81,815. The total vote of the four parties for governor was about 212,923. The total two years ago was 134,171 and in 1904 it was 124,888. The socialist and prohibition votes this year for governor were about 55 and 28 respectively, both parties again losing their place on the official ballot.

A FINAL DECREE

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Miss Helen Maloney, daughter of Martin Maloney of Philadelphia, was today granted a final decree annulling her marriage to Arthur Herbert Osborne of this city. This leaves Miss Maloney free to wed Samuel R. Sugr of Philadelphia, whom she met in London, should she choose to do so.

JUDGE HADLEY FELL FROM TRAIN

Regretted Disgrace to Name of Bard Unknown Man Crushed to Death

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 17.—With his face crushed in and one arm crushed to the elbow, an unknown man was found dead on the tracks of the New Haven road near Huntington avenue this morning. The victim was fairly well dressed but nothing was found upon his person by which he might be identified. He was about 45 years of age. It is believed by the police that he fell from a train and was crushed to death beneath it.

The police court session was very short this morning owing to the small number of offenders together with the continuance of a few cases.

The first man called was Robert Burns, who pleaded guilty to being drunk. Before passing sentence the court said "It is a shame to disgrace the name of the Scottish bard and that caused one of the members of the legal profession within the enclosure to remark 'A man's a man for a' that.' 'Bobby' was fined $2.

Concealed Jewelry. Peter Contos was arraigned on a complaint charging him with fraudulently concealing one locket valued at $4, a chain valued at $4 and a ring valued at $2, all the property of the Bentley Jewelry Co. The case was continued for one week.

For Threatening. John A. Anderson was charged with threatening Anna M. Anderson on June 22, 1906. He was not ready for trial and was held under $300 bonds for his appearance in court tomorrow morning.

For Felonious Assault. George Kimlakeas, who gave his age as 18 years, was arrested last night by Patrolmen Mulry and Cossette on complaint of Ellen Magrill, aged 12 years. He was arraigned in court this morning on a charge of felonious assault. By agreement of counsel the case was continued till Monday morning, bail of $1,000 being called for as surety.

MOTHER'S STORY

Rivals the Wildest Tales of Fiction

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Sept. 17.—That her 20-year-old son, Charles, was chained in a dark room, beaten like a wild beast and taken out to a field and tied to a tree, is the substance of the testimony of Mrs. Moses Brown of Rye, N. H., when she appeared before the police court here at the arraignment of her husband, who was held on a charge of assault in $400 bonds, which he furnished.

Mrs. Brown's story rivals the wildest tales of fiction. She testified that her son was insane at times and it was for this reason that her husband took such drastic measures to keep him inside the house.

Dep. Sheriff Nelson of Cambria, who made the arrest last night, testified that the man was fastened by chains which were wound around his wrists to the floor of a dark room and that his ankles were tied to the floor by stout cords. He was naked when found, the sheriff said. Mr. Nelson also stated that there were sores about his wrists and ankles and bruises about his body where he had been whipped.

The father claims that the whole case is the result of a family feud and that he is bearing the brunt of it all.

DINNER FAVORS

Said to Have Cost Singer $16,000,000

PITTSBURG, Sept. 17.—William H. Singer, the steel magnate, at a dinner that marked his golden wedding anniversary, distributed "favors" worth $16,000,000 each. There were four guests at the dinner, so the "favors" were worth $16,000,000 in the aggregate.

The dinner took place at the Singer home in Allegheny on May 27 last, but the magnitude of the gifts at this family party would still be a secret were it not for the filing of papers at the court house yesterday.

The fact is that the gifts were partly in cash and partly stocks and bonds. The registering of the bonds gave a clue to the secret of Mr. Singer's generosity.

Connected with this dinner, too, is the story of Black Hand persecution of Mr. Singer's eldest son and namesake, William Henry Singer, Jr., the noted landscape painter. These threats led him to flee immediately after the wedding celebration with his wife and family to New York. There, it is said, he will enjoy his father's $400,000 gift in peace.

Beside William Henry Singer, Jr., the quartet of fortunate guests included Miss Marguerite Singer and Mrs. William Ross Proctor of Philadelphia, daughters of the steel man, and his second son, George Singer, also a steel manufacturer, who is now on a vacation in the White Mountains.

The gifts at dinner were placed in envelopes beside each plate, and they were afterward locked for the night in the family safe.

Mr. Singer, besides being interested in steel manufacture, is also a large realty holder, in which he has made many millions. He was for years a director in the United States Steel Corporation. He entered it as a member of the steel corporation of Singer, Nimick & Co., which was absorbed by the United States Steel Corporation when the latter was formed. He also was a close friend of the late Charles Lockhart, the Standard Oil magnate, who at a dinner party, placed the sum of $1,000,000 under the plates of each of his children.

JUDGE DUNNE

WAS TURNED DOWN BY CALIFORNIA REPUBLICANS

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—The local republican convention last night failed to nominate Superior Judge Dunne before whom the greater part of the proceedings in the bribery graft cases have been held. Dunne's opponent was Judge Carroll Cook, also of the superior bench who was defeated for a place on the appellate court two years ago.

PRES. ROOSEVELT REPORT DENIED

Tenders a Reception to His Neighbors That 3000 Chinese Died From Cholera

OYSTER BAY, Sept. 17.—A procession of vehicles and pedestrians winding amid clouds of dust over the road from Oyster Bay to the president's home at Sagamore hill today constituted a veritable pilgrimage of the residents of Oyster Bay, everyone of whom was invited to attend the farewell reception which President Roosevelt tendered to them this afternoon before his departure for Washington and the end of his term as president. Crowded roads, leading to the president's house, were choked with vehicles of all descriptions and with persons on foot, attired in their best and plodding through the dust, proud of the opportunity to pay the president a farewell tribute while he was still president.

The reception was limited to the people of Oyster Bay. So busy has he been during his vacation that he has had little opportunity to meet them and as he departs for Washington on Tuesday next to take up his duties there he would have no other opportunity to bid them farewell.

Forty members of the German Saengerbund of Hicksville, L. I., sang at intervals during the reception. Every one of the president's guests passed in line before him and Mrs. Roosevelt and with each the president shook hands and passed a few words of greeting and farewell.

These men desired to induce sacrificial contributions to the ghosts of departed ancestors and on August 16 they started the report that four devils had been seen in the city. One of these demons cursed the people of the city for their laxity in observing the "ghost" sacrifice during the seventh moon, saying that in punishment of death would be sent to the people of Amoy and that their bodies would not be buried in the streets. The next day there were 81 deaths in the city and while this was only a slight increase from the normal it threw the people into a state of alarm. They recalled the threat of the angry devil and estimated that with a continuing proportionate rate of increase the total of deaths for the seventh moon would easily exceed three thousand.

Mr. and Mrs. Nash, who are deaf mutes, told their tales of woe to the vice chancellor in Newark yesterday at the trial of a suit for divorce brought by Nash on the ground of desertion. When the case was called the courtroom was filled with deaf mutes, who during the taking of testimony kept their fingers going constantly, exchanging compliments by sign language. The shuffling of their feet in moving about while they were excited caused an interruption, and the court ordered the mute conversation stopped.

Nash on the stand said that one day he bought some pig's feet, and before going to work told his wife to scald them and remove the bristles, and to remove the toes before boiling them. When he returned for dinner he testified that the pigs' feet were ready, but they had been boiled with the bristles and a word was by signs, followed. The next day his wife left him, he says.

Nash also testified that his wife had a hot temper, and the way she berated him on her fingers was something awful. While he was telling by sign, through an interpreter, of some of the things she had said to him she jumped up and, rushing toward him, with her fingers flying a mile a minute, declared that it was not so.

James V. Nash, the fifteen-year-old boy, testified that his mother had left his father while his father was at work and that she refused to come back. When asked if he loved his mother he answered "No."

Mrs. Nash testified that her husband was cruel to her, although he struck her, and that she was forced to leave him finally because of another woman.

SEEKS DIVORCE

Artist's Wife Names Society Girl

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Florian Pelketo, the mural decorator and historical painter, has been made defendant in a suit for absolute divorce in which Miss Ethel Dorothy Patton, a wealthy young woman of social prominence, is mentioned with Gertrude H. Bergen, an actress.

According to the complaint of Mrs. Pelketo, who is the daughter of a wealthy Cincinnati architect, there are other women involved whose names she does not know. But on Miss Patton she places the principal blame.

Alleged visits made by Miss Patton to the studios of the artist at No. 17 East Fifty-ninth street, No. 23 West Forty-third street during 1906, 1907 and 1908 are mentioned. The meetings between Pelketo and the Bergen girl are placed in September, 1904, at the Hotel Pannaci in Seabright.

The parties to this divorce suit have agreed on one thing, and that is secrecy. The case was filed last July, but became public only when it was referred yesterday to Referee Daniel F. Cohalan by Justice Gerard of the supreme court.

The discovery of a score of ardent love letters, it is admitted, was the lever which brought a mutual agreement for a private hearing, without collusion.

Yesterday Attorney Stuart G. Gibbons, for the wife, said he did not expect to introduce the love letters or to cause Mrs. Pelketo to testify "as even the attorney has practically been fixed."

The couple have a son, aged seven years, now living with the mother.

Mr. Pelketo contributed much of the frieze work and other decorative designs to the St. Louis World's Fair buildings. He designed the interior wall decorations for the New York building. One of his best known historical paintings was the portrayal of Gen. Anthony Wayne's Indian fight, for the new court house in Fort Wayne, Ind.

THOMAS SHERMAN

Drawn to Play Against Travis in Today's Contest.

GARDEN CITY, L. I., Sept. 17.—With the big field of contestants which started in the amateur golf championship narrowed down until only eight men survive, the play today had resolved itself into a struggle between the masters of the sport. Particular interest was given to the contests of today because of the fact that Thomas Sherman, of Utica, son of the republican candidate for the vice presidency was drawn against the veteran and former champion, Walter J. Travis. In addition to Travis and Sherman, the players today were Jerome D. Travers of Montclair, N. J., who met W. C. Foster, Jr., of Pittsburgh; Max H. Bag of Morrisstown, N. J. who played Thomas H. Claffin of Weston, Mass., and Eben M. Byers of Pittsburgh who had Fred Herreshoff of Manchester, Vt. as an opponent.

AT THE ALLEYS

The Connemaras and Welch Wonders Tonight

All up for Les Miserables alleys tonight, for tonight marks the opening of the howling season between the Connemaras and Wonders. Both teams met in an exhibition game last Monday night on the alleys and the Connemaras, as usual, won, by a margin of over one hundred pins.

The Wonders expect to do wonders this year and the Connemaras feel confident that they will be able to keep up the pace they set last year. Hereafter the "battles" have been held on Monday nights, but hereafter they will take place on Thursday nights.

MANY ACCIDENTS

DEAF MUTE SUIT

Husband Asks Divorce From Wife

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Was it pigs' feet boiled with the toes and bristles on or was it another woman? In the case that broke up the home of James V. Nash, of Newark? This is a question which Vice-Chancellor Stevens will have to decide.

Mr. and Mrs. Nash, who are deaf mutes, told their tales of woe to the vice chancellor in Newark yesterday at the trial of a suit for divorce brought by Nash on the ground of desertion.

When the case was called the courtroom was filled with deaf mutes, who during the taking of testimony kept their fingers going constantly, exchanging compliments by sign language. The shuffling of their feet in moving about while they were excited caused an interruption, and the court ordered the mute conversation stopped.

Nash on the stand said that one day he bought some pig's feet, and before going to work told his wife to scald them and remove the bristles, and to remove the toes before boiling them. When he returned for dinner he testified that the pigs' feet were ready, but they had been boiled with the bristles and a word was by signs, followed. The next day his wife left him, he says.

Nash also testified that his wife had a hot temper, and the way she berated him on her fingers was something awful. While he was telling by sign, through an interpreter, of some of the things she had said to him she jumped up and, rushing toward him, with her fingers flying a mile a minute, declared that it was not so.

James V. Nash, the fifteen-year-old boy, testified that his mother had left his father while his father was at work and that she refused to come back. When asked if he loved his mother he answered "No."

Mrs. Nash testified that her husband was cruel to her, although he struck her, and that she was forced to leave him finally because of another woman.

AGED WATCHMAN

Was Found Dead in a Pit

NEW YORK, September 17.—In a pit under the new building of the American Safe Deposit company, at Fifth avenue and Fifty-second street, the body of Florence Sullivan, a seventy-two-year-old night watchman, was found yesterday morning with two bad wounds in the forehead, and the face and hands crushed. The police believe he was murdered, though they have no clue to his supposed assailant.

Sullivan was last seen alive shortly before midnight by a policeman. He was sitting in a chair near the foundation pit smoking a pipe. He had a stick, an umbrella and an ambly stick. At 8 o'clock yesterday morning, James Fearo, a fellow workman, saw the cane lying near the chair, broken in three pieces.

Looking further, he found the old man's body in the pit. An ambulance surgeon said he had been dead for hours.

One of the workmen remembered that several days ago a man threatened Sullivan because he refused to give him money for drink. Another theory was that burglars might have killed him in an attempt to break into the Safe Deposit company.

MISSING GIRL

WAS SEEN IN AUTOMOBILE WITH YOUNG MAN

NORTHAMPTON, Sept. 17.—A report reached here today from Charles Fall, a former hired man on the Hillbert farm at Chesterfield, that he had seen the missing Esther A. Hillbert riding along the streets of Holyoke in an automobile in company with a young man. The report caused considerable excitement and an investigation was started at once.

According to the information that Fall gave over the telephone he is positive that he saw the girl in Holyoke this morning. He said he worked on the farm for several months and knew the girl very well. The search has been given up temporarily.

YOUNG BURGLARS AN UNKNOWN MAN

Made a Break in a House in Centralville Last Night Probably Concerned in Death of Young Woman

Two young burglars who evidently have received instruction from an artful master or else learned the skillful work from reading dime novels, were arrested by the police yesterday afternoon and looked for breaking and entering and larceny. They gave their names as William Millette, aged 17 years, and Henry Clark, aged 15 years, and acknowledged that they had burglarized the residence of Eugene Dufresne in Bridge street.

The police were notified of the break yesterday afternoon and Inspector Walsh was detailed to look into the matter. An investigation of the premises showed that someone had cut out a portion of the panel in the kitchen door in the absence of the family, and after gaining an entrance rammed the house.

The family reported nothing missing at the time, but it later developed that some clothing had been taken. The ice chest had been opened and the key taken, also, as well as some eatables which happened to be in it at the time.

There were no clues about the premises to indicate who the burglars might be but after a searching inquiry the inspector, in company with Patrolmen Peter Corcoran and Michael Lennon, came across young Clark. The latter didn't seem to give a satisfactory account of himself for the afternoon and when searched the ice chest key was found in one of his pockets. He was taken to one of his pockets. He was taken to one of his pockets. He was taken to one of his pockets.

The inspector then made a search for the other party and succeeded in locating him in Bridge street. When arrested Millette said that Clark was to blame. When the contents of his pocket were looked over, however, it was decided that he was also guilty. Millette had on his person a money belt, a bunch of keys, and also a candle, all of which were looked upon with suspicion.

Case Continued

William Millette was arraigned in court this morning and charged with the larceny of four eggs valued at three cents each. The government was not ready to conduct the trial and the case was continued till tomorrow morning. Millette being held under $100 bonds.

Mr. William P. McAlon of 13 Myrtle street, the well known pianist with Kilted's orchestra, has resumed teaching.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—In their effort to learn the identity of the well-dressed young woman whose body was found floating off North beach yesterday the police have concluded that an unknown man was in some way concerned in the death. In examining the beach they found footprints of a man and a woman leading to the water's edge. Only the man's footprints returning could be found. Today the police learned that a young woman answering the description of the dead girl boarded a car near the Long Island City ferry early yesterday morning. She was accompanied by a man who remained with her until the car had traveled a considerable distance. As he was leaving the man said to the conductor:

"Take good care of this little girl. She is my sister."

The young woman left the car at a point near where the body was found in the sand. The body lies today unknown and unclaimed in the morgue in Long Island City. Beyond the gold locket bearing the initial "K," a purse upon which is inscribed the address: "Provincetown, Mass." and the trademark of a New York department store on the girl's coat, nothing has been found which will assist in the identification. The purse is of the souvenir variety and there are possibly many hundreds exactly like it in the possession of vacationists who have visited the Massachusetts resort. It is only upon the locket that the police now are basing their hopes. They believe that some one who has seen the trinket may have known the young woman.

TREE CUT DOWN

Move to Improve Monument Square

The park commission hoped that in the work of improving Monument square it would be possible to spare the big maple tree that sheltered the monument and added to the beauty of the square, but alas and alack it was impossible to save the tree. Its great roots crossed the line of the trench wall and in order to dig the trench in which will be laid the foundation for the curbing it was necessary to amputate the roots and shorn of them the tree of course would die, so in order to spare the beautiful maple the agony of a lingering death the woodman was summoned and he felled the mighty maple whose branches held the vacant nest of the song bird.

The tree was cut down this forenoon and the leaves and branches were carted away. Park Commissioner Hall was there and deplored the loss of the tree, but it was unavoidable.

The cannons, too, that guarded the grave where the heroes sleep, will be moved from the square. They have gone, never to return to their vigil at the Ladd and Whitney monument. The two cannons are now at the city stable and will, it was stated today, be taken in charge by the G. A. R.

The work of improving Monument square is going along slowly but surely. The trench for the wall is nearly done, and the stone for the wall is being carted to the square today. The trench is about 50 feet long and deep enough to reach quite a few feet beyond the trench line.

It was little wonder that grass would not grow in Monument square. The digging of the trench revealed the reason why, and it didn't require much digging to discover the reason. Less than five inches beneath the surface the diggers found little but bricks and cinders. These would not hold the moisture, and this being a fact there was nothing to give life to the grass. This, however, will be remedied and when the job has been completed the grass will grow as green in Monument square as on the lawns at city hall.

"PAT" DOLAN DEAD

Old Time Horseman Passed Away

Patrick Dolan, known to the followers of the race track from Atlantic to Pacific as "Little Pat" and "Little Dolan," died yesterday at the age of 65 years, after a mental and physical illness of about a year's duration.

The remains were removed to the undertaking establishment of T. J. McDermott, from which place the funeral will take place tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock with funeral services in St. Peter's church at 10 o'clock.

Patrick Dolan's life related in detail would read like a romance. Starting out as a poor boy he twice could place his name to a check in the tens of thousands and twice descended from the excitement of the race track and a life of luxurious ease to the hard day's work of the sewer laborer, carrying his cold dinner and working hard without a word of complaint. In his latter days some friends "staked" him when he was more and he went forth for the third time to the grand circuit, but at the close of the season, while returning home with a well filled pocket he was struck down by robbers and relieved of his last dollar while he never fully recovered from the effects of the blow on his head and some time later showed signs of mental disorder from which he never recovered. The deceased was known and beloved for his honesty, amiability and his kindness and generosity. No beggar, whether his tale be true or not, ever asked in vain of "Pat" Dolan when he had it, and he would divide his last dollar with a friend worse off than himself. He was a great raconteur, had a fund of most interesting reminiscences of the old race track days when money flowed like water, and many times and often surrounded by his fellow-workmen on a sewer job, each discussing his frugal lunch from the dinner pail during noon hour, he has regaled them with stories of the halcyon days of Pullman car traveling and an army of colored waiters to command, even winding up with the philosophical conclusion: "Sure, we're better off as we are, and we'll live longer this way." The deceased was unmarried and leaves no relatives.

WHAT'S IT WORTH TO HEAR WELL

If a man with perfect hearing were asked to sell that sense, how many dollars do you suppose he would want for it? Few there are who would sell it at any price. Yet countless people are losing their hearing gradually without taking any steps to prevent the loss. If you find yourself in this plight, think for a moment of the consequences. Think of the happiness which deaf people miss; think of the joys which are denied them; think of the unnumbered risks they run; think of the loss in dollars and cents.

A prominent Boston merchant said the other day: "That man there was one of my best salesmen, but he is growing deaf. Unless he gets cured of it, I shall have to let him go. He cannot wait on trade in that condition." That man will soon be out of work. His deafness will prevent his getting another position. Are you sure that no such danger threatens you?

Yet deaf people are needless sufferers. For we cure Deafness, Head Noises and Catarrh. If you are a sufferer from these complaints come to us for an examination. Let our specialists change your life from one of misery and danger to one of joy and happiness, contentment and safety. Come now.

GREAT BRITAIN NOT ON THE LIST

Has Two Strong Players in Tennis Match Street Foremen Were Not Certified to

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—Great Britain sent two of her strongest tennis players to the Longwood cricket club today that America might not become a challenger for the Davis international trophy held by Australia without a contest.

As the two British visitors James Parke of Dublin, Irish champion in singles and M. J. Ritchie of England, the Olympic champion, announced before the contest that they would not go to the Antipodes in case they should win there was every incentive for the victory by this country represented by William A. Larned of Summit, N. J., the national champion; Beals Wright of Boston, the title holder of 1905 and the present champion in doubles; H. K. Hackett and P. B. Alexander of New York.

In carrying out the conditions of the cup the players were drawn for the two single contests this afternoon with Larned meeting Parke and Wright playing Ritchie. Tomorrow Hackett and Alexander will play the British pair in doubles and on Saturday the two remaining matches in singles will be contested with Wright meeting Parke and Larned playing Ritchie.

The playing at Longwood this year was the seventh contest in the history of the Davis cup, a massive silver bowl offered nine years ago by Dwight Davis of St. Louis for three years a national championship. Doubles. Great Britain made two efforts to carry off the cup before the famous Doherty brothers in 1903 won the bowl. Last year with the same three countries in the contest Brooks and Wilding of Australia came off victorious against Great Britain and the Davis bowl took another long trip to the southern hemisphere where next November, if the American team wins at Longwood it will again be sought with Brooks and Wilding probably as its defenders.

LOCAL POLITICAL FIELD

Candidates for Mayoralty and Other Offices So Far as Declared

The Booklets Fly on Lieutenant Governor Contest — The Platforms of Josiah Fielding Fiske and Officer Brown for the Mayoralty — Other Candidates in Sight

The democratic candidates for mayor, according to the popular conception of things political, are James H. Carmichael, Lawrence Cummings, Jas. B. Casey and John W. Daly. Mr. Cummings has not declared himself as yet but wherever the mayoralty situation is discussed his name is prominently mentioned. Ex-Mayor Casey recently announced his intention of running.

A morning paper deploring the poor caliber of the republican candidates for office in this city signs as follows: "The legislative campaign is about to open and the same old array of little men is likely to be put in nomination. It is a thoroughly discouraging outlook."

Now, ain't it awful, Mabel? There's Senator Hibbard who a few weeks ago personally conducted special legislation through the state house to make possible the auto races, as a result of which this same paper is many dollars wealthier, having gotten out the official programs. And now they call "Joe" a little man. Then there's L. P. Turcotte, whom the republican city committee has honored with the vice-presidency for several years, another little man, and Hammie Greenwood, a good advertiser but a little man, and A. Grant, also a good advertiser but a little "pol."

Candidate Brown's Platform

In police circles it is whispered that there was a movement on to make George Brown a lieutenant recently to get him out of the mayoralty, but that one of the commissioners blocked it and all compromised by making Frank Fox, Brown's lieutenant, a liquor inspector. Mr. Brown and his strategy board, the chairman of which is Billy Mahoney, who has changed his politics in the interest of Mr. Brown, are at work on his platform and one of the planks will be a safe and sane administration of police affairs, an automobile for the superintendent, Colt's revolvers for the inspectors and aluminum armor plate to be worn inside the clothing for patrolmen on the outskirts and in the foreign colonies where the hidden knife is frequently brandished. All candidates for the position of liquor inspector must produce membership cards from either the Mathews or Rev. Mr. Craig's Eastern Star Temperance society.

Osmond Long is mentioned as a candidate for alderman on the republican ticket.

DIED SUDDENLY

Albert Spencer Found in a Barn

Albert Spencer, aged 17 years and 10 months, the son of James and Florence Spencer, died suddenly yesterday afternoon in a barn in Payette street. It is thought that death was due to heart failure brought on by excessive smoking.

The young man was employed doing odd jobs about the premises and yesterday afternoon he was in the best of health. Later in the day one of the men employed about the place had occasion to go into the hay loft and found young Spencer there.

Medical Examiner J. V. Meigs was called in and after learning that the boy was an excessive smoker was of the opinion that he suffered from tobacco heart.

The body was removed to the rooms of Undertakers O'Donnell & Sons and when the medical examiner was called he decided to find out a little more about the finding of the body before he attached his signature to the death papers.

Patrolman John Kelley visited the stable soon after the body was found and reported the case to headquarters but there seemed nothing to look up. Deceased leaves his parents and two sisters, Mrs. Clarence Wheeler and Miss Rebecca Spencer.

AMERICAN FLEET

Is to Leave Albany Tomorrow Instead of Today

ALBANY, West Australia, Sept. 17.—The American battleship is to leave here tomorrow instead of today, as originally planned, on its long trip to Manila where it is due on the second or third of October. Admiral Sperry, the commander-in-chief, today received a telegram from Alfred D. Akin, the premier of the commonwealth, expressing obligation to President Roosevelt and the American government for the honor of the visit.

COTTON FUTURES STEADY

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Cotton futures opened steady. Oct. 5 1/2; Dec. 5 1/2; Jan. 5 1/2; March 5 1/2; May 5 1/2.

PRESIDENT'S VACATION AT AN END

OYSTER BAY, Sept. 17.—President Roosevelt's summer vacation is at an end, and he returns to Washington on Sept. 22. Oyster Bay and Sagamore Hill cease thereupon to be the seat of the national government. Mr. Roosevelt will journey to Oyster Bay to vote in November, but when he again takes up his residence there he probably will be a private citizen. The first public reception at the White House probably will be in honor of the delegates to the international congress on tuberculosis, which begins at the national capital on Sept. 21.

Cosgrove are urging him to run for purchasing agent this fall and it is probable that he will allow the use of his name. Mr. Cosgrove would make a strong candidate for the position.

Has seen the booklets that the contest for lieutenant-governor has brought about? Out comes a little blue booklet entitled "The Lieutenant Governor of Massachusetts containing between its covers 28 pages telling why Hon. John N. Cole should be elected. On the covers of the little blue book the union label is conspicuous by its absence. Hardly had the little blue book found its way before the public when along came a little gray book entitled "Report of the Bulletin Published in October, 1907, at Andover, Mass. In opposition to the election of Mr. John N. Cole, etc." Fortified with the label on its covers the gray book contains some 30 pages of anti-Cole doctrine. It is understood also that similar booklets stating why Luce and Frothingham should be elected and why they should not be elected are also in circulation. These little booklets will be carefully preserved by the democratic candidates and press, for they contain fine material to show why none of these candidates should be elected.

Alderman Read Not a Candidate

Alderman Read yesterday stated that he would not be a candidate for mayor. Who the dickens ever said he would be?

Things look exceptionally bright for Major Josiah Fielding Fiske. The major intends to run on a platform, the principal issue of which will be more playgrounds for the children and better breathing places for the dwellers in tenements, and now comes Judge Pickman booming the identical issues upon which the major will stand. Great minds of course run in the same channel.

Ex-Acting Mayor Badger will enter the aldermanic field again having completely recovered from his trying experience as acting mayor.

Judging from the number of aldermanic candidates on the republican ticket it is very likely that all will not be nominated. Of this year's board Messrs. Bailey, Cheney, Gray, Read and Wilder will run again while the following councilmen will be in the contest: Messrs. Adams, McKiddier, Thomas, Wainwright, Bergeron, Baldwin, Fielding, Mitchell, Cadoret, Stevens, McKenzie, Dexter and Spencer.

There are three other republican councilmen who have not yet been heard from but they might as well come in as "the water is fine."

Councilman John P. Mahoney is seeking his sixth term in ward five.

The registrars put on 375 names up to Saturday night against 200 last year.

Bryan and Kern Club

A meeting of these interested in the Bryan and Kern club will be held in the banquet hall in Associate building, tonight at 7:45 o'clock. All persons interested in the success of Bryan and Kern are invited to attend this meeting at which arrangements will be made for a smoke talk to be held some evening next week, at which prominent speakers will be heard. It is expected that the attendance this evening will be very large.

Candidate Frothingham will meet Lowell republicans at the New American Hotel this evening.

Edward Foye and Patrick Ryan are candidates for purchasing agent on the democratic ticket, thus making the contest for the nomination a three cornered affair.

POLICE CHANGES

RESULT OF C. S. EXAMINATION AWAITED

The members of the police department who recently were promoted by the board of police to fill vacancies caused by the death of the late Capt. William R. Kew, have not yet taken their positions. They are awaiting the result of the civil service examinations taken last Saturday morning in the office of Charles H. Conant of the board of civil service examiners.

Those who took the examination were Lieut. Hugh Downey, who was appointed to take the place of Capt. Kew; Sergt. John Freeman to succeed Lieut. Downey; Thomas R. Atkinson of the liquor squad to be made sergeant of the squad; and Thomas McCoughry, of the liquor squad, who was named to take Sergt. Freeman's place.

The local board of examiners have corrected their papers which they later forwarded to Boston in order that the state examiners may make out the rating. It is expected that the returns will be made during the latter part of this week or the early part of next.

THE COWLEY CASE

More Hearings Scheduled for City Hall

The case of many hearings, the Cowley case, is scheduled for another day hearing, September 25, 28, 29 and 30. This case has held the boards so long that it has been referred to as "the interminable case."

COMMITTEE ON LIGHTING

The committee on lighting is scheduled for a meeting this afternoon and the committee on sewers will meet tomorrow afternoon.

This is by far the largest net average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

Andover street should have as good fire protection as any other part of the city. For ordinary purposes we understand the present service is adequate but not for a conflagration.

"WEAK" RATHER THAN "JOKE" CANDIDATES.
Our morning contemporary speaks in severe terms of "joke candidates," whoever they may be. Why not be more specific and mention the names of the jokers? We know of some candidates who are in dead earnest in the contest for the mayoralty, and they each and all believe that if they had the chance they could improve upon the administration of Mayor Farnham. When the republican party elects a weak man, several other men of the same stamp will get out to look for his job. Is it right to regard such men as joke candidates? The proper designation would be weak candidates, and if such men are candidates it is because they seem to be in favor just at present with the republican party.

THE DAVIS FUND.
In justice to the memory of the late John Davis, who left about $115,000 to the city library, it should be stated that the income from the fund enables the trustees to maintain and equip the children's reading room, to keep the general reading room open on Sundays and to provide various additions to the list of books that seem to be demanded by the reading public. The Davis fund is placed at the disposal of the library trustees without restriction as to how it shall be used, but the trustees are right in using only the income of the fund and holding the principal intact. If the trustees decided to go ahead and spend the principal for current expenses, in a short time nothing would be heard of the Davis fund.

NOMINATION OF HUGHES.
The renomination of Governor Hughes in New York was forced by the pressure exerted by the national committee and President Roosevelt. The local machine was completely overpowered in its efforts to give expression to the popular sentiment against Hughes. Just as soon as the opposition got a candidate in line for nomination the emissaries of the president or of the national committee advised him not to run. Thus the anti-Hughes forces were unable to induce any candidate to enter the fight, solely as a result of the domination and coercion of the president and his allies. The voters of New York will not stand this coercion, and hence the general belief is that Hughes will be defeated.

THE LOWELL AUTO COURSE AND OTHERS.
The Boston Herald refers to the absence of serious accidents in the Lowell road race, and attributes it to the fact that the winner took the lead so easily as to make the race something in the nature of a procession. But that would not lessen the accidents inasmuch as the leader had to pass all the other machines almost in every circuit of the track. The absence of accident was due to two things, to wit, the excellence of the course and the cautious work of the drivers. The course was well roped off and well policed. It was set apart by act of the legislature for the road race on Labor Day, and this was well understood by the people in the vicinity, so that there was no danger of any farmer getting out on the track with a load of hay or anything of that kind. The Herald also makes a comparison with the Bologna circuit in Europe and the method taken to protect the course, saying:—

"We note that the Bologna circuit race of 330 miles was guarded by regular police and 900 stewards of the club. The road was newly macadamized where it needed it. At specially perilous sections of the road the hard ground adjoining was ploughed so as to soften the fall of contestants if accident came, and at one point of danger meadows near by were flooded and boatmen and physicians were at hand to give aid if drivers and cars left the track to land in the water."
We do not think that the management of any race in this country will ever adopt such precautionary measures, nor will they be necessary in any race over the Merrimack valley course. When next such a race is run there, it is quite likely that the back stretch of the course will be macadamized, and at some points widened. The chief danger points are the hairpin curve and the corners leading into and out of Dunbar avenue. It is right that here some extraordinary provision should be made against accidents, as the good fortune that followed the racers in the Labor Day contest might forsake them in the next race. In view of the wide reputation Lowell has attained on account of the race, it would be good policy to have the course improved as proposed and also as we have already suggested to retain the grandstand. The city could afford to purchase the grandstand and to share in the expense of putting the course in perfect condition if there was any assurance of another race such as that of Labor Day. In arranging another race it might be well to have more variety by making the race limit 150 miles and having speed contests for various types of machines on a straightaway track where the risk of accident would be slight even though the rate of speed would be the highest possible.

SEEN AND HEARD

The knights of leisure had gathered in the city messenger's office and "Billy" Delmage was entertaining with tales of his prowess as a hunter and fisherman. Here is one of the hunting stories that he regaled us with: "One morning, Billy thought he'd go out and shoot a deer before breakfast. Cautiously edging down towards the lake, he saw a deer swimming. Taking careful aim, Billy hit and killed the deer. Having no boat with him he saw that he would have to go out and get Mr. Deer. So, he reloaded his gun, laid it down beside a hollow log, and started to wade out to the carcass of the deer. The water was very shallow, and he waded a long way, and then he had to swim. He finally got hold of the dead deer, and had just got him to shore—almost to shore, where he could wade, when he saw a big bear sitting on the log where he had placed his gun, and he found himself in a predicament. He had visions that he had not only lost the deer, but the bear might do him up. With the prospect of the true huntsman Billy lay submerged to the eyes until the bear moved away. Then pulling out the deer he ran out, got his gun and blazed away at the bear. The bear looked around with an air of contempt and Billy had no more ammunition."

A YEAR'S SLAUGHTER
Boston Herald: "The report of the New York public service commission covering the railroads of the state outside of the metropolitan area is a gruesome one. On the steam railroads 1092 persons were killed and 2427 injured. On the electric roads 95 were killed and 730 were injured. In each classification the number of victims was greater than in the last preceding year. The state has a roll of honor for the railroads completing the year without injury to life. This year it contains the names of 24 steam railroads and of 26 electric lines, but these safe roads carried less than one-half of one per cent. of the steam railroad passengers, and but a little over one per cent. of the electric patrons. The rest of the travelling public of New York took chances when they boarded a steam or electric car. More than one in every 5000 were hurt. The report is startling. But do the duties of the public service commission in the protection of life and with making a startling report?"

PEOPLE OF NOTE

The golf champion of Wisconsin is Edward P. Ahls, aged 16, universally known as "Ned," who recently scored a victory over Frank W. Jacobs of Madison, the state champion of 1907. We are told that the victory of Ahls over Jacobs was by consistent golf, with no freaks, and he made the best record of his career going 72 against the 80 bogey of the course. The victor played good golf when only five years old, and at the age of 11 had reached the distinction of a write-up in a golfing magazine. The Milwaukee Wisconsin further says: "One of the most remarkable performances of his record was in 1902, when 10 years old. He went over the country club course in 33 with a single club. His first round was done in 45 and the second in 47, five holes being made in bogey. The little chap had only a driver for his club, using it for field shots, his approach, and even for putting. Half a dozen times he borrowed a mashie, but with these exceptions every shot was with his little short driver."

As soon as Richard Strauss has set his new opera "Elektra" on the stage he purposed to undertake a lyric comedy, and they hear in Paris that he has chosen the classic "Tartuffe" of Moliere for his text. He intends to use it integrally or nearly integrally, as he wrote to Wilde's "Salome" and Hoffmann's "Elektra."

The owner of the greatest wheat farm of North Dakota, and probably of the world, Oliver Dalrymple, lately died at Casselton, in that state, where he had gone from his winter home in St. Paul, Minn., to superintend the harvesting of his crop. The Dalrymple farm consists of 17 sections, or 10,580 acres, which he has devoted for many years in the raising of wheat. In that field Mr. Dalrymple became a recognized authority. He was, with his brother, about the first to undertake wheat raising on a large scale. He had been engaged in it for a quarter of a century, and the Dalrymple wheat fields of thousands of acres have, during more than two decades, been objects of great interest to tourists and agriculturists. The work was shared by John Dalrymple, who died a few years ago. They followed scientific agricultural and business methods in their venture, and made it very profitable. Oliver Dalrymple became a millionaire. Oliver Dalrymple was a prominent figure, both in Minnesota and North Dakota, and was universally loved and respected by those who knew him, says the St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Nance O'Neil is to try her fortunes once more as an actress of quality in theatres of rank. This time, she will make the venture in New York, next month, with a modern and highly "emotional" play called "Agnes."

Here is a part of a letter that Miss Farrar lately sent to a friend in New York about her work and play in the summer that is now ending, and about her plans for the autumn in Berlin (the Villa Serbelloni under the Alps (the Villa Serbelloni) is the most beautiful spot I have ever seen, and realizes my dream of sunny Italy! How glad I am you spoke so enthusiastically about it. We idle much. I write some, but in the main it has proved a veritable paradise of tranquillity and repose with perfect weather. We have the whole wing and balcony, on the garden side, and sweeps over the lakes and the gardens. Couldn't be more private if we owned the estate." Then she tells of her horseback rides in Berlin and Bellagio, her trips on the motor boat, and some motoring excursions she made in England earlier in the summer. "Next time, she goes on, but after all, there is nothing like working. And I get awfully bored waiting to go to rest—enough to 'grind.' Whenever she is in Berlin Miss Farrar continues her studies with Lilli Lehmann. Concerning her, she writes: "Lilli was her usual handsome self. She thinks New York for special performance in the opera, Iphigenia and Donna Anna, Caruso and I would then, I think, have the honor in the first named opera, and in the last two, to sing with her." Miss Farrar will appear first at the Metropolitan in "Madame Butterfly," and she will sing Marguerite in "Faust" when the new Academy of Music in Brooklyn is opened with that opera. Her many parts will be Manon in Messener's like named opera, Cherubino in "Figaro," and the little princess in Humperdinck's new opera, "Koenigsinder," which is to have its first performance in America before Germany hears it. She is to give a concert in Berlin on October 22.

The ceremony attending the induction of Dr. Harry A. Garfield into the office of president of Williams college will take place at Williamstown on Wednesday, October 7, 1908, and a large number of distinguished delegates from academic institutions are expected to be present. Sara I. Cashman, a 14-year-old Jewish girl, has made a dramatization of Mrs. Amelia E. Barr's novel, "A Boy of Orange Ribbons," to be performed by the Delany History club of New York city, of which Miss Cashman is a member. Miss Phillips, who is at the head of the English department of the De Witt Clinton High school, found it necessary to make very few changes in the dramatized version, despite the youth of the author. This gifted girl had previously taken a prize for an original essay in the club, and also designed a clever cover for the club scrap book. Mrs. James B. McKimney, who is a grandmother, and whose husband was for many years a guard at the Indiana reformatory, and died about a year ago, will teach in the Terre Haute schools this year. She attended the state normal school this summer, and has been so successful in furnishing her knowledge of years ago, when she was a successful school teacher, that she obtained an appointment to teach and will be on hand when the school year begins. Miss Ethel Dickens, a granddaughter of Charles Dickens, is reported to be seriously opposed to the project now on foot in England of erecting a statue to the memory of the novelist. She calls attention to the fact that her grandfather in his will distinctly said that he was to have no "monumental, memorial, or testimonial." Miss Dickens is the holder of a large typewriting bureau in London and is described as a keen business woman.

To Make Balloon Ascension With Glidden

NASHUA, N. H., Sept. 17.—At 4 o'clock this afternoon will take place the first flight in this city of a balloon under the auspices of the New England Aero club. The balloon, "Bonnie," which will make the ascent, arrived yesterday. The ascensions will be made from Aero park, an unimproved section of land in a bend in the Nashua river near the gas works, and reached from Bridge street. It is within two minutes' walk of the Nashua junction railway station. The number of people who will visit the city today to see the balloon go up is estimated at 10,000. Alfred R. Shingley, secretary of the club of Boston, and Charles T. Clifford of Lowell will accompany Charles J. Glidden, president of the club, in the ascent.

FRIENDS ASK FOR GARDIAN FOR SOMERVILLE MAN

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—George M. Pitman, assistant clerk of the Charlestown municipal court, and Herbert E. Weltz of Medford, filed a petition yesterday in the probate court at East Cambridge for the appointment of a guardian for Capt. Henry W. Pitman of 77 Columbus avenue, Somerville, on the ground of insanity and incapability to manage his affairs. Capt. Pitman was arrested by the federal officers June 29, on the charge of sending objectionable letters through the mail to a young Chelsea girl, and the case is still pending against him. George M. Pitman is the captain's son and Atty. Weltz is a son-in-law. Capt. Pitman is 62 years old, and has resided in Somerville more than 30 years. He has been prominent in the republican party as secretary of the Middlesex county committee, and has also been connected with several Somerville newspapers.

GIVES RULING IN REVERE BATH COSTUME CASE

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—Under the decision yesterday of Judge Samuel R. Cutler of the Chelsea police court, people wearing bathing suits with outside clothing over them, even if only a bathrobe, may cross the Parkway at Revere beach without a permit from the superintendent of the state reservation. The case in hand was that of Louis Adelsolte of Revere, who was arrested by the park police for crossing the boulevard without a permit. The technical charge was trespass. Recently the same judge decided that the rule was unfair which permitted only residents of Revere to cross the boulevard in bathing costume. In the case of Adelsolte, he found that, as he wore a bathrobe, he was properly clothed for crossing the public thoroughfare and discharged him. The decision is taken to mean that anybody properly clothed may cross the parkway to bath.

FINE CONCERT
FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE CHILDREN'S HOME

A concert for the benefit of the Children's home in Kirk street was held last night in Colonial hall, and proved to be a success. The artists on the program were the Lillian Haynes trio, consisting of Miss Lillian Haynes, violinist; Miss Pearl Bree, violin; and Miss Lillian West, piano. The trio was assisted by Mr. William F. Thornton, reader. The program consisted of the rendition of Mendelssohn's Festival March by the trio, which brought forth considerable applause. Mr. Thornton then gave an excellent reading, after which Miss Bree played Wawnska's Mazurka. The remainder of the program was in keeping with the first part.

Goes to Baltimore in Response to Call
In consequence of the call which he received to the First Baptist church in Baltimore, Rev. O. C. S. Wallace, D. D., has gone there to look the field over before answering the call. The following is from the Baltimore American of Monday: "If Rev. Dr. O. C. S. Wallace, who has been called to the pastorate of the First Baptist church, Fremont and Lafayette avenues, accepts the call and consents to leave his present work as pastor of the First Baptist church of Lowell, Mass., he will be only the sixth pastor of the church in 136 years, a record not equalled by any other Baptist congregation in the United States. "Rev. Dr. Wallace has been spending his summer vacation in Nova Scotia, at Kentville, his birthplace, and he was there when he received the call of the Baltimore congregation last week. He will arrive in Baltimore tomorrow morning and will be met by a committee, the members of which will entertain him and acquaint him with the field in Baltimore and the possibilities for doing good in this city. The people of the First Baptist church feel that Dr. Wallace will accept the call and if he does he will receive a right royal welcome from his new parishioners. At the midweek prayer service on Wednesday night Dr. Wallace will meet the members of the congregation and will talk with them." Mr. Frank E. Curran, who was injured while working for the Boston and Maine railroad, returned to Lowell last Friday after a year's absence, and is able to be about. He will be pleased to meet his friends.

PARKER AND BRYAN

Meet on the Same Platform at Rochester, N. Y.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 17.—As culminating feature of the democratic state convention, which closed yesterday there was a notable demonstration here last night in honor of the party's national standard bearer, William J. Bryan, who addressed a mass meeting in convention hall and overflowed gatherings outside.

Presiding over the convention hall assembly was Judge Alton B. Parker, the presidential candidate of four years ago, who took advantage of the occasion to make a personal pledge of his earnest fealty to the national ticket. As Mr. Bryan and Judge Parker stood side by side before the great audience, the cheering welled up in a deafening roar.

Mr. Bryan expressed his gratitude for the nomination of Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler as head of the state ticket and paid a personal tribute to him. Mr. Chanler had joined the Nebraska at Syracuse yesterday afternoon and was with him at dinner last night at Genesee Valley club.

The greeting extended Mr. Bryan when he entered the hall and the applause and cheering that constantly interrupted his speech was spontaneous and enthusiastic. Near all of the orchestra seemed to have given itself over to the reception of Mr. Bryan. The down-town streets were thronged all evening long and the progress of the candidate from place to place was made difficult by the crowds which pressed about him.

Judge Parker offered a foreword rather than an introduction of Mr. Bryan, saying:

"The United democracy of the state of New York joins heartily with the people of Rochester in bidding welcome to our guest of honor, and we pledge him our earnest support until victory comes."

"It is worth coming a long way," said Mr. Bryan, "to participate in the closing hours of a great convention in this country's greatest state."

"I appreciate Judge Parker's cordial words in presenting me to you. I appreciate the pledge he has given and especially do I appreciate his own earnest part in the fulfillment of that pledge."

He said he was gratified that the convention placed at the head of its ticket one so worthy to carry the party's standard in this state and said he appreciated the spirit of harmony that prevailed in this convention.

Mr. Bryan's references to the convention and to Mr. Chanler called out almost continual cheering. The Nebraska then plunged into his set speech.

While in the midst of his address Mr. Bryan was interrupted by former Assemblyman John Palace, Jr., of Rochester, who stated that if he would consent to suspend for five minutes

THACKERY GUILTY

Of Violating Contract Labor Law

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—Norman Thackery of North Adams, a foreman in the Arnold print works, was convicted by a jury last night in the U. S. district court on a charge of bringing in two weavers from Leeds, England, in violation of the contract labor law.

The jury went out in the afternoon about 3 o'clock and returned a verdict at 8.30. There were five counts in the indictment and on three of them the court directed a verdict for the defendant. On the other two the jury found the accused guilty, but recommended leniency.

It was alleged that he paid the transportation of Clifford Goldert and Bernard Tugwell from England to this country and gave him employment at $8.50 a week.

John H. Casey, counsel for the defendant, asked to have until next Tuesday to file a motion for a new trial and one for arrest of judgment. Asst. U. S. Dist. Atty. Garland assented and the motions were granted. It is the intention of the defense to carry the case to the court of appeals on exceptions if the motion for a new trial that will be filed is denied.

FAVORS TREATY

TO DEAL WITH THE WOOD PULP SITUATION

APPLETON, Wis., Sept. 17.—"Because raw material is much cheaper in Canada and labor is considerably cheaper, we would have to go out of business and would go out of business if the tariff on wood pulp were to be cut off, unless we could obtain higher prices for our sulphite than we are receiving at the present," said N. M. Jones of Bancroft, manager of the Kalamazoo Pulp and Paper Co., at Lincoln, Me., before the congressional investigating committee yesterday morning. Continuing, Mr. Jones said:

"Unless we can get out material as cheaply as the Canadian mills do, we would have to quit business, for we could not compete with them."

"The only thing I see to do, is to make a treaty with Canada. Not as a tariff, not as a reciprocal party treaty, but a treaty whereby the tariff on wood pulp would be cut off if our mills were allowed to purchase pulp wood in Canada at the same figures that Canadian mills do; but I would also increase the duty on European pulp 100 per cent. Europe is our greatest competitor, not Canada. The market of the United States and Canada is large enough to use all the wood pulp, sulphite and paper manufactured in this country and Canada if a treaty were made and the duty on European goods increased."

The Maine man was the only witness today.

AVERAGE WAGES

HIGHER IN 1907 THAN THEY WERE IN 1906

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The average wages per hour in the principal manufacturing and mercantile industries of the country were 3.7 per cent higher in 1907 than in 1906, while retail prices of food were 4.2 per cent higher, according to the July report of the bureau of labor. The regular hours of labor per week were four-tenths of one per cent lower, and the number of employees in establishments investigated by the bureau showed an increase of 1.2 per cent.

The purchasing power of an hour wage, as measured by food, was less in 1907 than in 1906, the decrease being 1-2 of 1 per cent.

The average prices of 29 of the 39 articles included in the compilation of prices were higher in 1907 than in 1906. The articles which showed the greatest advance in prices are flour 8.9 per cent; butter 8.0 per cent; evaporated apples 7.8 per cent; milk 7.3 per cent; corn meal 6.8 per cent; cheese 6.7 per cent, and potatoes 5.4 per cent.

McCaskill, Miss I. McIntyre, Mr. J. Tait, Miss I. McAuley, Mr. R. Hastings, Mrs. I. McCaskill, Donald McFadyen.

PROBABLY DEAD

Four Members of Crew Deserted Barkentine

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—The barkentine Fremont, which arrived from the Arctic yesterday, brought news of the probable death of four members of the crew who deserted on May 16 and started to reach Alaska. They were Manuel Lorenz, Leon Walker, John Gordon and James McDonald. They started on their perilous trip late one night during the height of a storm. A search was made for them but without success and several days later the day they occupied was picked up at Dublin Bay. It is believed that all of them perished. They had been despatched for some time over the amount of their spring allowance.

An Estate Valued At $750,000 Is Involved

The will of Mrs. Caroline M. Barnard of Everett, who died July 20 of this year, leaving an estate worth $750,000, is to be contested. Yesterday notice was given in the probate court in Cambridge that four cousins of Mrs. Barnard, Mrs. Harriet A. Bond of Somerville, Miss Harriet D. Danforth and Miss Laura P. Danforth of the Hotel Canterbury, Boston, and Mrs. A. Geraldine Whitling of the Hotel Vendome, Boston, would contest the will. Mrs. Barnard left no children and her husband, Robert M. Barnard, died before she did. The Misses Danforth received $12,000 each in the will, but the other two cousins are not mentioned. The date of the hearing on the will is Oct. 13.

HON. RICHARD OLNEY

Tells in Strong Terms Why Taft Should Not Be Elected

He Says Favoritism is Shown to Some Trusts — Roosevelt's Attacks on the Judiciary Denounced — Ex-Secretary of State Cites Blow to Business — He Says Bryan's Methods Are Sane and Decent

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The World prints a letter which in part is as follows:

By Richard Olney,
Former Secretary of State.

Boston, Sept. 15.

To the Editor of the World:

Dear Sir:—I have your telegram of the 14th instant asking for my views on the desirability of supporting the democratic national candidate in the coming presidential election. The request strikes me as reasonable and I cheerfully comply with it.

The question is, ought the republican party be defeated in the pending presidential campaign? That is the issue now before the American people in comparison with which all others are insignificant.

The platforms of the two great parties need not be dismissed. It would hardly be necessary even if it were not almost entirely true, as an influential newspaper declares, that if they "were to be surreptitiously transposed nobody on either side would ever find it out."

No more need the personalities of the respective candidates be considered—although a desire to bring them to the front is indicated by a recent manifesto from Oyster Bay lauding to the skies the personal traits of Mr. Taft. Mr. Bryan's friends might easily and triumphantly retort in kind, since, with the exception of Henry Clay, no presidential candidate has had so enthusiastic and devoted a following.

But the truth is that each is simply the representative of his party. Each if elected will be the creature of his party, and each if elected will and must obey the behests of his party. In short, ours is a government by parties.

Anty Drudge on Teaching 'Rithmetic.

Teacher (in arithmetic class)—"Now, Mary, if your mother spent two hours boiling the clothes, three hours in rubbing them, and an hour to hang them out, how many hours would that be altogether?"

Little Mary—"Yes, but my mama doesn't boil the clothes. She washes them with Fels-Naptha in cool or lukewarm water, and she doesn't have to rub them hard, either."

Anty Drudge—"You'd better make the time shorter, Mistress Schoolteacher, when you give an addition question like that to a little girl whose mother knows the advantage of washing with Fels-Naptha."

Easy on the woman and easy on the clothes.

That's why progressive women are washing their clothes with Fels-Naptha in cool or lukewarm water, in summer or winter.

It's easy on the woman because it does away with fires for heating water, makes hard rubbing unnecessary and takes less than half the time of the old way of washing.

It's easy on the clothes because there is no boiling to make the clothes tender, and no hard rubbing to wear them into holes before their time.

Save yourself; save your clothes—use Fels-Naptha.

Costs little money for a big cake, and lasts longer than ordinary soaps.

In using it follow directions printed on the red and green wrapper.

American people but is an eleemosynary institution authorized to tax the American people and spend their money in the subjugation and benevolent assimilation of the Philippines or any other race or people in administration may select as the object of its charitable ministrations.

But the most important feature of the Roosevelt policy toward the judiciary remains to be noted. It does not merely call for judges who will support and carry out the political views and desires of the administration. That policy makes it a function of the national executive to publicly assail judges whose official action is such as to obstruct the executive and to inflame public sentiment against them by criticisms and aspersions which the people at large may naturally enough treat as weighty official utterances, but which in reality signify little more than their author's personal disrespect for the most sacred and valuable of American institutions.

Dictating a Successor

It is evident, further, that the defeat of the republican party in the coming national election may be properly welcomed in all quarters, as a decisive and deserved rebuke of the attempt of a national executive to dictate his successor. Men of all parties must resent such dictation. It must perceive its sinister and menacing character, and tendency and must realize that, were it to be recognized as legitimate and used as an habitual practice, what are free elections in name and should be in truth, would be nothing but a farce in fact.

It is unquestionable that the republican party's defeat next November would tend to check encroachments of the national government upon the rights and powers of the states. That such encroachments are going on, in some cases openly, in others insidiously—that the tendency toward them is most pronounced and is increasing and is favored by the most aggressive and influential of republican leaders—are facts which it is impossible to overlook or deny.

It is a distinguishing merit of the democratic party that it is and is sure to stand opposed to any infringement of the constitutional jurisdiction of the states. It would not enlarge that of the general government either through constitutional amendment or judicial stretching of the constitution by construction. Its attitude is of the greatest value, because the autonomy of the several states is absolutely essential to our existence as a nation. A central government at Washington vested with the powers of the states and charged with the domestic affairs of 50 or 100 millions of people would inevitably break in pieces from its own weight. No government made up of mortal men could possibly deal intelligently with the diverse conditions and interests of so large a population spread over an immense territory presenting all varieties of soil and climate and natural resources.

The fathers of the republic wisely deemed a union of American states essential to our becoming a strong and powerful nation, but were equally wise in believing local self-government by the several states indispensable to the perpetuity of that union. To the democratic party, by its antagonism to centralizing tendencies now rampant in the republican party, really stands for integrity and permanence of the union is of itself sufficient to justify every friend of the union in welcoming a democratic success in the pending national elections.

Mr. Olney classes the republican policy in regard to the Philippines as a huge blunder and says that the defeat of the republican party would be for the nation's good.

TRIUMPHAL TOUR

Bryan's New York Trip Marked by Series of Ovation

The Candidate Rouses New York Democrats in Issues of the Campaign—Overflow Meetings Were Held—Club of 3000 Members Organized in Quick Time

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 17.—A speech made last night by W. J. Bryan on "Mr. Taft and his record" and two overflow meetings, formed the climax of an eventful day. Arriving here shortly after 6 o'clock, democracy's leader was accorded an ovation. With him from Syracuse came the democratic nominee for governor of New York, Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler.

Among those at the station here to meet him were: National Chairman Mack William J. Conners, chairman of the democratic state committee, Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany chieftain and Daniel F. Cohalan. The principal speech last night was in convention hall where the democratic state convention finished its labors yesterday and which was packed to the doors. Mr. Bryan was accorded a great demonstration by his audience.

Bryan's Speech

Mr. Bryan said in part: "Mr. Taft confesses that his arguments are not convincing when he attempts to introduce a new party and to threaten the public with dire disaster if he is not elected. A threat is always an admission that argument and persuasion have not been effective. Measured by this test, Mr. Taft has already abandoned hope of convincing the public of the righteousness of his position.

"On the labor questions he declares that our demands for a trial by jury in cases of indirect contempt is the most insidious attack upon judicial system in the history of the country. According to Mr. Taft it would very much impair the administration of justice. He seems to forget that the very reform which we endorse was introduced by the U. S. senate 12 years ago, and that it was supported by such republicans as Senators Sherman of Ohio, Alcorn of Mississippi, and others. It is a reform of which we are proud.

"Mr. Taft may be willing to bring his indictment against the democratic party, but it will not satisfy the millions whose deposits make banking profitable.

"His theory is that a guarantee fund would invite carelessness, but it overlooks the fact that mutual responsibility on the part of the bank would compel a stricter supervision and a better regulation. The banking fraternity ought to resent the reflection he casts upon individual bankers, when he assumes that there would be enough dishonest bankers to ruin the honest ones.

The Trusts

"Mr. Taft says he regards the trusts as necessary to the nation's prosperity, for he declares that they play an important part in the maintenance of prosperity and he charges that I would 'extirpate and destroy the principle of monopoly.' If Mr. Roosevelt, with all his strenuousness, has not succeeded in imprisoning a single trust magnate, how can the complacent Mr. Taft hope to accomplish anything in the way of regulation?

"The democratic plan is to bring manufacturing and trading corporations under the surveillance of the general government when they reach a point where their control of business becomes a menace. The limit is fixed arbitrarily at 25 per cent, and it is needless to say that the limit is so high that an insignificant fraction of the corporations would be brought under the operation of the law.

"Mr. Taft denounces this as a socialistic interference with business, but I am sure that such a law will be welcomed by those who are acquainted with the conscienceless methods by which the trusts have exterminated their rivals and then plundered a helpless public.

Tariff Questions

"The fourth scare which Mr. Taft presents is excited by the democratic declarations on the tariff question. Speaking of our platform pledge to make such radical reductions as may be necessary to restore the tariff to a revenue basis, he declares in his notification speech that 'the introduction in power of a party with this avowed purpose cannot but halt the gradual recovery from our recent financial depression and produce business disaster, compared with which our recent panic and depression will seem very small indeed.'

"What is there in the democratic platform that can be construed as a threat to any legitimate business? Will it produce a panic to put on the free list articles that come in competition with articles controlled by the trusts? This reduction can be prevented by a dissolution of the trusts. Have we reached a point where the trusts are in position to say, 'Leave the tariff alone, or we will destroy the nation's prosperity'?

"Have the trusts the power to do this now? And must the people submit to indefinite extortion or risk of a panic? Democratic success will not bring a panic to any except to those who have their hands in other people's pockets, and these ought to be frightened.

A Triumphant Tour

Mr. Bryan's journey through the Empire state was a triumphal one, for everywhere immense crowds greeted him with cheering and the waving of flags and banners. At each place a speech was insisted on, and when he had gotten through for the day he had spoken seven times. He never lost an opportunity to say that he was here most important utterance on the way here from Weehawken, N. J., was at Kingston, where he advised the people not to allow the republican leaders to lead them away from the support of the democratic ticket by the threats of a panic. Mr. Taft, he characterized as President Roosevelt's "appointee," and of Mr. Roosevelt he declared that his endorsement of Mr. Taft "was the endorsement of a bankrupt against whom one could not collect."

He congratulated the people on what he said was the increasing trend of sentiment toward the democratic party throughout the country.

Utica, the home town of Representative James S. Sherman, the republican nominee for vice president, vied with the other places in the greeting to the democratic candidate. Hundreds were at the station when the train pulled in and the crowd immediately demanded a speech. Mr. Bryan said he recognized that there lived in Utica one of the candidates of the opposition and yet he supposed there would be a few democrats there in spite of the fact.

"Just as I will at the present time with a few republicans in Lincoln, in spite of the fact that I live there, for," he said, "while each man has his circle of friends, still elections go more on the principles involved than upon the personal charms or characteristics of the candidates."

Chanler Arrives

The passage of the train through Washington street in Syracuse, a distance of over a mile, was a memorable one. Bryan and Kern pictures were displayed on every tree and in many windows, cannon boomed and a surging mass of humanity followed the car until it stopped. Mr. Chanler, who was in an automobile was wedged in by the crowd, but seeing him Mr. Bryan and several others reached out and lifted him on to the train. Mr. Bryan gracefully put the gubernatorial nomination to the front and announced that he wanted to have "the honor and the pleasure of introducing to you the next governor of the state of New York."

Mr. Chanler bowed to the throng, amid great applause, and then Mr. Bryan paid a glowing tribute to Mr. Chanler, saying he was glad to meet him "so soon after this deserving honor has been bestowed upon him by the democratic state convention of New York." He expressed the feeling that Mr. Chanler's record as lieutenant-governor, "his high character and his unselfish devotion to the public service, will not only insure him a majority of the votes of this state, but that in carrying the state for the democratic ticket, he will help to carry it for the national ticket."

Sent to Jail for Fast Driving at Revere Beach

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—That liquor is mighty bad stuff for chauffeurs was shown by the facts in the case of Benjamin J. Smith, aged 35, driver for Norman Prince, son of F. H. Prince, the Boston banker, who was before Judge Cutler in the Chelsea police court yesterday, charged with drunkenness and with operating an automobile on Revere beach parkway while intoxicated Tuesday evening.

Lieut. Hawkins of the park police testified that Smith took a 1900 machine from a Boston garage, and that perhaps an automobile before was so badly smashed as when Smith ran this one into a stone wall. The crash was terrific and Smith was thrown 25 feet, though he was not hurt.

Invited by the court to say something for himself, Smith rejoined that he was not up for manslaughter. He further said that this was the first trouble he had been in; also, that his father for years was coachman for Congressman A. F. Gardner. Officer Gillard testified that he found the speed lever set at between 40 and 50 miles an hour.

Smith pleaded guilty to both charges, and the court imposed a fine of $5 on that of drunkenness and sentenced him to three months in the house of correction on the charge of operating an automobile while in that condition. Notwithstanding he had pleaded guilty, Smith appealed from the sentences.

FLIGHT IN BALLOON

Aids Astronomer Says Prof. Pickering Who Accompanied Glidden

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—Similar phenomena are observed in viewing bodies of water from a balloon at an altitude of 3700 feet and in viewing the supposed water on the planet Mars through a telescope, according to the experiments made by Prof. W. H. Pickering of the astronomical observatory of Harvard college during a recent aerial trip with Charles J. Glidden from Pittsburg to Winchendon.

Photographs of the planet show both light and dark spots when taken from varying angles, and Prof. Pickering noted that in looking down at bodies of water from a great height they appeared light when viewed at an angle and dark when viewed directly beneath.

"I have been up before in a captive balloon," said Prof. Pickering, "but this is the first ascent I ever made in a free balloon. The experience was a delightful one, and I should like to have more of it."

made by me of the surface of Mars with a telescope. We reached a height of 3700 feet, and I occupied myself with looking down and noting how the land and water looked. I found that when looking off at the water at a considerable angle it appeared brighter than the land; but when the water was viewed right beneath it appeared darker than the land. This was anticipated. In the case of Mars, we find that when we are viewing water which is near the edge of the planet's limb it appears quite light; we find water darker in appearance when it is nearer the center of the disc. I took half a dozen photographs during the trip."

Mr. Glidden states that when the balloon started, Robert I. Wallace, Mrs. Herbert I. Wallace and Miss Florence Lyman, daughter of a Boston banker, followed the voyagers in an automobile and reached the landing spot three minutes after the car had touched ground. To the best of Mr. Glidden's knowledge this establishes a world's record for the pursuit of balloon by automobile.

NASHUA RACES

Asa Wilkes Made the Fastest Time

NASHUA, N. H., Sept. 17.—Two races that were unfinished Tuesday were completed at the fair grounds yesterday, but yesterday's two races were carried over until today with four heats each. A great deal of interest was taken in the unfinished 215 pace, in which Tuesday's three heat winners started yesterday.

Asa Wilkes walked away with the heat which decided the race, and made the fastest time of the six heats.

Sicilian King was picked by many as the winner of the 220 pace, but he barely finished inside the money. The prospects of the 221 trot carried over to today are about even between Kopal and Maud S. Each has two heats. May Wax divided heats with The Prince in the 215 pace, the latter stepping the two fastest miles. The summary:

WRESTLING NEWS

Great interest is manifest in tomorrow's great battle on the mat at Associated hall, between Young Prokos, the all-conquering Greek welterweight, and War Eagle, the Indian brave who is showing the best of them that the red men can go some if they are few in numbers. War Eagle in blanket and war paint and feathers has arrived in town, and is in fine shape. He looks as if he might give Prokos a good battle. In order that the match may go to a finish, it has been arranged to allow the bout to go after midnight, if necessary. The men will weigh in tomorrow night at the Y. M. C. A. gym. They will decide this evening upon a referee, and will choose between Jim Gilligan of Lawrence and George V. Touhey of Boston, both of whom are competent men. Prokos is training faithfully for the match, as it is his desire to win a decisive victory over the Indian, in which event a number of important matches in the west await him. Two red hot preliminaries will precede the bout.

The Nashua team started off with a slam and in the first string failed to reach the five century mark by just one pin. In the second string the Lowell team got a brace on, but it was not sufficient to offset the difference of scores in the first and third strings. Travers of the Nashua team was high man. The score:

QUINBY IN LEAD

N. H. Republicans Failed to Name Candidate on 1st. Ballot

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 17.—Concord became today the seat of one of the hardest fought and one of the most exciting battles ever waged in the history of New Hampshire politics when the republican state convention met here today to nominate a candidate for governor and four presidential electors. With three candidates seeking the gubernatorial nomination and each claiming a victory before the convention began the result was impossible to forecast with any degree of accuracy, especially as no test of strength was in prospect before the first ballot should be taken.

Mr. John O. Heinze, promoter of the big auto race so successfully pulled off on Labor Day, says that the venture cost him $3000. Mr. Heinze made the statement to a representative of The Sun yesterday, and when asked what he intended to do about it, Mr. Heinze said: "I presume there is nothing for me to do but to meet all claims and pay all bills. Why not resort to public subscription?" suggested the reporter. "We tried that before the race and succeeded in raising the magnificent sum of $1000."

6 O'CLOCK

ONCE WAS WEALTHY

Woman Says She Cannot Pay a Debt of $50

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The bank account of Mrs. Emily Berthel, sister of Police Inspector Cortright, has been attached. She has been summoned twice in supplementary proceedings and a motion has been made to have her cited for contempt—all in an effort to satisfy a judgment against her for $50.01.

Mrs. Berthel's inability or unwillingness to pay the judgment is said to be due to her reported losses in Wall street, which are estimated at $100,000 since the death of her husband two years ago. Inspector Cortright is worth from $300,000 to $500,000, but he has not come to the aid of his sister. He declared last night that he knew nothing whatever of her affairs.

The judgment against Mrs. Berthel was obtained by Lawyer Walter Godfrey, of No. 40 Wall street, for Isaac Becker, a painter.

Upon the death of Mrs. Berthel's husband she received several flat houses in One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street, besides a considerable lot of furniture. Berthel was a widow and had several grown children. Since his death Mrs. Berthel has not lived with them. She had been living alone at No. 120 West One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street.

Mrs. Berthel employed Becker to paint her flats. His bill amounted to about $50. All but $10 of this she paid. The judgment is for the balance and the added interest.

Mrs. Berthel is alleged to have begun to speculate and to have lost a large amount of money at the beginning of her operations. She mortgaged her flats for $140,000 and, it is said, continued her speculation. Then she was persuaded by her family to turn over her flats to her niece.

Becker demanded settlement of his account, and on Mrs. Berthel's refusal to pay a judgment was obtained against her. Then she was summoned in supplementary proceedings by Mr. Godfrey and failed to appear. It was for this that he moved to have her cited for contempt in the supreme court. Decision on his motion has been reserved.

A short time ago Mr. Godfrey learned that Mrs. Berthel had a small balance in the Corn Exchange Bank. This was attached and she was again summoned in supplementary proceedings yesterday, after many unsuccessful attempts to serve the summons on her. Mrs. Berthel, according to Godfrey, told him that all she had, outside of her personal belongings, was some jewelry and that had been lent to her by friends.

An effort was made last night to see Mrs. Berthel at the One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street address. The woman who came to the door of her apartment denied that she was Mrs. Berthel. The man who was identified by the hall boy of the house as being no one occupying the apartment with Mrs. Berthel.

PRES. GOMPERS BABY GIRL WAIF

Testifies in the Contempt Case

May Be Turned Over to State Board

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The taking of testimony in the Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison contempt case by the Bucks Stove Co. and the anti-boy-cott proceedings against those officers of the American Federation of Labor was resumed by Examiner Harper today with President Gompers on the stand. Mr. Davenport again was interrogator for the prosecution and he sought to develop the facts concerning the circulation of the January issue of the Federationist, the official publication of the organization which number Mr. Gompers has stated was expedited in order that it might be gotten out before the injunction should become operative.

Mr. Gompers said that when he gave orders for the expedition of the mailing of the edition he had not been made aware that the injunction would be made operative, but on the contrary he had considered possible that the stove company would rest satisfied after obtaining Justice Gould's opinion and would not further prosecute the matter. He said that after the injunction went into effect he had not done anything to head off the copies that had been placed in the mails or sold to the news companies.

Mr. Davenport asked Mr. Gompers to state his purpose in sending out the January issue after the injunction was granted.

"What was the occasion for the hurry?" he asked.

"I wanted to get the issue out before the injunction decree became operative," "Why?"

"I wanted to get the issue out, so that we could continue the 'We don't patronize list without interruption.'"

"Did you mean that you wanted to avoid the injunction of the court?"

"The answer includes all," said Mr. Gompers. "There was danger of interruption by the Bucks company."

CLEVER DEVICE

FOR OPENING HANDCUFFS FOUND ON PRISONER

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—When "Humpty" Williams, the safe-breaker, and his comrades, Richard Vaughn, and Martin Tiffany, were removed from their cells in the Newark jail yesterday to serve their fourteen-year sentence at Trenton they were searched, and in one of "Humpty's" pockets was found a clever device for opening handcuffs. It was a piece of flat wire, sharpened on both ends, and doubled so that the two points could be inserted in the key hole of the cuffs.

The constables experimented with the wire and opened the handcuffs easily. The wire had been taken from the top of a condensed milk can, and it is believed, was secured through some one at the jail.

"Humpty" denied that he intended to escape, but the constables were instructed to watch him closely.

THE RIVALS MET

Chanler and Hughes At The Syracuse Fair

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 17.—Gov. Charles Hughes and Lieut.-Gov. Lewis S. Chanler meeting here today at the state fair on the common ground of rivalry. Chanler, who is the state's chief executive, and Hughes, who is the state's second highest official, met at the fair grounds, where they were both present for the opening of the fair. The two gubernatorial candidates were most cordial in their greetings and neither at any time let politics enter into the local celebration. The tribute of cheers to the rival candidates when they appeared upon the platform within the fair enclosure where the new manufacturers and liberal arts building was probably far more personal than political in its nature.

It was the duty of Lieut.-Gov. Chanler as ex-officio chairman of the fair committee, to act as host, while the chief executive of the state was the guest of honor in the observation of Governor's day. Mr. Chanler introduced the members of the state fair commission. The Lieut.-Gov. afterward expressed his thanks to the governor.

SHOT SWEETHEART

Eastport Man Then Blew Out His Own Brains

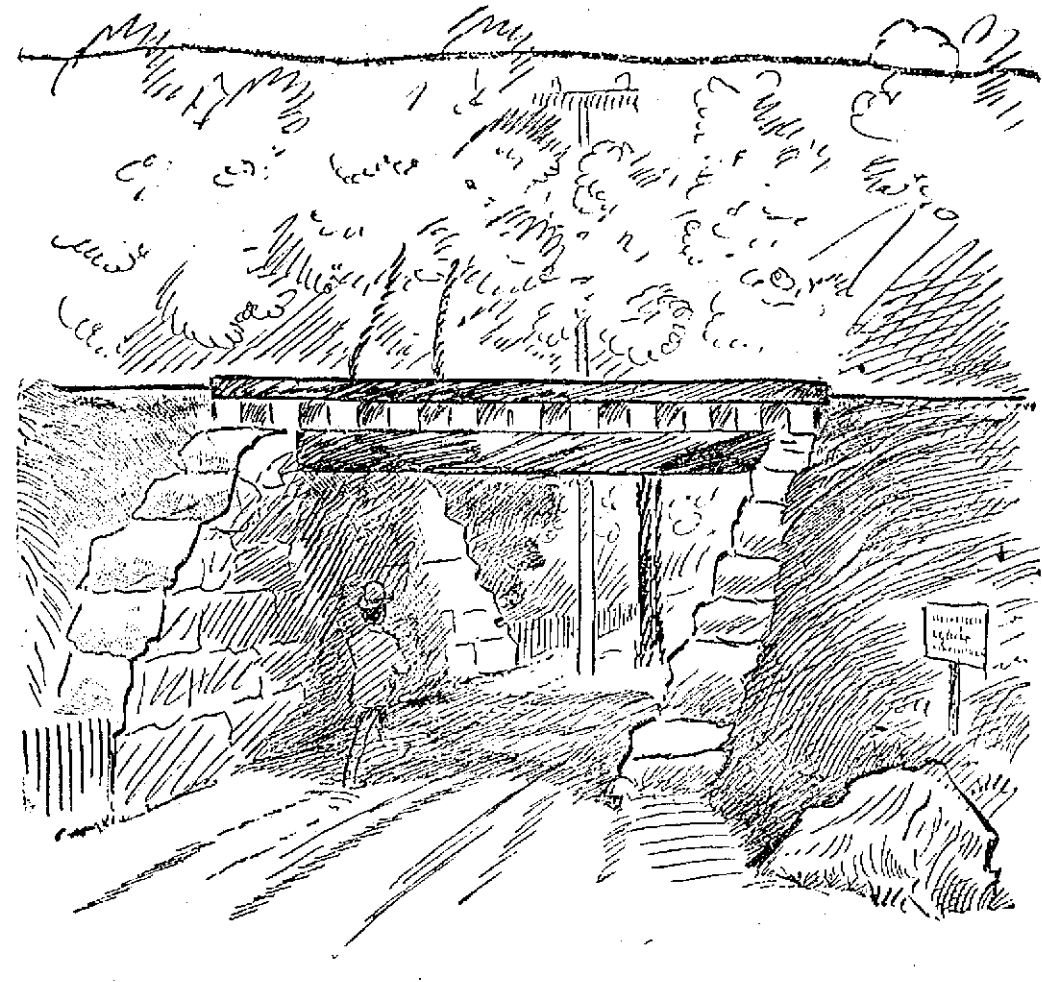

EASTPORT, Me., Sept. 17.—After viewing the bodies of the victims of yesterday's murder and suicide of two lovers, Coroner Chandler of Addison decided an inquest was unnecessary. He found that the evidence pointed conclusively to the fact that George Mitchell shot his sweetheart, Miss Georgia Pratt, then blew out his own brains. The shots were fired at the girl, the first missing her and lodging in the sofa pillow, the second entering her left temple and passing completely through the skull. Mitchell's body fell, his head resting on the shoulder of the girl. Miss Pratt's left hand was blackened by burnt powder as though she had tried to shield her face while a partly eaten apple grasped in her right hand indicated the attack was unexpected.

FIRE IN ASYLUM

Caused a Property Loss Estimated at $15,000

AMITYVILLE, L. I., Sept. 17.—The main building of the Long Island Home, an institution for the treatment of the insane, was partly destroyed by fire yesterday at a loss estimated at $15,000 to $20,000. There were thirty inmates in the place when the fire began and for a time it was a great deal of hustling to get all of them to safety. The women were all taken to the Branchville Home nearby and the men were hurried to a cottage near the institution. Many of them fought against their removal and the sixty employees in the place were kept busy for a while getting out the patients out of the burning building.

THE BILLERICA STREET BRIDGE

Those who visited the Billerica street bridge with the county commissioners a few days ago are confident that the commission was satisfied that the bridge should be raised and the street widened as proposed by the city.

All the county commissioners will do is to adjudicate on the question of public convenience and necessity demanding the change and having adjudicated the matter will then go to the courts and a special commission will be appointed, and the special commission will determine what shall be done and who shall bear the expense.

Lawyer Foster, representing the Boston & Maine railroad at the hearing given by the county commissioners at the court house a few days ago, that in the event of the railroad grade having to be changed the county commissioners would have no voice in the matter.

City Solicitor Hill agrees that is so, but he does contend that the special committee appointed by the court and not the railroad commissioners would have the say as to how the expense of the undertaking shall be divided between the city and the railroad company.

A railroad's part of the expense in grade crossing changes is sixty-five per cent. The track on the Billerica street bridge is not the main line, but a spur track that is used by the company for its own convenience in getting, at times, from one track to another.

The Final Hearing

A grade crossing hearing having to do with the School, Walker and Lincoln street crossings will be held at the state house, room 24, Monday morning, Sept. 21. This will be the final hearing on these crossings and will be given by the special committee appointed by the court. It is expected that the committee will report at an early date and that the railroad will be in readiness to begin operations on the crossings in the early spring. The greatest delay will be in the development of working plans and the railroad company will have all winter in which to prepare the plans.

AN ARREST MADE JUDGE HADLEY FELL FROM TRAIN

Man Charged With Killing Capt. Moriarty

Regretted Disgrace to Name of Bard

Unknown Man Crushed to Death

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Sept. 17.

Edward Leonard Osterholm, a German, 31 years old, was arrested here yesterday by the police, charged with homicide in causing the death of Captain Daniel Moriarty, commanding officer of the quarantine steamer State of New York.

The captain was killed on September 5 at the corner of Ogden avenue and One Hundred and Sixty-fourth street, in the Bronx, New York City, only half a block from his home.

Osterholm came here and secured employment as a mechanic. He wrote a letter to his sister in New York telling of his prosperity and advising her to move her family here. The letter was intercepted in New York.

John A. Schenck and Albert Wise, of the Bronx detective bureau, came here today, accompanied by Thomas Sullivan, a patrolman of New York, who identified Osterholm. He was taken to New York last night.

Captain Daniel Moriarty, who was forty-six years old and probably known to more steamship men and boatmen than any man in New York, was killed within half a block of his home on the night of September 4. He had gone to a neighboring saloon and met some men there. He left early, saying he was going right home.

According to Mrs. Moriarty, she was sitting at a window, waiting for her husband, when she heard loud talk in the street and distinguished her husband's voice. Learning out, she saw dim shadows as if in battle, and a little later her husband staggered up the stairs, bleeding. She asked him what the trouble was, and he said, "Nothing." Then he collapsed and died eight hours later of a hemorrhage of the brain, caused by a blow.

Mrs. Moriarty's theory was that her husband, who had told her he was going to attend a political meeting, was struck by persons whose enmity he might have incurred because of the fact that he was an ardent republican. Some of his neighbors still share that belief.

MAINE RETURNS

SHOW THAT FERNALD'S PLURALITY WAS 7876

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 17.—In return of the vote for governor the last town to be heard from was Sebec today. This increased Fernald's plurality to 7876, an official return, which was 75 less than Gov. Cobb received on his re-election two years ago and 1829 less than he was given on his first election in 1904. The unofficial returns of Monday's election gave Fernald 13,041 and Gardner 5,165. The total vote of the four parties for governor was about 115,000. The total two years ago was 124,411 and in 1904 it was 124,411. The school and prohibition votes this year for governor were about 530 and 28, respectively, both parties again losing their place on the official ballot.

A FINAL DECREE

Was Granted to Helen Maloney Today

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Miss Helen Maloney, daughter of Martin Maloney of Philadelphia, was today granted a final decree annulling her marriage to Arthur Herbert Osborne of this city. This leaves Miss Maloney free to wed Samuel R. King of New York, a man who was kept in the hands of the police for some time.

YOUNG MAN IN ON SERIOUS CHARGE

And Held in $1,000 Until Monday—Peter Contos Charged With Larceny of Jewelry.

The police court session was very short this morning owing to the small number of offenders together with the continuance of a few cases.

The first man called was Robert Burns, who pleaded guilty to being drunk. Before passing sentence the court said "It is a shame to disgrace the name of the Scottish bard and that caused one of the members of the legal profession within the enclosure to remark 'A man's a man for a' that.' 'Bobbie' was fined $2.

Concealed Jewelry

Peter Contos was arraigned on a complaint charging him with fraudulently concealing one pocket watch valued at $4, a chain valued at $1 and a ring valued at $3, all the property of the Bentley Jewelry Co. The case was continued for one week.

John A. Anderson was charged with threatening Anna M. Anderson on June 22, 1907. He was not ready for trial and was held under $300 bonds for appearance in court tomorrow morning.

For Felonious Assault

George Kimlakas, who gave his age as 18 years, was arrested last night by Patrolmen Mink and Cossette on complaint of Ellen Magrill, aged 13 years. He was charged in court this morning on a charge of felonious assault. By agreement of counsel the case was continued till Monday morning, bail of $1,000 being called for as surety.

MOTHER'S STORY

Rivals the Wildest Tales of Fiction

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Sept. 17.

That her 20-year-old son, Charles, was chained in a dark room, beaten like a wild beast and taken out to a field and tied to a tree, is the substance of the testimony of Mrs. Moses Brown of Rye, N. H., when she appeared before the police court here at the arraignment of her husband, who was held on a charge of assault in $100 bonds, which he furnished.

Mrs. Brown's story rivals the wildest tales of fiction. She testified that her son was insane at times and it was for this reason that her husband took such drastic measures to keep him inside the house.

Dep. Sheriff Nelson of Candia, who made the arrest last night, testified that the man was fastened by chains which were wound around his wrists to the floor of a dark room and that his ankles were tied to the floor by four cords. He was asked when (and, the sheriff said, Mr. Nelson also stated that there were sores about his wrists and ankles and bruises about his body where he had been whipped.

The father claims that the whole case is the result of a family feud and that he is bearing the brunt of it all.

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 17.—With his face crushed in and one arm crushed to the elbow, an unknown man was found dead on the tracks of the New Haven road near Huntington avenue this morning. The victim was fairly well dressed but nothing was found upon his person by which he might be identified. He was about 45 years of age. It is believed by the police that he fell from a train and was crushed to death beneath it.

DINNER FAVORS

Said to Have Cost Singer $16,000,000

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 17.—William H. Singer, the steel magnate, at a dinner that marked his golden wedding anniversary, distributed "favors" worth $100,000 each. There were four guests at this dinner, so the "favors" were worth $16,000,000 in the aggregate.

The dinner took place at the Singer home in Allegheny on May 27 last, the magnitude of the gifts at this family party would still be a secret were it not for the filing of papers at the court house yesterday.

The fact is that the gifts were partly in cash and partly stocks and bonds. The registering of the bonds gave a clue to the secret of Mr. Singer's generosity. Connected with this dinner, too, is the story of Elsie H. Singer, Jr., the noted landscape painter. These threats led him to flee immediately after the wedding celebration with his wife and family to Norway. There, it is said, he will enjoy his father's $100,000 gift in peace.

Beside William Henry Singer, Jr., the quartet of fortunate guests included Miss Margarette Singer and Mrs. William Ross Proctor of Philadelphia, daughters of the steel man, and his second son, George Singer, also a steel manufacturer, who is now on a vacation in the White Mountains.

The gifts at dinner were placed in envelopes beside each plate, and they were afterward looked for the night in the family safe.

Mr. Singer, besides being interested in steel manufacture, is also a very realty holder, in which he has made many millions. He was for years a director in the United States Steel Corporation. He entered it as a member of the steel corporation of Singer, Nimick & Co., which was absorbed by the United States Steel Corporation when the latter was formed. He also was a close friend of the late Charles Leckhart, the Standard Oil magnate, who at a dinner party, placed the sum of $100,000 under the plates of each of his children.

JUDGE DUNNE

WAS TURNED DOWN BY CALIFORNIA REPUBLICANS

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—The local republican convention last night failed to nominate Superior Judge Dunne before whom the greater part of the proceedings in the bribery graft cases have been held. Dunne's opponent was Judge Charles Cook, also of the superior bench who was defeated for a place on the appellate court two years ago.

PRES. ROOSEVELT REPORT DENIED

Tenders a Reception to His Neighbors

That 3000 Chinese Died From Cholera

OYSTER BAY, Sept. 17.—A procession of vehicles and pedestrians winding amid clouds of dust over the road from Oyster Bay to the president's home at Sagamore hill today constituted a veritable pilgrimage of the residents of Oyster Bay, everyone of whom was invited to attend the farewell reception which President Roosevelt tendered to them this afternoon before his departure for Washington and the end of his term as president. Cave road, leading to the president's house, was choked with vehicles of all descriptions and with persons on foot, attired in their best and plodding through the dust, proud of the opportunity to pay the president a farewell tribute while he was still president.

The reception was limited to the people of Oyster Bay. So busy has he been during his vacation that he has had little opportunity to meet them and as he departs for Washington on Tuesday next to take up his duties there he would have no other opportunity to bid them farewell.

Forty members of the German Sackenberg of Hicksville, L. I., sang at intervals during the reception. Everyone of the president's guests passed in line before him and Mrs. Roosevelt and with each the president shook hands and passed a few words of greeting and farewell.

These men desired to "induce sacrificial contributions to the ghosts of departed ancestors and on August 16 they started the report that four devils had been seen in the city. One of these devils cursed the people of the city for their laziness in observing the "ghost sacrifices" during the seventh month, saying that in punishment death would be sent to the people of Amoy and that their bodies would rot unburied in the streets. The next day there were 87 deaths in the city and while this was only a slight increase from the normal it threw the people into a state of alarm. They recalled the threat of the angry devil and estimated that with a continued proportionate rate of increase the total of deaths for the seventh month would easily exceed three thousand.

SEEKS DIVORCE

Artist's Wife Names Society Girl

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Florian Peixotto, the mural decorator and historical painter, has been made defendant in a suit for absolute divorce in which Miss Ethel Dorothy Patton, a wealthy young woman of social prominence, is mentioned with Gertrude H. Bergen, an actress.

According to the complaint of Mrs. Peixotto, who is the daughter of a wealthy Cincinnati architect, there are other women involved whose names she does not know. But on Miss Patton she places the principal blame.

Alleged visits made by Miss Patton to the studios of the artist at No. 17 East Fifty-ninth street and No. 23 West Forty street during 1905, 1907 and 1908 are mentioned. The meetings between Peixotto and the Bergen girl are placed in September, 1901, at the Hotel Planchet in Seabright.

The parties to this divorce suit have agreed on one thing, and that is secrecy. The case was filed last July, but became public only when it was referred yesterday to Referee Daniel F. Cahalan by Justice Gerard of the supreme court.

The discovery of a score of ardent love letters, it is admitted, was the lever which brought a mutual agreement for a private hearing, without collusion.

Yesterday Attorney Stuart G. Gibbons, for the wife, said he did not expect to introduce the love letters or to cause Mrs. Peixotto to testify "as even the attorney has practically been fixed."

The couple have a son aged seven years, now living with the mother.

Mr. Peixotto is noted much of the time for his work on the foundation of the St. Louis World's Fair buildings. He designed the interior wall decorations for the New York building. One of his best known historical paintings was the portrayal of Gen. Anthony Wayne's Indian fight, for the new court house in Fort Wayne, Ind.

THOMAS SHERMAN

Drawn to Play Against Travis in Today's Contest.

GARDEN CITY, L. I., Sept. 17.—With the big field of contestants which started in the annual golf championship ship narrowed down until only eight men survive, the play today had resolved itself into a struggle between the masters of the sport. Particular interest was given to the contests of today because of the fact that Thomas Sherman, of Union town, N. Y., who is a candidate for the vice presidency, was drawn against the veteran and former champion, Walter J. Travis, in addition to Travis and Sherman, the players today were Jerome D. Travers of Montclair, N. J., who met W. C. C. Jones, Jr., of Pittsburgh; Max H. Behr of Middletown, N. Y., who played with Thomas H. Clavin of Weston, Mass., and Eben M. Byers of Pittsburg, who had Fred Herreshoff of Manchester, Vt. as an opponent.

MANY ACCIDENTS

Caused by a Dense Fog in the City of Chicago

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—Dense fog covering Chicago and its environs handicapped the principal companies today and was responsible for a number of accidents. An elevated train on the Oak Park line, injuring several passengers.

AMOY, China, Sept. 17.—The reports emanating from Shanghai and published in the United States that there had been three thousand deaths from cholera here during August; that the supply of coffins had become exhausted and that many bodies were lying unburied in the streets are grossly exaggerated, according to statements to an Associated Press representative by J. H. Arnold, the American consul, and C. V. Boyer, Imperial American customs commissioner. The statement published in the United States that there had been three thousand deaths here in August and its origin in a local story started by Chinese interested in ways of getting cash from their credulous countrymen.

DEAF MUTE SUIT

Husband Asks Divorce From Wife

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Was it pigs' feet boiled with the toes and bristles on or was it another woman in the case that broke up the home of James W. Nash, of Newark? This is a question which Vice-Chancellor Stevens will have to decide.

Mr. and Mrs. Nash, who are deaf mutes, told their tales of woe to the vice chancellor in Newark yesterday at the trial of a suit for divorce brought by Nash on the ground of desertion.

When the case was called the courtroom was filled with deaf mutes, who during the taking of testimony kept their samples going constantly, exchanging samples of sign language. The shouting of the sign language about while they were excited caused an interruption, and the court ordered the mute conversation stopped.

Nash on the stand said that one day he bought some pigs' feet, and before he could work told his wife to scald them and remove the bristles, and also to remove the toes before boiling them. When he returned for dinner, he testified that the pigs' feet were ready, but they had been boiled with the bristles and toes on. This made him very angry, and a wordy war, by signs, followed. The next day his wife left him, he says.

Nash also testified that his wife had a hot temper, and the way she berated him on her fingers was something awful. While he was telling by sign, through an interpreter, of some of the things she had said to him she jumped up and rushed toward him, with her fingers flying in a minute, declared that it was not so.

James W. Nash, the fifteen-year-old son of the couple, testified that his mother had left home while his father was at work and that she refused to come back. When asked if he loved his mother he answered "No."

Mrs. Nash testified that her husband was cruel to her, although he didn't strike her, and that she was forced to leave him finally because of another woman.

AGED WATCHMAN

Was Found Dead in a Pit

NEW YORK, September 17.—In a pit under the new building of the American Safe Deposit company, at Fifth avenue and Fifty-second street, the body of Florence Sullivan, a seventy-two-year-old night watchman, was found yesterday morning with two bad wounds in the forehead, and the face and hands crushed. The police believe he was murdered, though they have no clue to his supposed assailant.

Sullivan was last seen alive shortly before midnight by a policeman. He was sitting in a chair near the foundation pit smoking his pipe. He had a stick, improvised from an umbrella, stick. At 8 o'clock yesterday morning, James Fearo, a fellow workman, saw the came lying near the chair, broken in three pieces.

Looking further, he found the old man's body in the pit. An ambulance surgeon said he had been dead for hours.

One of the workmen remembered that several days ago a man threatened Sullivan because he refused to give him money for a drink. Another theory was that burglars might have killed him in an attempt to break into the Safe Deposit company.

MISSING GIRL

WAS SEEN IN AUTOMOBILE WITH YOUNG MAN

NORTHAMPTON, Sept. 17.—A report reached here today from Charles Fall, a former hired man on the Hill, that he had seen a missing girl, who was riding along the streets of Holyoke in an automobile in company with a young man. The report caused considerable excitement and an investigation was started at once.

According to the information that Fall gave out over the telephone he is positive that he saw the girl in Holyoke this morning. He said he worked on the farm for several months and knew the girl very well. The search has been given up temporarily.

CHAIRMAN HITCHCOCK

Has Arranged Details of Taft's Western Trip

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Chairman Hitchcock of the republican national committee and R. B. Cushman, director of the Literary Bureau, returned to New York today from a two days' visit to the western republican headquarters in Chicago. Mr. Hitchcock stopped at Cincinnati and arranged with Mr. Taft the details of the western speaking trip to be made by the republican candidate. State Chairman Williams of Ohio met Mr. Hitchcock at Columbus and they discussed many details connected with the Ohio campaign. At the New York headquarters today Mr. Hitchcock and Cushman met by telegram executive committee members of the Maryland republican leaders. The party included William F. Jackson, national committeeman; Thomas Parran, state chairman and Irving Dickey, secretary of the state committee. They expressed the opinion that they can carry Maryland for Taft.

YOUNG BURGLARS AN UNKNOWN MAN

Made a Break in a House in Probably Concerned in Death of Centralville Last Night Young Woman

Two young burglars who evidently have received instruction from an artful master or else learned the skillful work from reading dime novels, were arrested by the police yesterday afternoon and booked for breaking and entering and larceny. They gave their names as William Millette, aged 17 years, and Henry Clark, aged 15 years, and acknowledged that they had burglarized the residence of Eugene Dufresne in Bridge street.

The police were notified of the break yesterday afternoon and Inspector Walsh was detailed to look into the matter. An investigation of the premises showed that someone had cut out a portion of the panel in the kitchen door in the absence of the family, and after gaining an entrance ransacked the house.

The family reported nothing missing at the time, but it later developed that some clothing had been taken. The ice chest had been opened and the key taken also, as well as some catches which happened to be in it at the time.

There were no clues about the premises to indicate who the burglars might be but after a searching inquiry the Inspector, in company with Patrolmen Peter Corcoran and Michael Lennon, came across young Clark. The latter didn't seem to give a satisfactory account of himself for the afternoon and when searched the ice chest key was found in one of his pockets. He was taken to headquarters and at first denied having anything to do with the break, but finally broke down and confessed that he and Millette were the guilty ones.

The inspector then made a search for the other party and succeeded in locating him in Bridge street. When arrested Millette said that Clark was to blame. When the contents of his pocket were looked over, however, it was decided that he was also guilty. Millette had on his person a money belt, a bunch of keys, and also a candle, all of which were looked upon with suspicion.

William Millette was arraigned in court this morning and charged with the larceny of four eggs valued at three cents each. The government was not ready to conduct the trial and the case was continued till tomorrow morning, Millette being held under $100 bonds.

Mr. William F. McAlone of 13 Myrtle street, the well known pianist with Kitzinger's orchestra, has resumed teaching.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—In their effort to learn the identity of the well dressed young woman whose body was found floating off North beach yesterday the police have concluded that an unknown man was in some way concerned in the death. In examining the beach they found footprints of a man and a woman leading to the water's edge. Only the man's footprints returning could be found. Today the police learned that a young woman answering the description of the dead girl boarded a car near the Long Island City ferry early yesterday morning. She was accompanied by a man who remained with her until the car had traveled a considerable distance. As he was leaving the man said to the conductor:

"Take good care of this little girl. She is my sister."
The young woman left the car at a point near where the body was found in the sand. The body lies today unknown and unclaimed in the morgue in Long Island City. Beyond the gold locket bearing the initial "K," a purse upon which is inscribed the address, "Provincetown, Mass.," and the trademark of a New York department store on the girl's coat, nothing has been found which will assist in the identification. The purse is of the souvenir variety and there are possibly many hundreds exactly like it in the possession of vacationists who have visited the Massachusetts resort. It is only upon the locket that the police now are basing their hopes. They believe that some one who has seen the trinket may have known the young woman.

TREE CUT DOWN
Move to Improve Monument Square

The park commission hoped that in the work of improving Monument square it would be possible to spare the big maple tree that sheltered the monument and added to the beauty of the square, but alas and alack it was impossible to save the tree. The great roots crossed the line of the trench wall and in order to dig the trench in which will be laid the foundation for the curbing it was necessary to amputate the roots and stumps of them the tree of course would die, so in order to spare the beautiful maple the agony of a lingering death the woodman was summoned and he felled the mighty maple whose branches held the vacant nest of the song bird.

The tree was cut down this forenoon and the leaves and branches were carted away. Park Commissioner Hall was there and deplored the loss of the tree, but it was unavoidable.

The cannons, too, that guarded the grave where the heroes sleep, will be missed from the square. They have gone, never to return to their vigil at the Tappan and Whitney monument. The two cannons are now at the city stable and will, it was stated today, be taken in charge by the G. A. R.

The work of improving Monument square is going along slowly but surely. The trench for the wall is nearly done, and the stone for the wall is being carted to the square today. The trench is about 20 feet long and deep enough to reach quite a few feet beyond the frost line.

It was little wonder that grass would not grow in Monument square. The digging of the trench revealed the reason why, and it didn't require much digging to discover the reason. Less than five inches beneath the surface the diggers found little but bricks and chinders. These would not hold the moisture, and this being the fact there was nothing to give life to the grass. This, however, will be remedied, and when the job has been completed the grass will grow as green in Monument square as on the lawns at city hall.

"PAT" DOLAN DEAD
Old Time Horseman Passed Away

Patrick Dolan, known to the followers of the race track from Atlantic to Pacific as "Little Pat" and "Little Dolan," died yesterday at the age of 55 years, after a mental and physical illness of about a year's duration.

The remains were removed to the undertaking establishment of T. J. McDermott, from which place the funeral will take place tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock with funeral services in St. Peter's church at 10 o'clock.

Patrick Dolan's life related in detail would read like a romance. Starting out as a poor boy he twice could place his name to a check in the tens of thousands and then descended from the excitement of the race track and a life of luxurious ease to the hard day's work of the sewer laborer, carrying his cold dinner and working hard without a word of complaint. In his latter days some friends "staked" him once more and he went forth for the third time to the grand circuit, but at the close of the season, while returning home with a well filled pocket he was struck down by robbers and relieved of his last dollar while he never fully recovered from the effects of the blow on his head and some time later showed signs of mental disorder from which he never recovered.

The deceased was known and beloved for his honesty, amiability and his kindness and generosity. No beggar, whether his tale be true or not, ever asked in vain of "Pat" Dolan when he had it, and he would divide his last dollar with a friend worse off than himself. He was a great raconteur, had a fund of most interesting reminiscences of the old race track days when money flowed like water, and many times and oft when surrounded by his fellow-workmen on a sewer job, after discussing his fragrant lunch from the dinner rail during noon hour, he has related them with stories of the halcyon days of Pullman, car traveling and an army of colored waiters to command, ever winding up with the philosophical conclusion: "Sure, we're better off as we are, and we'll live longer this way." The deceased was unmarried and leaves no relatives.

WHAT'S IT WORTH TO HEAR WELL

If a man with perfect hearing were asked to sell that sense, how many dollars do you suppose he would want for it? Few there are who would sell at any price. Yet countless people are losing their hearing gradually without taking any steps to prevent the loss. If you find yourself in this plight, think for a moment of the consequences. Think of the happiness which dear people miss; think of the joys which are denied them; think of the unnumbered risks they run; think of the loss in dollars and cents.

A prominent Boston merchant said the other day: "That man there was one of my best salesmen, but he is crying day. Unless he gets cured of it, I shall have to let him go. He cannot wait on trade in that condition." That man will soon be out of work. His dealers will prevent his coming back to his position. Are you sure that no such danger threatens you?

Yet deaf people are needless sufferers, for we cure Deafness, Head Noises and Catarrh. If you are a sufferer from these complaints come to us for an examination. Let our specialists change your life from one of misery and danger to one of joy and happiness, contentment and safety. Come now.

GREAT BRITAIN NOT ON THE LIST

Has Two Strong Players in Tennis Match Street Foremen Were Not Certified to

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—Great Britain sent two of her strongest lawn tennis players to the Longwood cricket club today that America might not become a challenger for the Davis international trophy held by Australia without a contest.

As the two British visitors James Parke of Dublin, Irish champion in singles, and M. J. Ritchie of England, the Olympic champion, announced before the contest that they would not go to the Antipodes in case they should win there was every incentive for the victory by this country represented by William A. Larned of Summit, N. J., the national champion; Beals Wright of Boston, the title holder of 1905 and the present champion in doubles; H. K. Hackett and F. B. Alexander of New York.

In carrying out the conditions of the cup the players were drawn for the two single contests this afternoon with Larned meeting Parke and Wright playing Ritchie. Tomorrow Hackett and Alexander will play the British pair in doubles and on Saturday the two remaining matches in singles will be contested with Wright meeting Parke and Larned playing Ritchie.

The playing at Longwood this year was the seventh contest in the history of the Davis cup, a massive silver bowl—offered nine years ago by Dwight Davis of St. Louis for three years a national champion in doubles. Great Britain made two efforts to carry off the cup before the famous Doubly brothers in 1903 won the bowl. Last year with the same three countries in the contest Brooks and Wilding of Australia came off victorious against Great Britain and the Davis bowl took another long trip to the southern hemisphere where next November if the American team wins at Longwood it will again be sought with Brooks and Wilding probably as its defenders.

LOCAL POLITICAL FIELD

Candidates for Mayoralty and Other Offices So Far as Declared

LAWRENCE, Sept. 17.—That foremen in the street department, whose work consists of overlooking the loading of six city teams, are paid $3 per day came out in the testimony in superior court yesterday during the hearing before Judge Bond of the suit of John J. Hannagan vs. the City of Lawrence. It also appeared that none of the foremen working under Asst. Supt. of Streets Battershill are certified under the civil service list.

Hannagan was a foreman looking after the street department, but was discharged when Supt. Needham took over the department. Hannagan was certified under the civil service law and demanded a hearing, at which Supt. Needham was judge, and sustained himself in his defense that he had no work for Hannagan to do. The suits followed on the ground of illegal removal.

At the hearing yesterday, City Auditor Richard J. Shea, Mayor John P. Kane, Col. Melvin Beal, timekeeper of the street department, Supt. of Streets John C. Needham, Clerk George Merrill, City Clerk Cornelius J. Corcoran, Asst. Supt. of Streets John O. Battershill and several of the department foremen were called as witnesses.

Judge Bond took the case under consideration.

Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, National Chairman Mack, former Judge Parker and other state leaders.

The train was over an hour late in arriving in this city and the Bryan party was hurried to Jersey City in automobiles where a special train was engaged to take them to Delaware.

En route to this city Mr. Bryan and Mr. Mack discussed the general situation. Mr. Bryan and Mr. Mack will speak at Carnegie hall tomorrow night.

CANDIDATE TAFT

Preparing His Speeches for the West

CINCINNATI, Sept. 17.—With the speaking itinerary of William H. Taft decided upon the time intervening before leaving here on his first trip will be devoted largely to the preparation of numerous important speeches he is to deliver through the west. Mr. Taft will spend the greater part of each day at the Pike street residence of his brother where he will be able to avoid the many callers who constantly throng the headquarters in the Synton hotel. There may be a delegation or two which will come from Ohio points but the recent porch feature of the campaign seems to have been completely eclipsed by the more important program of travel.

FRANK WOODWARD

FATHER OF CHARLES N. WOODWARD IS DEAD

Frank Woodward of Waltham, Mass., father of Charles N. Woodward, manager for Bright Stairs & Co., this city, died at a hospital in Waltham this morning as the result of injuries sustained yesterday when he was kicked by a horse. Mr. Woodward was operated upon last night, but his life was despaired of from the first as he was seriously injured internally. Deceased was 65 years of age.

TWELVE CANDIDATES

HELENA, Mont., Sept. 17.—The republican state convention convenes here today. The big contest is anticipated will be over the gubernatorial nomination for which there are a dozen candidates including state Senator E. E. Dorrill and Charles M. Webster, Lee Manly, former United States senator is mentioned as a possible compromise nominee.

LOCAL POLITICAL FIELD

Candidates for Mayoralty and Other Offices So Far as Declared

The Booklets Fly on Lieutenant Governor Contest—The Platforms of Josiah Fielding Fiske and Officer Brown for the Mayoralty—Other Candidates in Sight

The democratic candidates for mayor, according to the popular conception of things political, are James H. Carmichael, Lawrence Cummings, Jas. E. Casey and John W. Daly. Mr. Cummings has not declared himself as yet, but wherever the mayoralty situation is discussed his name is prominently mentioned. Ex-Mayor Casey recently announced his intention of running.

A morning paper deploring the poor caliber of the republican candidates for office in this city signs as follows: "The legislative campaign is about to open and the same old array of little men is likely to be put in nomination. It is a thoroughly discouraging outlook."

Now, ain't it awful, Mabel? There's Senator Hibbard who a few weeks ago personally conducted special legislation through the state house to make possible the auto races, as a result of which this same paper is many dollars wealthier, having gotten out the official programs. And now they call "Joe" a little man. Then there's L. P. Turcotte, whom the republican city committee has honored with the vice-presidency for several years, another little man, and Hammie Greenwood, a good advertiser but a little man, and Al Grant, also a good advertiser but a little "pol."

Candidate Brown's Platform

In police circles it is whispered that there was a movement on to make George Brown a lieutenant recently to get him out of the mayoralty, but that one of the commissioners blocked it and all compromised by making Frank Fox, Brown's lieutenant, a liquor inspector. Mr. Brown and his strategy board, the chairman of which is Billy Mahoney, who has changed his politics in the interest of Mr. Brown, are at work on his platform and one of the planks will be a safe and sane administration of police affairs. An automobile for the superintendent, Colt's revolvers for the inspectors and aluminum armor plate to be worn inside the clothing for patrolmen on the outskirts and in the foreign colonies where the hidden knife is frequently brandished. All candidates for the position of liquor inspector must produce membership cards from either the Mathews or Rev. Mr. Craig's Eastern Star Temperance society.

Osmond Long is mentioned as a candidate for alderman on the republican ticket.

The friends of Ex-Alderman Daniel

Cosgrove are urging him to run for purchasing agent this fall and it is probable that he will allow the use of his name. Mr. Cosgrove would make a strong candidate for the position.

Has seen the booklets that the contest for lieutenant-governor has brought about? Out comes a little blue booklet entitled: "The lieutenant-governor of Massachusetts containing between its covers 28 pages telling why Hon. John N. Cole should be elected. On the covers of the little blue booklet the union label is conspicuous by its absence. Hardly had the little blue booklet found its way before the public when along came a little gray booklet entitled "Reprint of the Bulletin Published in October, 1907, at Andover, Mass. In opposition to the election of Mr. John N. Cole, etc." Fortified with the label on its covers the gray booklet contains some 30 pages of anti-Cole doctrine. It is understood also that similar booklets stating why Luce and Frothingham should be elected and why they should not be elected are also in circulation. These little booklets will be carefully preserved by the democratic candidates and press for their own use in the material to show why none of these candidates should be elected.

Alderman Read Not a Candidate

Alderman Read yesterday stated that he would not be a candidate for mayor. Who the dickens ever said he would be?

Things look exceptionally bright for Major Josiah Fielding Fiske. The major intends to run on a platform, the principal issue of which will be more playgrounds for the children and better breathing places for the dwellers in tenements, and now comes Judge Pickman bombing the identical issues upon which the major will stand. Great minds of course run in the same channel.

Ex-Acting Mayor Badger will enter the aldermanic field again having completely recovered from his trying experience as acting mayor.

Judging from the number of aldermanic candidates on the republican ticket it is very likely that all will not be nominated. Of this year's board Messrs. Bailey, Cheney, Gray, Read and Wilder will run again while the following councilmen will be in the contest: Messrs. Adams, McKiddier, Thomas, Walnwright, Bergeron, Baldwin, Fielding, Mitchell, Cadoret, Stevens, McKenzie, Dexter and Spencer.

There are three other republican councilmen who have not yet been heard from but they might as well come in as "the water is fine."

Councilman John P. Mahoney is seeking his sixth term in ward five.

The registrars put on 375 names up to Saturday night against 290 last year.

Bryan and Kern Club

A meeting of those interested in the Bryan and Kern club will be held in the banquet hall in Associate building tonight at 7:45 o'clock. All persons interested in the success of Bryan and Kern are invited to attend this meeting at which arrangements will be made for a smoke talk to be held some evening next week, at which prominent speakers will be heard. It is expected that the attendance this evening will be very large.

Candidate Frothingham will meet Lowell republicans at the New American Hotel this evening.

Edward Foye and Patrick Ryan are candidates for purchasing agent on the democratic ticket, thus making the contest for the nomination a three cornered affair.

POLICE CHANGES

RESULT OF C. S. EXAMINATION AWAITED

The members of the police department who recently were promoted by the board of police to fill vacancies caused by the death of the late Capt. William R. Kew, have not yet taken their positions. They are awaiting the result of the civil service examinations taken last Saturday morning in the office of Charles H. Corant of the board of civil service examinations. Those who took the examination were Lieut. Hugh Downey, who was appointed to take the place of Capt. Kew; Sergt. John Freeman, to succeed Lieut. Downey; Thomas R. Atkinson of the liquor squad to be made sergeant of the squad; and Thomas McCloyghy, of the liquor squad, who was named to take Sergt. Freeman's place.

The local board of examiners have corrected their papers which they later forwarded to Boston in order that the state examiners may make out the rating. It is expected that the returns will be made during the latter part of this week or the early part of next.

THE COWLEY CASE

More Hearings Scheduled for City Hall

The case of many hearings, the Cowley case is scheduled for another four day hearing, September 25, 26, 27 and 30. This case has held the boards so long that it has been referred to as "the interminable case."

COMMITTEE ON LIGHTING

The committee on lighting is scheduled for a meeting this afternoon and the committee on sewers will meet tomorrow afternoon.

PASTOR ORDAINED

And Installed at Tyngsboro Church

REV. B. C. HENRY, THE INCUMBENT

Many Congregational Ministers From Lowell and Elsewhere in Attendance—Rev. Mr. Martin of Kirk St. Preached the Sermon

Rev. Bertram C. Henry was installed as pastor of the Tyngsboro Evangelical church, yesterday. The ordination and installation services were held yesterday afternoon and evening.

The candidate was questioned during the afternoon and although he had some pretty knotty ones passed to him he managed to answer all comers. A. C. Ferrin, pastor of High Street Congregational church this city, was moderator.

At the conclusion of the examination supper was served by ladies of the church. The public recognition and installation service took place in the evening. The invocation was by Rev. N. S. Hoagland, pastor of the First Parish church, Tyngsboro. Scripture reading, Rev. G. C. Ferrin, Rev. George E. Martin, D. D. pastor of the Kirk Street church, Lowell, preached the installation sermon.

Rev. B. A. Willmott, pastor of the First Congregational church of Lowell, offered the installing and ordaining prayer, which was followed by the charge to the pastor given by Rev. W. H. Ryder, D. D. of the Andover Theological seminary.

Rev. D. A. Hudson of North Chelmsford gave the right hand of fellowship to the new pastor. Rev. Sarah A. Dixon, who resigned recently as assistant pastor of the First Unitarian Congregational church, and a former pastor of the Tyngsboro church, gave the charge to the people. The very interesting and inspiring services closed with benediction by the newly ordained minister.

DIED SUDDENLY

Albert Spencer Found in a Barn

Albert Spencer, aged 17 years and 10 months, the son of James and Florence Spencer, died suddenly yesterday afternoon in a barn in Fayette street. It is thought that death was due to heart failure brought on by excessive smoking.

The young man was employed doing odd jobs about the premises and yesterday noon appeared to be in the best of health. Later in the day one of the men employed about the place had occasion to go into the hay loft and found young Spencer there.

Medical Examiner J. V. Meigs was called in and after learning that the boy was an excessive smoker was of the opinion that he suffered from tobacco heart.

The body was removed to the rooms of Undertakers O'Donnell & Sons and when the medical examiner was called he decided to find out a little more about the finding of the body before he attached his signature to the death papers.

Patrolman John Kelley visited the stable soon after the body was found and reported the case to headquarters where it seemed nothing to look up. Deceased leaves a mother, Mr. Spencer and two sisters, Mrs. Clarence Wheeler and Miss Rebecca Spencer.

THE SEALERS

HAVE MADE A CATCH OF 300 SKINS

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 17.—The British steamer Albatross from Behring sea reports that the two Japanese sealing steamers seized by the British were taken in such circumstances as warranted the seizure. The eight British sealers in Behring sea were all outside the eight mile sea line, being with spears and line catches running up to 300 skins up to Aug. 16—Good weather prevailed during August and the catches will average higher than during the last few seasons. There were thirty-eight Japanese schooners out.

THE THIRD DAY

Observance of Anniversary of Religious Journalism

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Sept. 17.—Concluding the three days observance of the centennial anniversary of religious journalism in America two meetings were held here today at each of which prominent clergymen and editors of religious publications addressed the inter-denominational assembly which gathered for the exercises. The celebration has been one of much interest to all particularly to those interested directly with the religious press.

Reports of the Christian Register, the Congregationalist and Zion's Herald, Rev. Northrup of Dover speaking for the latter, addressed the forenoon meeting prior to the closing address of that session by Rev. Dr. J. P. Barrett of Dayton, O. Dr. Barrett is editor of the Herald of Gospel Liberty, the commander-in-chief of the paper which first sought to spread religion through the press, founded in Portsmouth in 1808 but since removed to Dayton.

The concluding session had as its speakers two eminent religious educators, Rev. Dr. J. J. Summerbell of Ohio and Rev. Dr. O. W. Powers, homo mission secretary at Dayton, O.

AMERICAN FLEET

Is to Leave Albany Tomorrow Instead of Today

ALBANY, West Australia, Sept. 17.—The American battleship fleet is to leave here tomorrow instead of today, as originally planned, on its long trip to Manila where it is due on the second of October. Admiral Sperry, the commander-in-chief, today received a telegram from Alfred Taft, the premier of the commonwealth, expressing obligation to President Roosevelt and the American government for the honor of the visit.

PRESIDENT'S VACATION AT AN END

OYSTER BAY, Sept. 17.—President Roosevelt's summer vacation is at an end. He will journey to Oyster Bay to vote in the international congress on tuberculosis in November, but when he again takes up his residence there he probably will be a private citizen. The first public reception at the White House probably will be in honor of the delegates to the international congress on tuberculosis, which begins at the national capital on Sept. 21.

"WEAK" RATHER THAN "JOKE" CANDIDATES.

Our morning contemporary speaks in severe terms of "joke candidates," whoever they may be. Why not be more specific and mention the names of the jokers? We know of some candidates who are in dead earnest in the contest for the mayoralty, and they each and all believe that if they had the chance they could improve upon the administration of Mayor Farnham.

When the republican party elects a weak man, several other men of the same stamp will get out to look for his job.

Is it right to regard such men as joke candidates? The proper designation would be weak candidates, and if such men are candidates it is because they seem to be in favor just at present with the republican party.

THE DAVIS FUND.

In justice to the memory of the late John Davis, who left about $115,000 to the city library, it should be stated that the income from the fund enables the trustees to maintain and equip the children's reading room, to keep the general reading room open on Sundays and to provide various additions to the list of books that seem to be demanded by the reading public.

The Davis fund is placed at the disposal of the library trustees without restriction as to how it shall be used, but the trustees are right in using only the income of the fund and holding the principal intact. If the trustees decided to go ahead and spend the principal for current expenses, in a short time nothing would be heard of the Davis fund.

NOMINATION OF HUGHES.

The renomination of Governor Hughes in New York was forced by the pressure exerted by the national committee and President Roosevelt. The local machine was completely overpowered in its efforts to give expression to the popular sentiment against Hughes.

Just as soon as the opposition got a candidate in line for nomination the emissaries of the president or of the national committee advised him not to run. Thus the anti-Hughes forces were unable to induce any candidate to enter the fight, solely as a result of the domination and coercion of the president and his allies.

The voters of New York will not stand this coercion, and hence the general belief is that Hughes will be defeated.

THE LOWELL AUTO COURSE AND OTHERS.

The Boston Herald refers to the absence of serious accidents in the Lowell road race, and attributes it to the fact that the winner took the lead so easily as to make the race something in the nature of a procession.

But that would not lessen the accidents inasmuch as the leader had to pass all the other machines almost in every circuit of the track.

The absence of accident was due to two things, to wit, the excellence of the course and the cautious work of the drivers. The course was well roped off and well policed. It was set apart by act of the legislature for the road race on Labor Day, and this was well understood by the people in the vicinity, so that there was no danger of any farmer getting out on the track with a load of hay or anything of that kind.

The Herald also makes a comparison with the Bologna circuit in Europe and the method taken to protect the course, saying:—

"We note that the Bologna circuit race of 330 miles was guarded by regular police and 900 stewards of the club. The road was newly macadamized where it needed it. At specially perilous sections of the road the hard ground adjoining was ploughed so as to soften the fall of contestants if accident came, and at one point of danger meadows near by were flooded and boatmen and physicians were at hand to give aid if drivers and cars left the track to land in the water."

We do not think that the management of any race in this country will ever adopt such precautionary measures, nor will they be necessary in any race over the Merrimack valley course.

When next such a race is run there, it is quite likely that the back stretch of the course will be macadamized, and at some points widened. The chief danger points are the hairpin curve and the corners leading into and out of Danbar avenue.

It is right that here some extraordinary provision should be made against accidents, as the good fortune that followed the racers in the Labor Day contest might forsake them in the next race.

In view of the wide reputation Lowell has attained on account of the race, it would be good policy to have the course improved as proposed and also as we have already suggested to retain the grandstand. The city could afford to purchase the grandstand and to share in the expense of putting the course in perfect condition if there was any assurance of another race such as that of Labor Day.

In arranging another race it might be well to have more variety by making the race limit 150 miles and having speed contests for various types of machines on a straightaway track where the risk of accident would be slight even though the rate of speed would be the highest possible.

SEEN AND HEARD

The knights of leisure had gathered in the city messenger's office and Billy Delmage was entertaining with tales of his prowess as a hunter and fisherman. Here is a story of the hunting stories that he recited off with never a smile to betray his humor nor any apology for the truth thereof:

"One morning, when there was not much doing, Billy thought he'd go out and shoot a deer before breakfast. Carefully edging down towards the lake, he saw a deer swimming. Taking careful aim, Billy hit and killed the deer. Having no boat with him he saw that he would have to go out and get Mr. Deer. So, he reloaded his gun, laid it down beside a hollow log, and started to wade out to the carcass of the deer. The water was very shallow, and he waded a long way, and then had to swim. He finally got hold of the dead deer, and had just got him to shore—or almost to shore, where he could wade, when he saw a big bear sitting on the log where he had placed his gun, and he found himself in a predicament. He had visions that the bear might do him up. With the process of the true hunter, Billy lay submerged to the eyes until the bear moved away. Then pulling out the deer he ran out, got his gun and blazed away at the bear. The bear looked around with an air of contempt and Billy had no more ammunition."

A YEAR'S SLAUGHTER

Boston Herald: The report of the New York public service commission covering the railroads of the state outside of the metropolitan area is a gruesome one. On the steam railroads 1692 persons were killed and 2427 injured. On the electric roads 95 were killed and 129 were injured. In each classification the number of victims was greater than in the last preceding year. The state has a roll of honor for the railroads completing the year without injury to life. This year it contains the names of 24 steam railroads and 25 electric lines, but these safe roads carried less than one-half of one per cent. of the steam railroad passengers, and but a little over one per cent. of the electric patrons. The rest of the travelling public of New York took their chances when they boarded a steam or electric car. More than one in every 100 was hurt. The report is startling. But of the duties of the public service commission in the protection of life and with making a startling report?

PEOPLE OF NOTE

The golf champion of Wisconsin is Edward P. Allis, aged 16, universally known as "Ned," who recently scored a victory over Frank W. Jacobs of Madison, the state champion of 1907. We are told that the victory of Allis over Jacobs "was by consistent golf, with no freaks, and he made the best record of his career, going 75 against the 50 bogey of the course." The victor played good golf when only five years old, and at the age of 11 had secured the distinction of a write-up in a golf magazine. The Milwaukee Wisconsin further says: "One of the most remarkable performances of his record was in 1902, when 10 years old. He went over the country club course in 93 with a single club. His first round was done in 46 and the second in 47. Five holes being made in bogey. The little chap had only a driver for his play, using it for both shots, his approaches, and even for his putting. Half a dozen times he borrowed a masher, but with these exceptions every shot was with his little short driver."

As soon as Richard Strauss has set his new opera "Electra," on the stage, he purposes to undertake a lyric comedy, and they hear in Paris that he has chosen the classic "Tartuffe" of Moliere for his text. He intends to use it integrally or nearly integrally, as he wrote to Wilde's "Salome" and Ibsen's "Hedda" "Electra."

The owner of the greatest wheat farm of North Dakota, and probably of the world, Oliver Dalrymple, lately died at Casselton, in that state, where he had gone from his winter home in St. Paul, Minn., to superintend the harvesting of his crop. The Dalrymple farm consists of 17 sections, or 10,880 acres, which have been devoted for many years in the main to wheat raising. In that field Mr. Dalrymple became a recognized authority. He was, with his brother, about the first to undertake wheat raising on a large scale. He had been engaged in it for a quarter of a century, and the Dalrymple wheat fields of thousands of acres have, during more than two decades, been objects of great interest to tourists and agriculturists. The work was shared by John Dalrymple, who died a few years ago. They followed scientific agricultural and business methods in their venture, and made it very profitable, so that both became millionaires. Oliver Dalrymple was a prominent figure, both in Minnesota and North Dakota, and was universally loved and respected by those who knew him, says the St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Nance O'Neil is to try her fortunes once more as an actress of quality in theatres of rank. This time, she will make the venture in New York, next month, with a modern and highly "emotional" play called "Agnes."

Here is a part of a letter that Miss Farrar lately sent to a friend in New York about her work and play in the summer that is now ending, and about her plans for the autumn in Berlin and for the winter in America. "This and the Villa Serbellone under the Alps (the Villa Serbellone under the Alps in the Italian lakes) is the most heavenly spot I have ever seen, and realizes my dream of sunny Italy! How glad I am you spoke so enthusiastically about it. We idle much. I write something in the main it has proved a veritable paradise of tranquility and repose with perfect weather. We have the whole wing and balcony, on the garden side, and it sweeps over the lakes and the gardens. Couldn't be more private if we owned the estate." Then she tells of her horseback rides in Berlin and Salsglo, her trips on the motor boat, and some - motorizing - excursions she made in England earlier in the summer. Next she goes on: "But, after all, there is nothing like working. And I get awfully bored waiting to get rest enough to 'grind.' Whenever she is in Berlin Miss Farrar continues her work with Miss Lehmann. Concerning her she writes: 'She is a very unusual handsome self. She thinks seriously of coming in two years to New York for special performances of Norma, Iphigenia and Donna Anna. Can you and I would then, I think, have the honor in the first named opera, and in Barr's novel, "A Bow of Change Ribbons" to be performed by the Delancey History club of New York city, of which Miss Cashman is a member. Miss Phillips, who is at the head of the English department of the De Witt Clinton High school, found it necessary to make very few changes in the dramatized version, despite the youth of the author. This gifted girl had previously taken a prize for an original essay in the club, and also designed a clever cover for the club scrap book.

Miss Dickens is the head of a large typewriting bureau in London and is described as a keen business woman.

To Make Balloon Ascension With Glidden

NASHUA, N. H., Sept. 17.—At 4 o'clock this afternoon will take place the first flight in this city of a balloon under the auspices of the New England Aero club. The balloon "Boston," which will make the ascent, arrived yesterday. The ascensions will be made from Aero park, an unimproved section of land in a field in the Nashua river near the gas works, and reached from Bridge street. It is within a few minutes' walk of the Nashua Junction railway station.

The number of people who will visit the city today to see the balloon goes up is estimated at 10,000. Alfred B. Shrigley, secretary of the club, Boston, and Dr. Charles J. Clifton, of Lowell will accompany Charles J. Glidden, president of the club, in the ascent.

CAPT. PITMAN

FRIENDS ASK FOR GARDIAN FOR SOMERVILLE MAN

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—George M. Pitman, assistant clerk of the Charlestown municipal court, and Herbert E. Wetz of Medford, filed a petition yesterday in the probate court at East Cambridge for the appointment of a guardian for Capt. Henry W. Pitman of 77 Columbus avenue, Somerville, on the ground of insanity and incapacity to manage his affairs.

Capt. Pitman was arrested by the federal officers June 20, on the charge of sending objectionable letters through the mail to a young Chelsea girl, and the case is still pending against him.

George M. Pitman is the captain's son and Atty. Wetz is a son-in-law. Capt. Pitman is 22 years old, and has resided in Somerville more than 10 years. He has been prominent in the republican party as secretary of the Middlesex county committee, and he has also been connected with several Somerville newspapers.

CHELSEA JUDGE

GIVES RULING IN REVERE BATH COSTUME CASE

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—Under the decision yesterday of Judge Samuel E. Cutler of the Chelsea police court, people wearing bathing suits with outside clothing over them, even if only a bathrobe, may cross the Parkway at Revere beach without a permit from the superintendent of the state reservation.

The case in hand was that of Louis Adelslein of Brockton, who was arrested by the park police for crossing the boulevard without a permit. The technical charge was trespass. Recently the same judge decided that the rule was unfair which permitted only residents of Revere to cross the boulevard in bathing costume.

In the case of Adelslein, he found that as he wore a bathrobe, he was properly clothed for crossing the public thoroughfare and discharged him. The decision is taken to mean that anybody properly clothed may cross the parkway to bath.

FINE CONCERT

FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE CHILDREN'S HOME

A concert for the benefit of the Children's Home in Kirk street was held last night in Colonial hall, and proved to be a success. The artists on the program were the Lillian Traverses, soprano; Miss Lillian Haynes, violin; Miss Pauline Rice, piano; and Miss Lillian West, piano. The trio was assisted by Mr. William F. Thomson, reader.

The program consisted of the reading of Mendelssohn's Festival March by the trio, which brought forth considerable applause. Mr. Thomson then gave an excellent reading, after which Miss Rice played Wienawski's Mazurka. The remainder of the program was in keeping with the first part.

REV. DR. WALLACE

Goes to Baltimore in Response to Call

In consequence of the call which he received to the First Baptist church in Baltimore, Rev. O. C. S. Wallace, D. D., has gone there to look the field over before answering the call. The following is from the Baltimore American of Monday:

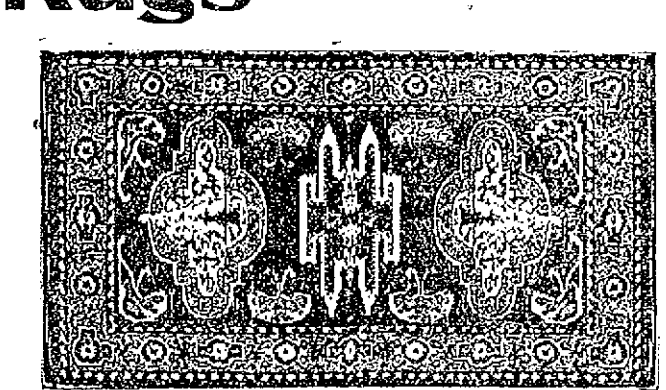

"If Rev. Dr. O. C. S. Wallace, who has been called to the pastorate of the First Baptist church, Fremont and Lafayette avenues, accepts the call and consents to leave his present work as pastor of the First Baptist church of Lowell, Mass., he will be only the sixth pastor of the church in 135 years, a record not equalled by any other Rev. Dr. Wallace has been spending his summer vacation in Nova Scotia, at Kenilville, his birthplace, and he was there when he received the call of the Baltimore congregation last week. He will arrive in Baltimore tomorrow morning and will be met by a committee, the members of which will entertain him and acquaint him with the field in Baltimore and the possibilities for doing good in this city. The people of the First Baptist church feel that Dr. Wallace will accept the call, and if he does he will receive a right royal welcome from his new parishioners. At the midweek prayer service on Wednesday night Dr. Wallace will meet the members of the congregation and will talk with them."

Mr. Frank E. Curran, who was injured while working for the Boston and Maine railroad, returned to Lowell last Friday after a year's absence, and is anxious to be able to work. He will be pleased to meet his friends.

THE CROWLEY WILL CROWD WAS AMUSED

Was Allowed by Judge Lawton After Hearing Yesterday

The Case Will Go to the Supreme Court—Testimony Was Heard in Court at East Cambridge Yesterday

Judge Lawton in court at East Cambridge yesterday afternoon handed down a decision allowing the will of the late Mrs. Johanna Crowley.

The case will go to the supreme court.

At yesterday afternoon's session Miss Mary E. Ripley resumed the stand and in response to Mr. Pratt's questions stated that her aunt asked her in December if she thought her mother would assist her with her affairs, that they were not in the order she wished them to be in. Witness said she thought her mother would be willing to assist her. Her aunt did not specify what affairs she meant or in what condition they were. Witness told her mother what her aunt had said to her. "What else did your aunt say?" asked Mr. Pratt.

"She said she was about to die and wanted her affairs attended to. She complained bitterly of Robert." "What was the nature of the conversation that you characterized as complaining bitterly?" "She said that Robert went off for weeks at a time and she didn't know where he was, while he didn't know whether she was dead or alive. She seemed very sorrowful."

"Some time in January," continued the witness, "I visited my aunt and she spoke about her affairs but up to that time my mother had not been up to see her. Auntie at that time said she had not much longer to live and she started to speak of what she was going to give me. I besought her not to talk so, saying that she looked better than before she died. She replied that she was able to walk around and her rheumatism was kept away. She told mother, who was ill at the time, not to hurry but she repeated that she wanted to get her affairs straightened out."

"In a conversation with my mother on the will," said the witness, "mother said: 'Auntie asked me to be residuary legatee and she wants you and me to have the best things in her house. I didn't know auntie loved me so much. She said I had been such a good mother and had such good boys and such a happy family.'"

"When the will had been signed witness testified that Mrs. Crowley held the document in her hand and said: 'Now I am ready to go whenever God calls me.' Mrs. Crowley never spoke of her will to the witness after that time."

"What did you say when your mother told you that she had been made the residuary legatee?" "I have an idea I said, 'Is that so?'" "Did you know what it meant?" "Why certainly."

"Did you ascertain how much was involved?" "That never occurred to me."

Questioned by Mr. Sughrue, witness said that she was Mrs. Crowley's dear child. She said further her aunt dearly loved her mother. Her aunt, she said, was very intellectual. She read much.

"Was there ever any unfriendliness between your family and Robert?" was asked.

"Robert once showed unfriendliness towards me. It was after I came back from Europe and I thought he would come up and shake hands with me when I met him on the street, but he passed me by. Mrs. Crowley once said that my grandmother's trouble came through a ward of my grandfather's, while her trouble came through Robert's. I told auntie that Robert was clever, a good speaker and had personal magnetism and auntie said that was all the more reason that he should look after his talent."

When Mrs. Crowley was sick witness visited her bedside and she said, "Joe, I have made another will. I have cut Robert off with $100. I cannot do otherwise; now I am ready to meet my God."

The witness didn't know that Mrs. Crowley was so sick at the time until she arrived at the house.

Witness said that Mrs. Crowley told her that she was going to make her second will and that Mrs. Reddy drew it up as she had worked eight years in probate court and there was no man in Lowell she would sooner trust than Mr. Reddy.

Mr. Pratt asked: "Were you present when the will was read?" "I was."

Mrs. Scannell Testifies

Mrs. Johanna Scannell, of Jamaica Plain, a cousin of Mrs. Crowley at whose house Mrs. Crowley was visiting also witnessed the first will said that when the will was drawn up she went to the Old Colony Trust company and witnessed the will. Witness didn't know what was in the will until she got home and then witness read it.

Mrs. Scannell said: "I never told anyone the contents of that will, not even my brother, who was mentioned for $500."

Witness stated further that later Mrs. Crowley told her that she was worried as she didn't want her hard earned money; money she and her husband had worked hard for, squandered.

"Were you present when there was a discussion about what was meant by residuary legatee?" "I was."

"Did you say to Robert Crowley that Mrs. Crowley never intended to make Mrs. Reddy residuary legatee?" "I never said I knew it; not in so many words."

"Did you ever say to Robert Crowley to be sure and contest that will?" "I never did, sir."

At the conclusion of Mrs. Scannell's testimony Mr. Pratt, under a rule of the court, presented a statement in writing of his desire to have the facts finally determined by a jury and also presented a waiver of any further rights in this court.

After a conference between counsel and Judge Lawton the court gave a decree allowing the will and issued a certificate sending the case to the supreme court for a jury trial.

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—"Escaped from the Danvers Hospital for the Insane, Sept. 4, Frederick Dion, aged 32 years, formerly of Somerville."

"Dion was a patient in the suicidal ward, and, though not incurable, is possessed of hallucinations which make him a menace to the community. He may at any time kill himself or commit murderous assault."

"In appearance he is tall and good looking, and his mental state is not apparent. He is supplied with money and may have a revolver. He must be recaptured."

The above notice, sent by the officials of the Danvers asylum to the Somerville and Boston police, has caused the authorities to a man hunt. Dion was formerly one of Somerville's best known young men and a graduate of the Somerville High school. His first affliction, mentally came several months ago, when after a slight spell of illness, he became morose and changed in disposition.

Little by little his mind gave away and his brother, Francis Dion of 144 Willow avenue, after a consultation with H. H. Fisher, with whom the young man lived, decided to place him under treatment at Danvers. When the police tried to take him from his room at 82 Somerville street, Somerville, he drew a revolver and fired a bullet into his head. At the Somerville hospital the physicians were unable to extract the lead through the fact that it rested close to the brain and probing might cause death.

The bullet is still embedded in the man's head.

THE YOUTHFUL GLADIATORS.

By Seeing Two Little Newsboys Fighting

Two very small newsboys yesterday amused a crowd by engaging in a regular pugilistic contest in front of the King Clothing Co's store. So earnestly did the little fellows pummel each other that they dropped their papers and their money and seemed to care nothing about their stock in trade until after the melee was over. No doubt the lads indulged some anticipations towards each other or were set to fight by older boys.

Although they did not seem to injure each other very much, yet they did badly used up when the fight was over. It is not very strange to see two boys fighting as they will have a scran once in a while in spite of the police, their parents or anybody else, but it was quite strange to see a crowd of full grown men gather around and watch the fight as they would a contest between pugilists in a prize ring.

The proper thing for older people in such a case would be to separate the lads and threaten them with a ride in the police wagon or something of that kind. It would be considered brutal to have two dogs or two roosters engage in a finish fight, but it seems more cruel to let two boys pummel each other until one or the other is wounded and has to give up. This thing of having boys fight either on the street or elsewhere should be discouraged. The officer on Merrimack square is on the lookout for such exhibitions and he speedily scattered the crowd that wanted to see the two little newsboys fight to a finish.

AN ARMED POSSE

Still Pursues Cunningham in Woods of New Hampshire

NEWPORT, N. H., Sept. 17.—Edward Cunningham, who has kept the people of Guild in a state of terror and uncertainty for the past week, made his appearance at the Seavey home yesterday afternoon at 5.35.

Mrs. Ellisworth Dodge and Mrs. Charles Johnson were the first to discover the presence of the desperado. Just back of the Seavey home. The daughter, Miss Sarah Seavey, who has not been allowed to leave the house for the past two days, started to hang up some clothes on the line which is about 50 feet back of the home, and she had been there about 10 minutes when Cunningham was discovered not more than 200 feet from where she was hanging the clothes.

Mrs. Dodge, who was the first to discover the hiding place of the desperado, at first did not recognize him. She called Mrs. Johnson and after watching the man behind the large bowlder for fully five minutes he finally showed enough of his head to enable them to identify him. They then called the attention of the young men, who had accompanied the Seavey girl, to the figure behind the bowlder, and after running around the outhouse they opened fire upon Cunningham, but he had disappeared before the guards could get a line upon him.

Within 100 Feet of Girl

Cunningham's return last evening disposed of the theory that he gained credence among a large number that he was wounded in Monday night's battle with the guards.

He has persistently returned every other night to the vicinity of the Seavey home, evidently in hopes that he may get a shot at some member of the family. Fortunately, he was discovered in time yesterday afternoon, as he was certainly working into a favorable position so that he might get a shot at the girl who was hidden from him by the outhouse.

At the time he was discovered he was not more than 100 feet from the girl, who was not aware of her danger. Clyde Haywood and Arthur Clement were standing the girl when the alarm was given and with the assistance of the remaining guards at the house they gave chase to the desperado. They searched for him in the woods back of the house until dusk, when they had to give up owing to the fact that, by candle light, some of those who were in the chase might get in a mixup.

Guards on Every Street

Early yesterday morning Lucky Glynn, who was driving to Sunapee, saw a man in a pasture about a mile back of the Seavey home who answered the description given out by Sheriff King.

This is Cunningham's third attempt to get within reach of the Seavey house and each time he has succeeded in getting away safely, much to the discomfort of the men who are guarding the Seavey family from further attacks of this apparently insane man.

Yesterday morning at about 7 another fire was discovered in the Hay pasture, which was thought to be a sign of his appearance in that vicinity, but a search failed to reveal any additional signs to those discovered Tuesday.

Sargent Sees Cunningham

Late Tuesday night Ernest Sargent met a man on the Paradise road while he was on his way to Guild. As soon as the man saw Sargent he made a dive for the woods beside the road and disappeared. Early yesterday morning the tracks verified Sargent's statement. It is very probable that Cunningham left his favorite hiding ground and took advantage of the night to get over back of the Seavey house, where it would be more favorable for him to attack some member of the Seavey family.

Sheriff King last night had guards at all the possible avenues of escape and if Cunningham attempts to return he will find his escape a difficult feat.

The guards with firearms has been dispensed with and this may account for the early appearance of Cunningham. The Nelson home has also been under guard all day and two men were placed there last night, although the family still remains at the Seavey home. Both Mr. and Mrs. Nelson fear that Cunningham may carry out his threat of last spring and do away with them.

PARKER AND BRYAN

Meet on the Same Platform at Rochester, N. Y.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 17.—As the democratic convention of the state convention, which closed yesterday, there was a notable demonstration here last night in honor of the party's national standard bearer, William J. Bryan, who addressed a mass meeting in convention hall and overflowed gatherings outside.

Presiding over the convention hall assembly was Judge Alton B. Parker, the presidential candidate of four years ago, who took advantage of the occasion to make a personal pledge of his earnest fealty to the national ticket. As Mr. Bryan and Judge Parker stood side by side before the great audience, the cheering welled up in a deafening roar.

Mr. Bryan expressed his gratitude for the nomination of Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler as head of the state ticket and paid a personal tribute to him. Mr. Chanler had joined the Nebraska at Syracuse yesterday afternoon and was with him at dinner last night at Genesee Valley club.

The greeting extended Mr. Bryan when he entered the hall and the applause and cheering that greeted him were spontaneous and enthusiastically. Near all of the orchestra seemed to have given itself over to the reception of Mr. Bryan. The down-town streets were thronged all evening long and the progress of the candidate from place to place was made difficult by the crowds which pressed about him.

Judge Parker offered a foreword rather than an introduction of Mr. Bryan, saying:

"The United democracy of the state of New York joins heartily with the people of Rochester in bidding welcome to our guest of honor, and we pledge him our earnest support until victory comes."

"It is worth coming a long way," said Mr. Bryan, "to participate in the closing hours of a great convention in this country's greatest state."

"I appreciate Judge Parker's cordial words in presenting me to you. I appreciate the pledge he has given and especially do I appreciate his own earnest part in the fulfillment of that pledge."

He said he was gratified that the convention placed at the head of its ticket one so worthy to carry the party's standard in this state and said he appreciated the spirit of harmony that prevailed in this convention.

Mr. Bryan's references to the convention and to Mr. Chanler called out almost continual cheering. The Nebraska then plunged into his set speech.

While in the midst of his address Mr. Bryan was interrupted by former assemblyman John Palace, Jr., of Rochester, who stated that if he would consent to suspend for five minutes the democrats of Monroe county would show him more substantial support than mere applause and cheering. Others rushed about the hall handing out blank applications for membership in the "Central Bryan and Kern Club" containing a pledge to vote and work for the success of the national ticket.

When the slips had all been collected, Mr. Palace announced that more than three thousand applications and pledges had been made.

"I think that is the largest club that I ever knew organized in so short a time," said Mr. Bryan, "and if you can work as long as you can fast there'll be an immense amount of work done between now and election day."

In his address to the overflowed Mr. Bryan spoke briefly along the same lines as at the convention hall.

The dinner tendered to Mr. Bryan at the Genesee Valley club was as notably significant in its gathering of the leaders of the party in the state as was the meeting in convention hall. Leader Murphy and Senator McCarron of Brooklyn both were present.

CHIEF OF POLICE

Placed Under Arrest by a Constable

WICKFORD, R. I., Sept. 17.—James D. Caswell, chief of police of Narragansett Pier, was last night placed under arrest by Constable Lyman N. Cranston of South Kingstown, on complaint brought by John G. Gross charging "wilful and unlawful neglect and refusal to perform the laws of the state regarding gambling in not closing certain alleged gambling places at Narragansett Pier."

DAMES OF MALTA

HELD SIXTH ANNUAL CONVENTION IN HAVERHILL

HAVERHILL, Sept. 17.—The sixth annual convention of the Dames of Malta continued its sessions until late last night discussing revisions in the ritual and constitution, and electing the following officers:

Sovereign grand master, W. S. Bartlett, Scituate, Pa.
Sovereign keeper, M. Norton, Haverhill.

Sovereign boss of archives, L. D. Woodington, Philadelphia.
Sovereign purser, W. B. Lewis, Haverhill.

Sovereign marshal, M. Seagraves, Attleboro.
Sovereign ensign, F. A. Sargent, Attleboro.

Rochester, N. Y., was chosen as the place of next year's convention in September.

THACKERY GUILTY

Of Violating Contract
Labor Law

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—Norman Thackery of North Adams, a foreman in the Arnold print works, was convicted by a jury last night in the U. S. district court on a charge of bringing in two weavers from Leeds, England, in violation of the contract labor law.

The jury went out in the afternoon about 3 o'clock and returned a verdict at 8:30. There were five counts in the indictment and on three of them the court directed a verdict for the defendant. On the other two the jury found the accused guilty, but recommended leniency.

It was alleged that he paid the transportation of Clifford Geldert and Bernard Tagwell from England to this country and gave him employment at $8.50 a week.

John H. Casey, counsel for the defendant, asked to have until next Tuesday to file a motion for a new trial, and one for arrest of judgment. Assistant U. S. Dist. Atty. Garland assented, and the motions were granted. It is the intention of the defense to carry the case to the court of appeals on exceptions if the motion for a new trial that will be filed is denied.

FAVORS TREATY

TO DEAL WITH THE WOOD PULP SITUATION

APPLETON, Wis., Sept. 17.—"Because raw material is much cheaper in Canada and labor is considerably cheaper, we would have to go out of business and would go out of business if the tariff on wood pulp were to be cut off, unless we could obtain higher prices for our sulphite than we are receiving at the present," said N. M. Jones of Bangor, Me., manager of the Katahdin Pulp and Paper Co., at Lincoln, Me., before the congressional investigating committee yesterday morning. Continuing, Mr. Jones said:

"Unless we can get out material as cheaply as the Canadian mills do, we would have to quit business, for we could not compete with them."

"The only thing I see to do, is to make a treaty with Canada. Not as a tariff, not as a republican party today and a democratic party tomorrow, but a treaty whereby the tariff on wood pulp would be cut off if our mills in Canada at the same figures that Canadian mills do; but I would also increase the duty on European pulp 100 per cent. Europe is our greatest competitor, not Canada. The market of the United States and Canada is large enough to use all the wood pulp, sulphite and paper manufactured in this country and Canada if a treaty were made and the duty on European goods increased."

The Maine man was the only witness today.

AVERAGE WAGES

HIGHER IN 1907 THAN THEY WERE IN 1906

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The average wages per hour in the principal manufacturing and mercantile industries of the country were 3.7 per cent higher in 1907 than in 1906, while retail prices of food were 4.2 per cent higher, according to the July report of the bureau of labor. The regular hours of labor per week were four-tenths of one per cent lower, and the number of employees in establishments investigated by the bureau showed an increase of 1 per cent.

The purchasing power of an hour wage, as measured by food, was less in 1907 than in 1906, the decrease being 1-2 of 1 per cent.

The average prices of 23 of the 30 articles included in the compilation of prices were higher in 1907 than in 1906. The articles which showed the greatest advance in prices are flour 8.9 per cent; butter 8.0 per cent; evaporated apples 7.8 per cent; milk 7.3 per cent; corn meal 6.8 per cent; cheese 6.7 per cent, and potatoes 5.4 per cent.

LADIES' AUXILIARY

O. S. C. OBSERVED SECOND ANNIVERSARY LAST NIGHT

The second anniversary concert and dance, under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the O. S. C., was held last night in Prescott hall. The members turned out in large numbers and many of their friends were also in attendance. The Calumet orchestra furnished music for the dancing. The officers of the evening were: Floor director, Jennie L. Ray; assistant floor director, Mrs. C. W. Leonard; chief aid, Mrs. Z. Hastings; aids, Mr. P. Caddell, Mrs. E. McFadyen, Mr. J. McCaskill, Miss I. McIntyre, Mr. J. Tail, Miss I. McAuley, Mr. R. Hastings, Mrs. L. McCaskill, Donald McFadyen.

PROBABLY DEAD

Four Members of Crew Deserted Barkentine

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—The barkentine Fremont, which arrived from the Arctic yesterday, brought news of the probable death of four members of the crew who deserted on May 16 and started to reach Unalakleet. They were Manuel Lorenz, Leon Walker, John Gorkesen and James McDonald. They started on their perilous trip late one night during the height of a storm. A search was made for them but without success and several days later the dory they occupied was picked up at Dullin Bay. It is believed that all of them perished. They had been dissatisfied for some time over the amount of their spring allowance.

TO CONTEST WILL

An Estate Valued At $750,000 Is Involved

The will of Mrs. Caroline M. Barnard of Everett, who died July 30 of this year, having an estate worth about $750,000, is to be contested. Yesterday notice was given in the Middlesex probate court in Cambridge that four co-heirs of Mrs. Barnard, Mrs. Harriet A. Bond of Somerville, Miss Harriet D. Danforth and Miss Laura P. Danforth of the Hotel Canterbury, Boston, and Mrs. A. Geraldine Whiting of the Hotel Vendome, Boston, would contest the will. Mrs. Barnard left no children and her husband, Robert M. Barnard, died before she did. The Misses Danforth receive $12,000 each in the will, but the other two co-heirs are not mentioned. The date of the hearing on the will is Oct. 15.

HON. RICHARD OLNEY

Tells in Strong Terms Why Taft Should Not Be Elected

He Says Favoritism is Shown to Some Trusts—Roosevelt's Attacks on the Judiciary Denounced—Ex-Secretary of State Cites Blow to Business—He Says Bryan's Methods Are Sane and Decent

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The World prints a letter which in part is as follows:

By Richard Olney,
Former Secretary of State,
Boston, Sept. 16.

To the Editor of the World:

Dear Sir:—I have your telegram of the 14th instant asking for my views upon the desirability of supporting the democratic national candidate in the coming presidential election. The request strikes me as reasonable and I cheerfully comply with it.

The question is, ought the republican party be defeated in the pending presidential campaign? That is the issue now before the American people in comparison with which all others are insignificant.

The platforms of the two great parties need not be dismissed. It would hardly be necessary even if it were not almost entirely true, as an influential newspaper declares, that if they "were to be surreptitiously transposed nobody on either side would ever find it out."

No man need the personalities of the respective candidates be considered—although a desire to bring them to the front is indicated by a recent manifesto from Oyster Bay lauding to the skies the personal traits of Mr. Taft. Mr. Bryan's friends might easily and triumphantly retort in kind, since, with the exception of Henry Clay, no presidential candidate has had so enthusiastic and devoted a following.

The truth is that each is simply the representative of his party. Each if elected will be the creature of his party, and each if elected will and must obey the behests of his party. In short, ours is a government by party.

But what are the Roosevelt policies referred to? The Rooseveltian platitudes upon themes that usually occupy the attention of statesmen can no longer deceive even the most credulous. Mr. Roosevelt now confesses his ignorance of banking, of the tariff, of currency and of economic questions generally, and claims credit only for "moral teaching."

The Rooseveltian policies, in other words, simmer down to the Tea Com-mandments which, according to an eminent statement of his own party, Mr. Roosevelt evidently deems a recent discovery of his own, and which, in theory at least, he espouses with all the zeal of a new convert. That if these are the policies of Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Bryan answers with him is of course to be cheerfully admitted.

But these policies are of no account except as practically applied, and here lies a difference of the most vital importance. Mr. Bryan would unquestionably apply them uniformly and impartially to all parties concerned. The Roosevelt plan on the other hand contemplates exceptions and discriminations by the national executive in favor of the particular persons he happens to befriend.

An illustration of the Roosevelt policies and their working under the Sherman anti-trust law and its enforcement. No one has the right to say, and no one can truthfully and properly say, that Mr. Bryan would not endeavor to execute the law against any and all offenders. But Mr. Taft, as the initiator of Roosevelt, may be expected to distinguish—may be expected to find good trusts as well as bad—and, unless he is prepared to go back upon his model, may be expected to select some violators for prosecution and punishment and to give others a complete immunity bath. That, at all events, is the course that has been pursued by the Roosevelt administration—Taft being a part thereof.

Northern Securities Case

The Northern Securities case, for instance, had no sooner been decided than the attorney general hastened to give assurance that the administration would not run amuck among offenders. In the case of the steel trust, one of the most gigantic monopolies or attempts at monopoly the world has ever seen, not only have no legal proceedings against it ever been instituted, but it stands so high in the good graces of the administration that its latest acquisition is understood to have been condoned in advance, and not to have been effected until an arrangement with the executive had first been reached.

Democrats who favor the Roosevelt policies, therefore, have no incentive to support Mr. Taft in the pending election. If they are for those policies in sincerity and truth they must want the laws embodying them to be enforced without fear or favor, and the idea of selected culprits of the probability or even possibility of a national executive making the same acts criminal for one man or set of men and innocent for other men or set of men—must be specially abhorrent.

Democrats, it is urged, should support Mr. Taft because of the probability of his being better than Mr. Bryan's, and because of the assumption that Mr. Taft's attitude toward the national judiciary generally will be better than Mr. Bryan's. But, before yielding to suggestions which ought to be the strongest that can be urged in Mr. Taft's behalf, we must remember Mr. Taft's position and positive pledges. What Mr. Taft might do if untrammelled, if he were the Taft he was supposed to be before he went into politics, is one thing—what he will do and must do as the elected executor of the Roosevelt policies is quite another.

What are the Roosevelt policies as respects the national judiciary to which Mr. Taft must be regarded as firmly committed? One feature is that no lawyer can hope for a place on the supreme court who is not committed to the doctrine that the powers of the general government ought to be enlarged by judicial construction of the constitution. So any nominee to the supreme bench would certainly be expected to subscribe to the proposition—already announced and advocated by Mr. Taft—that the U. S. government is not merely a political organization for the exclusive benefit of the American people but is an eleemosynary institution authorized to tax the American people and spend their money in the subjugation and "benevolent assimilation" of the Philippines or any other race or people on administration may select as the object of its charitable ministrations.

But the most important feature of the Roosevelt policy toward the judiciary remains to be noted. It does not merely call for judges who will support and carry out the political views and desires of the administration. That policy makes it a function of the national executive to publicly assail judges whose official acts disappoint the executive, and to inflame public sentiment against them by criticisms and aspersions which the people at large may naturally enough treat as weighty official utterances, but which in reality signify little more than their author's personal disrespect for the most sacred and valuable of American institutions.

Dictating a Successor

It is evident, further, that the defeat of the republican party in the coming national election may be properly welcomed in all quarters, as a decisive and deserved rebuke of the attempt of a national executive to dictate his successor. Men of all parties must resent such dictation, must perceive its sinister and menacing character and tendency and must realize that, were it to be recognized as legitimate and used as an habitual practice, what are free elections in name and should be in truth, would be nothing but a farce in fact.

It is unquestionable that the republican party's defeat next November would tend to check encroachments of the national government upon the rights and powers of the states. That such encroachments are going on in some cases openly, in others insidiously—that the tendency toward them is most pronounced and is increasing and is favored by the most aggressive and influential of republican leaders—are facts which it is impossible to overlook or deny.

It is a distinguishing merit of the democratic party that it is, and is sure to stand, opposed to any infringement of the constitutional jurisdiction of the states. It would not enlarge that of the general government either through constitutional amendment or judicial stretching of the constitution by construction. Its attitude is of the greatest value, because the autonomy of the several states is absolutely essential to our existence as a nation. A central government at Washington vested with the powers of the states and charged with the domestic affairs of 50 or 100 millions of people would inevitably break in pieces from its own weight. No government made up of mortal men could possibly deal intelligently with the diverse conditions and interests of so large a population spread over an immense territory presenting all varieties of soil and climate and natural resources.

The fathers of the republic wisely deemed a union of American states essential to our becoming a strong and powerful nation, but were equally wise in believing local self-government by the several states indispensable to the perpetuity of that union. That the democratic party, by its antagonism to the centralizing tendencies now rampant in the republican party, really stands for integrity and permanence of the union is of itself sufficient to justify every friend of the union in welcoming a democratic success in the pending national elections.

Mr. Olney classes the republican policy in regard to the Philippines as a huge blunder and says that the defeat of the republican party would be for the nation's good.

Many Lowell people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger when all diseases and aches and pains due to weak kidneys can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is a Lowell citizen's recommendation.

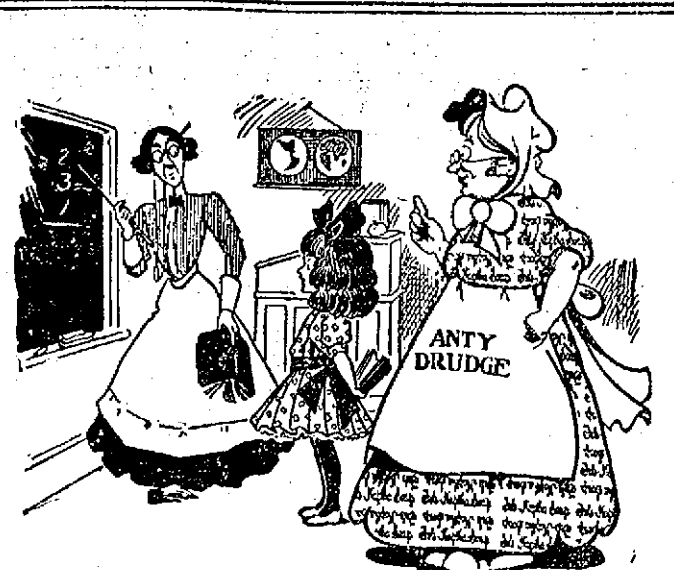

Ira Hartwell, living at 46 Varney street, Lowell, Mass., says: "A few years ago I had an attack of kidney trouble, the kidney secretions becoming so frequent in action that I would be forced to arise several times during the night. I also had backaches. Upon using Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Ellingwood & Co.'s drug store, the pain in my back diminished, and soon disappeared entirely. Teacher (in arithmetic class)—"Now, Mary, if your mother spent two hours boiling the clothes, three hours in rubbing them, and an hour to hang them out, how many hours would that be altogether?"

Little Mary—"Yes, but my mama doesn't boil the clothes. She washes them with Fels-Naptha in cool or lukewarm water, and she doesn't have to rub them hard, either."

Anty Drudge—"You'd better make the time shorter, Mistress Schoolteacher, when you give an addition question like that to a little girl whose mother knows the advantage of washing with Fels-Naptha."

Easy on the woman and easy on the clothes.

That's why progressive women are washing their clothes with Fels-Naptha in cool or lukewarm water, in summer or winter.

It's easy on the woman because it does away with fires for heating water, makes hard rubbing unnecessary and takes less than half the time of the old way of washing.

It's easy on the clothes because there is no boiling to make the clothes tender, and no hard rubbing to wear them into holes before their time.

Save yourself; save your clothes—use Fels-Naptha.

Costs little money for a big cake, and lasts longer than ordinary soaps.

In using it follow directions printed on the red and green wrapper.

Bryan's New York Trip Marked by Series of Ovations

The Candidate Rouses New York Democrats in Issues of the Campaign—Overflow Meetings Were Held—Club of 3000 Members Organized in Quick Time

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 17.—A speech made last night by W. J. Bryan on "Mr. Taft and his career" and two overflow meetings, formed the climax of an eventful day. Arriving here shortly after 6 o'clock, democracy's leader was accorded an ovation. With him from Syracuse came the democratic nominee for governor of New York, Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler.

Among those at the station here to meet him were: National Chairman Mack, William J. Coombs, chairman of the democratic state committee, Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany chieftain and Daniel F. Cohanlan. The principal speech last night was in convention hall where the democratic state convention finished its labors yesterday and which was packed to the doors. Mr. Bryan was accorded a great demonstration by his audience.

Bryan's Speech
Mr. Bryan said in part: "Mr. Taft confesses that his arguments are not convincing when he attempts to introduce a bill to threaten the public with dire disaster if he is not elected. A threat is always an admission that argument and persuasion have not been effective. Measured by this test, Mr. Taft has already abandoned hope of convincing the public of the righteousness of his position."

"On the labor questions he declares that our demands for a trial by jury in cases of indirect contempt is the 'insidious attack upon judicial system' in the history of the country. According to Mr. Taft it would 'very much impair the administration of justice.' He seems to forget that the very reform which we endorse was introduced by the U. S. senate 12 years ago, and that it was supported by such republicans as Senators Sherman of Ohio, Allison of Iowa, Hale of Maine, Hiram Johnson of Connecticut, Morrill of Vermont and Knute Nelson of Minnesota."

"Mr. Taft may be willing to bring his indictment against the democratic par-

ments, but it will not satisfy the millions whose deposits make banking profitable.

"His theory is that a guarantee fund would invite carelessness, but he overlooks the fact that mutual responsibility on the part of the bank would compel a stricter supervision and a better regulation. The banking fraternity ought to resent the reflection he casts upon individual bankers, when he assumes that there would be enough dishonest bankers to ruin the honest ones."

The Trusts
"Mr. Taft says he regards the trusts as 'necessary to the nation's prosperity.' For he declares that they play an important part in the maintenance of prosperity and he charges that I would 'extirpate and destroy' the trusts, 'uprooting and destroying the method of production.' If Mr. Roosevelt, with all his strenuousness, has not succeeded in imprisoning a single trust magnate, how can the complacent Mr. Taft hope to accomplish anything in the way of regulation?"

"The democratic plan is to bring manufacturing and trading corporations under the surveillance of the general government when they reach a point where their control of business becomes a menace. The limit is fixed arbitrarily at 25 per cent, and it is needless to say that the limit is so high that an insignificant fraction of the corporations would be brought under the operation of the law."

"Mr. Taft denounces this as a socialistic interference with business, but I am sure that such a law will be welcomed by those who are acquainted with the consequences of the methods by which the trusts have exterminated their rivals and then plundered a helpless public."

Tariff Questions
"The fourth score which Mr. Taft presents is settled by the democratic declarations on the tariff question. Speaking of our platform, I pledge to make such radical reductions as may be necessary to restore the tariff to a revenue basis, he declares in his notification speech that the introduction in power of such a law with this avowed purpose cannot but halt the general recovery from our recent financial depression and produce business disaster, compared with which our recent panic and depression will seem very small indeed."

"What is there in the democratic platform that can be construed as a threat to any legitimate business? Will it produce a panic to put on the free list articles that come in competition with articles controlled by the trusts? This reduction can be prevented by a dissolution of the trusts. Have we reached a point where the trusts are in position to say, 'Leave the tariff alone, or we will destroy the nation's prosperity?'"

"Have the trusts the power to do this now? And must the people submit to indefinite extortion or risk of a panic? Democratic success will not bring a panic to any except to those who have their hands in other people's pockets, and these ought to be frightened."

A Triumphant Tour

Mr. Bryan's journey through the Empire state was a triumphal one, for everywhere immense crowds greeted him with cheers and the waving of flags and banners. At each stop he had gotten through for the day he had spoken seventeen times. He never lost an opportunity to flay both President Roosevelt and Mr. Taft. Perhaps his most important utterance on the way was at Kingston, where he advised the people not to allow the republican leaders to scare them away from the support of the democratic ticket by the threats of a panic. Mr. Taft, he characterized as President Roosevelt's "appointee," and of Mr. Roosevelt he declared that his endorsement of Mr. Taft "was the endorsement of a bankrupt against whom one could not collect."

He congratulated the people on what he said was the increasing trend of sentiment toward the democratic party throughout the country. Utica, the home town of Representative James S. Sherman, the republican nominee for vice president, vied with the other places in the greeting to the democratic candidate. Hundreds were at the station when his train pulled in and the crowd immediately demanded a speech. Mr. Bryan said he recognized that there lived in Utica one of the candidates of the opposition and yet he supposed there would be a few democrats there in spite of the fact.

"Just as I am afraid there will be a few republicans in Lincoln, in spite of the fact that I live there, for," he said, "while each man has his circle of friends, still elections go more on the principles involved than upon the personal charms or characteristics of the candidates."

Chanler Arrives
The passage of the train through Washington street in Syracuse, a distance of over a mile, was a memorable one. Bryan and Kern pictures were displayed on every tree and in many windows, cannon boomed and a surging mass of humanity followed the car until it stopped. Mr. Chanler, who was in an automobile was wedged in by the crowd, but seeing him Mr. Bryan gracefully put the gubernatorial nominee to the front and announced that he wanted to have "the honor and the pleasure of introducing to you the next governor of the state of New York."

Mr. Chanler bowed to the throng amid great applause, and then Mr. Bryan paid a glowing tribute to Mr. Chanler, saying he was glad to meet him. "So soon after this deserving honor," he said, "has been visited upon him by the democratic state convention of New York." He expressed the feeling that Mr. Chanler's record as lieutenant governor, "his high character and his unselfish devotion to the public service, will not only insure him a majority of the votes of this state, but that in carrying the state for the democratic state ticket, he will help to carry it for the national ticket."

Jacobi of New York will be active in the work of organizing the various sections of the meeting.

DRUNKEN CHAUFFEUR

Sent to Jail for Fast Driving at Revere Beach

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—That liquor is mighty bad stuff for chauffeurs was shown by the facts in the case of Benjamin J. Smith, aged 35, driver for Norman Prince, son of F. H. Prince, the Boston banker, who was before Judge Gutter in the Chelsea police court yesterday, charged with drunkenness and with operating an automobile on Revere beach parkway while intoxicated Tuesday evening.

Lieut. Hawkins of the park police testified that Smith took a $500 machine from a Boston garage, and that perhaps an automobile never before was so badly smashed as when Smith ran this one into a stone wall. The crash was terrific and Smith was thrown 25 feet, though he was not hurt.

Invited by the court to say something for himself, Smith rejoined that he was not up for manslaughter. He further said that this was the first trouble he had been in; also, that his father for years was chairman for Congressman A. P. Gardner. Officer Gillard testified that he found the speed lever set at between 40 and 50 miles an hour.

Smith pleaded guilty to both charges, and the court imposed a fine of $5 on that of drunkenness and sentenced him to three months in the house of correction on the charge of operating an automobile while in that condition. Notwithstanding he had pleaded guilty, Smith appeared from the sentences.

FLIGHT IN BALLOON

Aids Astronomer Says Prof. Pickering Who Accompanied Glidden

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—Similar phenomena are observed in viewing bodies of water from a balloon at an altitude of 2700 feet and in viewing the supposed water on the planet Mars through a telescope, according to the experiments made by Prof. W. H. Pickering of the astronomical observatory of Harvard college during a recent aerial trip with Charles J. Glidden from Pittsburgh to Winchendon.

Photographs of the planet show both light and dark spots when taken from varying angles, and Prof. Pickering noted that in looking down at bodies of water from a great height they appear light when viewed at an angle and dark when viewed directly beneath.

"I have been up before in a captive balloon," said Prof. Pickering, "but this is the first ascent I ever made in a free balloon. The experience was a delightful one, and I should like to have more of it."

"I was chiefly interested during the trip in making observations of the landscape with a view to comparing them with observations previously

NASHUA RACES DEFEATED AGAIN

Asa Wilkes Made the Fastest Time

Gen. Butler Vets in 11th Place

NASHUA, N. H., Sept. 17.—Two races that were unfinished Tuesday were completed at the fair grounds yesterday, but yesterday's two races were carried over until today with four heats each. A great deal of interest was taken in the unfinished 215 pace, in which Tuesday's three heat winners started yesterday. Asa Wilkes walked away with the heat which decided the race, and made the fastest time of the six heats.

Stellan King was picked by many as the winner of the 220 pace, but he barely finished inside the money. The prospects of the 221 trot carried over to today are about even between Kopat and Maud S. Each has two heats. May Wax divided heats with The Prince in the 215 pace, the latter stepping the two fastest miles. The summary:

BOWLING SEASON

FORMALLY OPENED IN NASHUA LAST NIGHT
The bowling season was formally opened in Nashua last night when the Nashua team trounced the Lowell team to the tune of 145 to 120 and also winning two of the three points. The Nashua team started off with a slam and in the first string failed to reach the five century mark by just one pin. In the second string the Lowell team got a brace on, but it was not sufficient to offset the difference of scores in the first and third strings. Travers of the Nashua team was high man. The score:

WRESTLING NEWS

Great interest is manifest in tomorrow's great battle on the mat at Associated hall, between Young Prokes, the all-conquering Greek wrestler, and War Eagle, the Indian brave who is showing the best of them that the red men can go some if they are few in numbers. War Eagle in blanket and bear paint and feathers has arrived in town, and is in fine shape. He looks as if he might give Prokes a good battle. In order that the match may go to a finish, it has been arranged to allow the bout to go after midnight, if necessary. The men will weigh in tomorrow night at the Y. M. C. A. gym. They will decide this evening upon a referee, and will choose between Jim Gilligan of Lawrence and George V. Touhey of Boston, both of whom are competent men. Prokes is training faithfully for the match, as it is his desire to win a decisive victory over the Indian, in which event a number of important matches in the west await him. Two red hot preliminaries will precede the bout.
